The South Seas Beckon

HOW can one who once has felt the magic touch of Hawaiian atmosphere fail to follow on—unresisting—when in sight of the noble Pacific

And so after a delightful trip to the Golden Gate—once more we fall victim to that lure, and seek to pass through to the Paradise beyond; for though the warm air of California brings repose—the soft, yet virile air of Hawaii is aggressively restful

Here in the Golden State one is content to rest and feel slow rejuvenation from the weariness of a season of great activity

There—one's very spirit quickens into being and amid the influence of nature,—unimproved, action brings back strength to worn fibres, and the tired eye is rested by vistas of unrivalled scenery, the beauty of which only an earlier experience gives power to conceive

Mr. Colson takes unalloyed pleasure in announcing that he will spend the rest of the summer in the Hawaiian Islands and suggests that on any matters requiring personal attention he should be addressed from now until August 25th (to arrive) in care of Bishop & Co., Honolulu, Ty., Hawaii

After September 1st he may be addressed at the Palace Hotel, San Francisco His return trip from the West—probably early in September—will be made over the following route and he will be pleased to meet any of his old customers or any new ones who may wish to see him personally

Therefore he solicits correspondence with any such, with the full understanding that an interview or inspection of the Sussdorff Collection, carries with it not the slightest obligation to purchase.

Letters requesting an interview should be addressed as above, though all matters of open business will be dealt with at his home address, 184 Boylston St., Boston

Returning itinerary—San Francisco to Los Angeles; Los Angeles to Salt Lake City via the S. P., L. A. and S. L. R. R.; Ogden to Council Bluffs via U. P. R. R.; Council Bluffs to Chicago via C. and N. W. R. R.

It will be a pleasure to stop anywhere along this route if requested with sufficient notice in advance
