NUNN'S DIRECTORY.

FIFTEENTH EDITION.

PREFACE.

It is to be regretted that such a large proportion of the Enquiry Forms which we sent out to Stamp Dealers should have been ignored. Whether such action on the part of those concerned was either fair or courteous—or even business-like—we leave our readers to judge; certainly it caused us great disappointment and annoyance, besides much loss and inconvenience. However, owing to the large sale which the DIRECTORY now commands, we resolved not to be frustrated in our efforts to obtain reliable information; and therefore we instituted special and private enquiries independently of the Forms. The result is that, at additional expense and trouble, we have now produced a DIRECTORY which is really what it purports to be—viz., a thoroughly trustworthy guide to the British Stamp Trade at the date of going to press.

A large number of names contained in the last Edition have been removed, several new ones have been added, and many corrections have been made in addresses.

We tender our most cordial and grateful thanks to all the firms who were good enough to return our forms duly filled in. The assistance afforded us in this way has been invaluable; but we regret that some Forms were useless through being returned without any name or address or other indication of the senders.

Our thanks are also due to the numerous advertisers—representing many of the best-known firms of the day—who have favoured the present Edition with their announcements. We would bespeak for them our readers' careful perusal.
