Though we had what we thought was a very fair stock of most items, certain offers listed in the first number of the NEWS-LETTER are sold out. For instance, we offered three packets (Nos. 1, 2 and 3 respectively,) the prices of which ranged from one-fourth to one-eighth of catalog value. That these packets were recognized to be great, big value for the money was shown by the fact that not one of them was returned by the purchasers for any cause whatsoever.

APPROVAL DEPARTMENT

We are sending an excellent line of stamps on approval to interested parties. Selections contain many of the scarcer, hard-to-get kind of stamps; priced at net, and discounts run as high as 75 per cent. off catalog. If you care to receive a selection on approval kindly write us giving good references or society number. Positively no attention paid to requests unless reference is given. These approval selections will save you money.

Address all communications to C. H. NAMMACK, 517 Fifty-third St., Brooklyn, N.Y.

Six Per Cent Dividend

We have decided to adopt a plan whereby any of our customers may participate in a division of profits with us during 1911. The proposition is this:

Any person sending us a sum total of $10 or more in payment for orders from this or subsequent lists, issued prior to Dec. 31, 1911, or for purchases from approval selections, made prior to Dec. 31, 1911, will receive a copy of the Standard Catalog (paper covers) for 1912, absolutely free, when same is issued by the publishers this Fall. As is known, the retail price of the Catalog is 60 cents, including cost of mailing, and our dividend-sharing offer will permit our customers to receive a six per cent. bonus on their purchases this year.

All orders and approval returns to be credited must be received by us not later than Dec. 31, 1911. When making returns on approval selections or sending orders, please inform us if you desire same to be counted in the six per cent. dividend offer. If you want the cloth bound Catalog instead of the paper-covered kind send 15 cents additional at the time your purchases have reached the sum of $10.

NAMMACK'S PHILATELIC NEWS-LETTER

Published by

C. H. NAMMACK,

517 Fifty-third Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Five cents per copy. Sent free to our customers. Exchange desired with all philatelic publications.

Terms:—Cash with order, anything unsatisfactory may be returned and price will be cheerfully refunded. All orders are filled day of receipt. Remittances of $1 or over should be made by express or postal money-order or draft; less than that sum may be sent in unused one-cent and two-cent stamps. Postage extra on orders for less than 50 cents. Registration extra in all cases.

We will not be held responsible for letters lost in transit.

Letters of inquiry should contain stamp for return postage on reply.

It costs good money and takes lots of time and labor to publish a paper of the character and quality of the NEWS-LETTER, and while we have no objection to standing the expense involved in placing the paper in the hands of active collectors, we can hardly afford to send it more than once or twice to the same parties unless we receive an occasional order, or, at least, hear from them in some connection.

It is with no thought of penurious economy that we write these words, for we are alive to the fact that advertising is costly and an expense that, of itself, brings in little or no return.

We do feel, however, that we should receive some communication from the recipients of the paper, if only for the purpose of getting acquainted with them. We know (for it was amply demonstrated to us by the returns from No. 1 of the NEWS-LETTER) that many live collectors were awake to the bargains listed in our first issue.

So if you want future numbers of our little publication sent you, we ask that you drop us a line, telling us what you think about the paper, or better still, make our heart rejoice by an order with real money accompanying it.

Incidentally, if you do buy stamps of us we'll try to give you one hundred cents in value for each dollar you spend.

More German Colonies ?

A cloud, no bigger than a man's hand, is visible on the southwestern horizon of Europe. Affairs in Portugal are admittedly in a bad way. The Republican Government is confronted by an empty treasury and a discontented populace. Revolutionists always believe they are inaugurating the millenium, and they almost invariably discover that they have only succeeded in changing the holders of offices. Hence the reaction, born of disappointment, which in Lisbon is taking the form of angry strikes, is met in turn by arbitrary measures of repression.

If Portugal were Hayti this would not matter, but Portugal is not Hayti, and that is why the trouble arises.

