GREAT BRITAIN.

To the Trade Generally.

presenting an entirely new and revised edition—being now the first time of going to press—of my work, compiled many years ago, I do so at the instigation of many of the leading dealers in this country and America, to whom a work of this sort, correct to date, is indispensable.

The ready sale with which the previous editions have met, has encouraged me to take more trouble and pains to make the present edition as perfect as possible, and in this I think I have succeeded liberally well. The price will remain low, so as to place it within the reach of all.

It is necessary now and again to revise such works as these, and less than 108 names and addresses have been eliminated from the First Edition, owing to the persons having given up dealing, or to their demise. I have also carefully excluded such firms as are known to be irresponsible, although I do not guarantee every name and address to be those of thoroughly reliable dealers. On the other hand over 140 new names and addresses have been added.

Every name and address has been tested postally with my circulars a week or so prior to going to press.

In conclusion, I thank those who have so cordially supported me with their advertisements and willing help, and would suggest to the reader that he should pass over any little imperfections that may come under his observation, and praise what appears in his sight to be good.

C. H. NUNN.
