A. LOHMEYER,

22 N. Gilmore Street, Baltimore, Md., U. S. A.

P R E F A C E .

In presenting this Circular to Collectors I desire to say a few words about Postal Card collecting.

When I issued my first Price List of Cards in September, 1889, containing sixteen pages, hektographed, and giving prices of all cards then in stock, Collectors of Postal Cards were comparatively few. However, this edition soon became exhausted, necessitating the publication of my List No. 2, December, 1890, containing twenty-four printed pages and Bristol Board Cover, embellished with an illustration of the first Victoria Letter Card. This Price List, of which one thousand copies were issued, and which was sold at ten cents per copy, met with great favor among Collectors, and was the means of inducing many to start a Card collection. This edition, too, has long since become exhausted, and, as all the leading Stamp Catalogues, driven to it by the popular demand, have a list of Cards included, there was no longer a necessity for continuing the publication of my Price Lists from time to time.

Since December, 1890, I have issued several Lists of Novelties, Packets, Sets, Prospectus and circular of my Postal Card Album and Price List of United States Letter Sheet Envelopes. Noteworthy among these, and the Collectors' favorite, was my Price List of Sets No. 7, issued January, 1894, containing three hundred Sets, and representing twelve hundred different Cards. Many are the Collectors who have used this List in building up a fine collection, having gone through it, in installments, from beginning to end.

The ever-increasing demand for my various Lists has necessitated the publication of this circular, which supersedes all my former Lists.

My stock of Postal Cards embraces from 2,500 to 3,000 Varieties, enabling me to fill almost any "Want List" selected from any of the leading Catalogues, which may be entrusted to me by more advanced Collectors, who do not find what they may want in the following Lists.

These will be filled at the lowest possible prices.

In order to avoid delays in filling orders a remittance must accompany the same, except from Collectors who have had dealings with me.

Soliciting a share of your patronage, I am,

Yours Truly
A. Schreyer.

BALTIMORE, February, 1895.

Lohmeyer's Postal Card Album.

COPYRIGHT MAY 12 1892.

By the publication of this Album a long-felt want has been supplied at last, and Collectors who heretofore would not touch Cards, being at a loss what to do with them, have started collections since.

This Album contains fifty unbound sheets, and will hold, arranged as shown by the illustration below, four hundred Cards, or if partly lapped over, placing three in a row, six hundred Cards. No pasting is required, the cards being stuck under the strips, by which they are held firmly in position. Cards should never be pasted down.

The Album may be used for entire Envelopes as well as Postal Cards.

LOHMEYER'S ALBUM.

The New Postal Card and entire Envelope Album of Mr. A. Lohmeyer, of which we gave an account with illustrations in our June number, has been issued and is far ahead of anything yet put before the philatelic public.

There have been several very marked improvements in it since June, all of which have added greatly to its value and undoubtedly make it the very best Album of its kind any Collector has seen.

The binding is rich and handsome, and it is unquestionably worth the price asked for it; in fact, I cannot see how it can be sold, even to cover actual cost, at the price asked. I have the larger part of my collection already mounted in these Albums, and must say that I consider my collection more valuable since they have been mounted than they were before. You have no idea, unless you have one of these Albums, what a handsome show cards make in them.

I cannot begin to praise this work the way I would like to, and can only say to those who collect Postal Cards and entire Envelopes, that if you have not already got one of these Albums you should lose no time in ordering one, for only a limited number have been made, and when Collectors know how handy and handsome they are the stock on hand will, I am sure, soon become exhausted. G. H. WATSON.

The Albums (2) came to hand in good condition and are very satisfactory.

EXCHANGE.

I frequently receive offers of United States Postal Cards of the different issues, with request to name my buying prices for them, either in cash or exchange. To answer all such inquiries not only takes up my time, but also runs up quite a little postage bill in the course of a year; for in very few cases do collectors send return postage.

Now, I desire to say to all that I am not in the market for the purchase of used United States Postal Cards, nor the common used Europeans; furthermore, that I am not in business to exchange the latter for "others not in my collection."

Nevertheless, I am always ready to accommodate collectors who may have duplicates of the better grades of Cards to exchange, if such are sent to me (with return postage) for examination.

Cards which have been pasted down in an album, soiled or imperfect Cards are not wanted at any price, as they are unfit for collections.

I desire to buy obsolete British Colonials, used or unused, for cash or good exchange.

I do not handle stamps, my exclusive specialty being Postal Cards.
