He was the only writer who recorded a 6<sup>d</sup> New Zealand on blue paper (see p. 5) which has generally been disbelieved by eminent collectors - but having seen a fine undoubted specimen in Dr. Bolcey's collection some twelve years ago, I became convinced that M B was right

ANY one who will take the pains to compare the present with the preceding editions will readily understand the trouble and labour consequent upon the number of additional stamps. A considerable increase of expense also has arisen from the greater amount and better quality of the paper and printing. For while the first edition comprised about 1200 varieties in sixty-two pages, the list now issued describes double that number of stamps and contains thirty-three more pages of letter press.

I have, however, the pleasure to announce that the bound and interleaved copies of the work only have been raised in price, and I trust the public will appreciate and encourage the efforts which have been made to produce the most accurate and complete Catalogue hitherto published on the subject. My best thanks are due to those friends who have kindly aided me, and to Dr. Gray for allowing me to make use of his valuable papers on the "Envelopes and covers suggested for England," and on the Sydney postage labels.

It has been suggested that the ancients may have had something like our postal system, from the consideration of a passage in the book of Job (c. ix. v. 25.), "My days are swifter than a post." In the book of Esther we are expressly told (viii. 10. 14.) that letters were sent by posts, and that the posts rode upon mules and camels. The swiftness of these may be learned from those of the Mogul Empire, where post-houses were established in the public roads every twenty-five or thirty miles. There were in it 10000 of these stations and 2000 horses. The posts, on urgent occasions, rode 200 or 250 miles in a day. Similar establishments now exist in China and Japan. At all events, they were established at a very early period for the safe and speedy transmission of public intelligence. Regular couriers were appointed by Cyrus who erected post-houses throughout the kingdom of Persia. An institution under the name of "Cursus publicus" was established at Rome by Augustus.

General posts were first instituted in modern Europe by Charlemagne, Louis XI., in 1464, and the Emperor Charles V. In England, the plan commenced in the reign of Edward IV., in 1481, when riders on post-horses went stages of the distance of twenty miles from each other, in order to procure the king the earliest intelligence of the events that passed during the war with the Scots. The first chief postmaster was Mr. Thomas Randolph, appointed by Queen Elizabeth in 1581; and the office of foreign postmaster was created by James I. in the person of Matthew de Quester who was succeeded by Lord Stanhope. About the year 1617, a Mr.

vra projected a penny postage. He died in September aged near 100 years. In 1635, Charles I. erected a post-office for England and Scotland, but this extended only to a few of the principal roads, and the postmasters on each road were required to furnish horses for the conveyance of letters at the rate of 2½d. per mile. The running post between Edinburgh and London was "to run once a week, and to go thither and come back again in six days." At length, in 1649, Mr. Edward Prideaux, Attorney-General for the Commonwealth and afterwards Postmaster-General, instituted a weekly conveyance of letters to all parts of the Kingdom; and in 1657 the post-office was placed on nearly the present footing, the rate of postage then adopted continuing to the reign of Queen Anne. Even as late as 1735, the post only transmitted three days a-week between Edinburgh and London; and on one occasion the metropolis only sent one letter, which was for a Scotch banker named Ramsay. Previously to the introduction of a uniform penny rate, the postage was charged on a sliding scale, increasing in proportion to the distance. Thus, a letter under eight miles, was charged 2d., under fifteen, 4d., and so on; and differential rates were used for England, Scotland, and Ireland. In 1837, however, Sir Rowland Hill broached his plan of "Penny Postage," which was adopted after investigation by a Committee of the House of Commons. The new Postage Law, by which a uniform rate of 4d. for each letter was tried as an experiment, came into operation 5th December, 1839; and the uniform rate of 1*d.* for each letter of half-ounce weight commenced 10th January, 1840. Postage-stamps were first issued in London, by an order from the Lords of the Treasury on 6th May, 1840.