Hitherto, it has been comfortably imagined that the Portuguese would be allowed to stew in their own juice, and that no outside power would interfere. But these optimist expectations have received a rude shock, and from a most dangerous quarter. The German Chancellor has intimated that he has in vain endeavored to obtain satisfaction for certain claims brought by German subjects, against the new Government in Lisbon and that he was now considering what measures should be taken to secure redress. The significance of his words is unmistakable. The warning may suffice and the danger may pass, but, on the other hand, the Portuguese Government may not be able to satisfy the German demands. If anarchy prevails in Portugal it will, to say the least, be a very strong temptation to Germany to resort to force to obtain that satisfaction which may be justly her due.

This is not the first time of late years that Germany has indulged in menaces threatening Portugal. A few years ago, a claim made by German subjects for a wharf in Madeira brought Europe within the verge of war. The Portuguese Government feared that the Madeira site, originally sold for a health resort, was intended to be used as a German coaling station. The German claim was rejected and a German fleet was on the point of being sent to the Tagus, when the British intervened and the danger was averted.

Portugal is the owner of a vast tract of very fertile, but sparsely settled, territory in Africa, namely, Angola, and Germany has for years looked with longing eyes upon this Portuguese colony.

Not only is Angola of importance in itself, but it is strategically of immense importance to the British South Africa railways now in course of construction from Lubito Bay to the Katanga copper mines, 900 miles inland, in the southwest of Rhodesia, which, when finished, will bring Rhodesia ten days nearer to England than it is to-day. It will be the natural ocean gate of Rhodesia, just as Delagoa Bay is the natural seagate of the Transvaal on the other side of the continent. In German hands it would be used to deflect the traffic upon which Capetown subsists and bring confusion, if not ruin, to United British South Africa.

We wonder if the philatelic public will soon have placed before it the familiar "ship" type of German colonial, bearing the word: "Angola."

Big Seizure of Stamps

$1,000,000 Printed for Labrador and Sold in Auction Room

Washington.—The Post Office Department has received a report from the Canadian postal authorities regarding the seizure of several hundred thousand dollars' worth of United States and Labrador postage stamps.

All the stamps seized were Labrador stamps, with a face value of nearly $1,000,000. After the seizure it developed that the dealers bought the stamps at an auction room. It seems that a few years ago a contract was made with a lithographer in Montreal for a large quantity of special stamps, which were intended for utilization on the correspondence of fishermen in Labrador. The stamps were not turned out on contract time and the purchaser refused to accept them. They were finally sold with some old furniture to the proprietor of the auction room. The stamps were in three denominations, 5-cent, 25-cent and $1, each printed in three colors.

World's Cheapest Postage.

To the enterprising Eastern nation of Japan belongs the credit of possessing the cheapest postage in the world.

In the land of the Mikado a letter may be sent throughout the length and breadth of the country for 2 sen—equivalent to one-eighth of a cent. Strangely enough, even under these conditions the Japanese Post Office Department is run at a considerable profit to the nation, the revenue for the year 1909 amounting to £2,299,162, which showed a surplus over expenditures of £511,250.

Among the nations of Europe the one enjoying the boon of the cheapest postage is Denmark, where an inland letter up to 9 oz. in weight may be sent for slightly over 1 cent.

The Postal Issues of 2011.

It was the second year of the administration of Mrs. Sophronia Swiggins, who had been elected to the office of Presidentess of the United States of Greater North America, having defeated her opponent, Mrs. H. Mary Jane Ginger, by an overwhelming majority. The latter had been the nominee of the Whig-Populist Party and had had the indorsement of the Men's Equal Rights League, and the result of the election showed conclusively that the "sterner sex" (as men were humorously called by the ancients) were eliminated from any voice in the management of the Republic for many years to come.

The Postmistress-General was instructed by Mrs. Swiggins to cause a new issue of postage stamps to be prepared, the designs of which should be commemorative of important events in the history of the taking of the reins of government from the grasp of the males and placing them in the hands of the females.

