INTRODUCTION.

In placing before Philatelists another pioneer work on the Stamps of Great Britain, knowing that there is room for considerable improvement, which would be forthcoming with further research and study of these interesting Newspaper Tax dies, it is a matter for congratulation that so much has already been compiled from the meagre information to be obtained from any source, and the lapse of time since these stamps were in use, from 1712 to 1870, and has mainly been obtained by the examination of some hundreds of thousands of specimens—and I desire to acknowledge my indebtedness for much valuable information and help to Mr. L. W. Fulcher, B.Sc. for information and dates of registrations of many of the paper dies, which have been placed on record, with much other detailed information on these Stamps in the pages of Morley's Philatelic Journal, 1901-04.

								No. 1

The stamps were prepared in plates of 25, each die being numbered as accompanying illustration, the plate number being found below the 9th stamp of the plate. The stamps were printed on 25 sheets of papers at one printing arranged to allow the corners to take one impression each and consequently copies are frequently found bearing part of the impression of the next stamp, and it was from this source that it was found possible to reconstruct a plate, rendered difficult by the peculiar formation of same.

With later information and study I have been able to considerably revise my previous notes on the early dies, many varieties of which are now known to be frequent re-cutting of the plates. I have priced all varieties I can supply at time of going to press—prices will be liable to reduction when large supplies of any kind become available.

1855. POSTAL NEWSPAPER TAX.

Type 71a

In 1855 the Government abolished the duty charged on newspapers and it became necessary to make provision for their transmission by post. In order to meet the difficulty the Act provided that Newspapers printed on paper stamped for denoting the duties imposed on newspapers should be entitled to enjoy the privilege of transmission and retransmission by the post between places in the United Kingdom postage free for the space of fifteen days from the date of publication; the Act also extended the privilege to periodical publications printed and published at intervals not exceeding 31 days.

As previous to 1855 printed matter was not generally transmissible through the post except at letter rates, the stamps issued and used after June 30th, 1855 must be regarded as purely postal issues and would include all the various Trade Lists and Circulars which business firms then used for that purpose.
