TO THE TRADE GENERALLY.

In presenting the Seventh Edition of my Directory of British Stamp Dealers, I wish to apologise for its appearance early in November, instead of early in October, as hitherto, but the fact remains that the present edition is far more complete than any previous editions have been. Next year I trust to effect still further improvements, and to publish a trifle earlier in the Season. An innovation introduced in the current issue is an endeavour to classify the cases or branch in which the various Dealers particularly trade. This feature might be more useful if our many friends would fill up our application for particulars form more fully, and I trust that it may be so in the next year. A word of thanks to the numerous Advertisers, in this the 7th Edition, and expressing a hope for a continuance of their favours another year, and in conclusion cordially asking one and all for any suggestions for improving this now handy little Annual.