The General Post-office in London was originally established in Cloak Lane, near Dowgate Hill, whence it was transferred to the Black Swan in Bishopsgate Street. On occasion of the great fire of 1666, it was removed to Brydges Street, Covent Garden; and afterwards to Sir Robert Viner's mansion in Lombard Street, where it continued until 1829 when it was transferred to St. Martin's-le-Grand. It now occupies the site of an ancient college and sanctuary. The building was commenced in 1825, from designs by R. Smirke, Esq., and completed in 1829. The street letter-boxes were erected in March, 1855, and the first was placed at the corner of Fleet Street and Farringdon Street.

The postage-stamp system had its origin in England, where alone for ten years it was made use of. France adopted it in 1849; the Tour and Taxis Office (Germany) in 1850; and it is now in use over a great part of the civilized world. The distance over which Mails are at present conveyed within the United Kingdom by railways, mail-carts, steam-packets, &c., is about 150,000 miles a-day, or more than six times the distance round the earth; and the number of letters delivered annually is 539 millions.

Some and especially foreign collectors make a distinction between perforated stamps and others. Perforation, however, is but a contrivance to facilitate the separation of stamps for use. It was first used in England, and is gradually becoming adopted in other countries.

At first, collectors were satisfied to exchange stamps, but the desire of procuring specimens is now so great, that they have actually become marketable commodities, and possess a certain fictitious apart from their intrinsic value. Some stamps which have been out of use for many years are exceedingly scarce, and as they are mostly very simple in design and command high prices, they have been counterfeited to a large extent by dishonest persons. The useful and accurate monograph* published by Messrs. Lewis and Pemberton has done good service; but there is great need of a new and revised edition of it, as the fraudulent imitators now avoid the trifling differences which are pointed out as a means of determining between the false and true stamps, and engrave with such care that the most experienced may be deceived. It may generally be assumed that a lithographed impression is false; but a far more sure criterion is the structure, quality, or characteristic watermark of the material upon which a stamp is printed, and to which subject far more attention should be paid than it has hitherto received. The paper must be either what is technically known as hand or machine-made, with or without a watermark ; and this latter difficulty proves exceedingly inconvenient to the forgers. The ordinary English labels, for example, have for each value a peculiar watermark. So have some of the stamps of Brunswick, Hanover, Tuscany, &c. ; while in the Spanish labels, three distinct issues of different date are determined only by the quality of the paper and the watermarks. It is advisable to be cautious in receiving, as proofs, black impressions, or those in which blue and green respectively are interchanged with the normal colours of the ordinary stamps ; though it is perhaps needless to warn any but the very inexperienced against accepting, as varieties, the devices from boxes of bon-bons, or from the titlepage of Postage-Stamp Polkas and Galops.

The so-called complementary labels of AUSTRIA are not intended for postal purposes, but to fill up the number or complement of stamps on a sheet, which is sixty arranged in rows of eight, so that each sheet has four of these labels.

The BADEN stamps of 1855 bear on the right hand 6 April, 1850 which however is not the date of the issue of the stamps, but of the postal treaty.

In BAVARIA some specimens of the issues of 1851 and 1862 are found black on coloured paper. These are the "timbres d'instruction," so called from being printed on the packet containing the postage stamps received from the post-office by the official distributors. They merely serve to indicate what stamps are enclosed in each parcel.

The labels inscribed "post-schein," with horse and post-horn in oval, values 6 pf. and  $\frac{1}{2}$  g. gr., come from BRUNSWICK. They are only impressed on the receipts given for registered letters, and are not used for postal purposes.

One or two remarks on FRANCE. There is a small label, one fourth the size of the ordinary stamp but without value or inscription; and another of the ordinary size, badly executed, value 50 centimes. Both of these are trade labels. An ingenious gentleman has proposed a stamp which he calls "self-cancelling." The impression is upon a kind of thin oiled-paper. After it has once adhered you can only remove a piece of blank colourless paper, the impression being left upon the envelope.

I have seen labels of the Republic with inscription [REPUB. FRANC.] below, and the head of liberty to right, value 50 centimes, printed on a peculiar watered paper; also a label with a very rude portrait of the Emperor, and inscription [LOUIS-NAPOLEON BONAPARTE,] in a circle within a rectangular frame inscribed [REPUB. FRANC.] value 25 centimes in lake and in black on white paper, and in black on blue, on rose, and on green paper. They are said to be "Cayenne essays," and I should be very glad of any information about them.

