

OFFICE OF
JOHN G. DOHME,
PUBLISHER OF

THE AMERICAN PHILATELIST,

A MONTHLY JOURNAL DEVOTED EXCLUSIVELY TO STAMP-COLLECTING,

239 BROADWAY. (Room 19)

Mr. John K. Tiffany New York Jan. 20, 1885

DEAR SIR:

We have the honor to announce to the philatelic public that on April 15, 1885, we will republish our large eight page journal, THE AMERICAN PHILATELIST. This journal was originally published in January, 1884, and for three months it met with an unexampled success. In April, 1884, owing to our removal to New York City, and to continued reverses, we were compelled to suspend for a time at least, but we are now again able to resume the publication of our journal. We ask the friends who aided us last year, for the patronage which was so generously bestowed upon us then.

We invite contributions from all philatelic writers, which, if accepted, will be published at the earliest opportunity. News regarding recent emissions of postage stamps, or accounts of forgeries, will be gratefully received.

Subscriptions are solicited from one and all, as the price, twenty-five cents, places it within the reach of every one.

Dealers are respectfully solicited to give our advertising columns a trial. Our rates are:

Per Half Inch	-	-	-	$0 25
" Inch	-	-	-	0 40
" Column (eight inches)	-	-	-	2 50
" One Page	-	-	-	5 00

Special rates will be made on continued advertisements.

Respectfully,

JOHN G. DOHME,
(Successor) to COLLINS & DOHME.
239 BROADWAY (Room 19),
NEW YORK CITY.