The NORTHERN STATES OF GERMANY include the Electorate of Hesse-Cassel; the Grand Duchies of Mecklenburg-Strelitz and Saxe-Weimar; the Duchy of Saxe-Altenburg; and the Principalities of Lippe-Detmold, Lippe-Schaumburg, Reuss-Elder, Reuss-Younger, Schwarzburg-Sondershausen, and Schwarzburg-Rudolstadt.

The SOUTHERN STATES include the Free City of Frankfurt; the Landgraviate of Hesse-Homburg; the Grand Duchy of Hesse-Darmstadt; the Principalities of Hohenzollern-Hechingen, and Hohenzollern-Sigmaringen; and the Duchies of Nassau, Saxe-Meiningen, and Saxe-Coburg-Gotha.

The red penny stamp of GREAT BRITAIN with letters in each angle may almost be considered an essay. Only a few impressions have been taken, and it has not yet been issued to the public.

It is said that the local HANOVER envelope of 1858 was used as an adhesive label, but I am assured this is an error. I believe it has been reprinted, in consequence of the demand, and gummed, and so palmed on collectors as another stamp.

On the labels issued in ITALY in 1856, it happens in some instances that the embossed head is inverted.

The 1½d. and 3d. labels of JAMAICA (two men supporting a shield) are bill stamps.

English stamps are used in MALTA for prepayment of postage to places out of the island.

The adhesive labels issued at MAURITIUS in 1858, with the Queen's head on a ground of diagonal lines, appear to have been executed in the island and are very roughly made. As the old block became worn out, a fresh one was cut, and consequently there not only are differences in the head of the Queen, but the letters in the inscription vary in size, and the diagonal lines are more or less coarsely marked. The word MAURITIUS in these labels commences at the right lower angle, so as to read from below upwards on the right side of the stamp. Most of these remarks will apply to the issue on a ground of vertical, horizontal and diagonal lines, except that the word MAURITIUS begins at the right upper angle.

The stamps of MONTEVIDEO may be thus divided :—

For postage to any part of the Republic.

Single letters weighing 4 adarmes 60c.

Double „ 8 „ 80c.

Triple „ 12 „ 100c., or 1 real.

For foreign postage.

Single letters 120 c.

Double „ 180 c.

Triple „ 240 c.

The three-halfpenny, sixpenny, and shilling stamps of NEW BRUNSWICK and NOVA SCOTIA were used whole or cut diagonally, half the stamp representing half the value of an entire one. Letters are frequently found bearing upon them stamps thus divided.

The legend on the NEW SOUTH WALES "Sydney labels," varies in its position in the circular frame; and the motto is in two lines, except that on the 3d. it is in three. In the "laureated" issue of 1852, the size of the letters varies greatly.

One of the best tests for distinguishing the PRUSSIAN 6pf. stamp of 1850 from that of 1858, is that the paper of the former has a watermark representing a wreath of laurel which the latter is without. There is great doubt whether the so-called returned letter label is a postage stamp at all and it has consequently not been admitted into the present Catalogue.

The 5 Kopec label, and the 5 and 1 Kop. envelope of RUSSIA are for local postage in St. Petersburg and Moscow. The stamps and envelopes of higher value convey letters from any one part to any other part of Russia proper. The 3 Kop. Polish envelope is for the city of Warsaw.

In the first 1d. blue of TASMANIA the size of the letters varies.

There are two varieties in the 10c. UNITED STATES envelopes of the first issue, green on white and on yellow paper; the oval frame bears oblique engine-turned spiral lines on each side, and the variation consists in the number of loops or intersections, one having eight and the other ten. There never has been a 1 cent. envelope on white paper, and I can challenge the production of an entire envelope bearing only this stamp separately. It occurs on the 4 cent. envelope which has stamps of 3 cents and 1 cent values respectively impressed on the same envelope.

These few remarks will, I trust, help to make clear various parts of the Catalogue. Any notice of inaccuracies, omissions, inedited stamps, or new issues, will be gratefully received and acknowledged.