After having had the designers and engravers of the Post Office Department at work upon the proposed new issue for a considerable length of time, the Postmistress-General caused the following stamps to be placed on sale :

Denomination.	Color.	Central design (in black)
1 cent.	Gray-lilac.	Reading of the Declaration of Emancipation — Capitol, Washington, A. D., 1926.
1 "	Violet.	Reading of the Declaration of Emancipation — Capitol, Washington, A. D., 1926.
2 "	Cerise, mauve border.	Inauguration of first female President, A. D., 1928.
3 "	Pink.	Gen. Cynthia Swatt, who quelled the rebellion of the males, A. D., 1955.
4 "	White.	A Hat Pin; inscription "The National Defense."
5 "	Black.	Suffragettes Storming Senate Chamber, A. D., 1914.
6 "	Blue.	Suffragettes Knocking Off Gov. Strong's Hat.
7 "	Red(registration)	Brick thrown through window of White House, A. D., 1917.
10 "	Alice-blue and Yellow.	Women in harem skirt on Broadway, N. Y. C., A. D. 1911. with inscription "The Pioneers."
15 "	Ochre.	Signing of Women's Equal Rights Bill, Washington, D. C., A. D., 1925.
49 "	Green.	A Copper Cent, with inscription "Reduced."
98 "	Silver & copper.	A Bargain Counter.

NOTES.

1 cent Gray-lilac—The color of the 1 cent stamp, as originally planned, was lilac-gray, but this color was abandoned, the President vetoing the same on the ground that it did not match the official stationery, the color of which is, as the reader knows, of a violet shade.

6 cent Blue—Gov. Strong vetoed the Women's Suffrage Bill, passed by the Legislature of the State of New York in 1916.

There were but 90,000 copies of the one cent gray-lilac sold to the public, and this should be a good stamp to buy and hold, as this small quantity will be insufficient for the demand. The last official census shows that there are now 14,661,449 active philatelists in the United States, and every one of them will be anxious to procure a copy of the scarce color. A large number of requests from London for copies of the stamp arrived this morning on the Aero Limited, indicating that collectors across the pond want the stamps. It has been officially stated that the 1 cent stamp will not be reprinted in the gray-lilac shade. All the stamps are 2 inches long and 1½ inches wide.

NEXT YEAR'S EXHIBITION TO TAKE FRONT RANK—100,000 VISITORS MAY ATTEND

SPECIAL FEATURES TO ENTERTAIN COLLECTORS

On October 27, 1913, will occur the opening of the most important concerted exhibition of stamps in the history of philatelic affairs in America. The International Stamp Exhibition on that date throws open wide its doors to the collecting fraternity and welcomes it to a feast of philatelic treasure.

Conservative estimates of the probable number of interested persons who will attend place the figure at 25,000, though enthusiasts say that nearer 100,000 will be entertained. It is confidently expected that recruits to the ranks of philately to the number of thousands will be enrolled. An impetus to stamp collecting, far-reaching in its results, will be the natural outcome.

The formal opening of the Exhibition will be attended by officials high in the councils of the Nation and the State; philatelists prominent in the affairs of the science; representatives of foreign philatelic organizations, and last, but not least, the plain everyday stamp collector and his friends.

The scene of the exhibit will be held in the Engineers' Club, in West 10th Street, just off Fifth Avenue, New York City, and the site chosen by the Committee is ideal for the purpose to which it will be devoted, the location being within easy access of the big hotels and great railroad terminals of the metropolis.

The actual space at the disposal of the Committee on Exhibits will exceed 75,000 square feet, one of the largest areas ever devoted to the matter of exhibiting stamps only, and providing the Committee with ample room for the proper display of the smaller exhibits, as well as the showing of the large collections and almost priceless gems of Philatelia that are to be exhibited by their owners. An arrangement of exhibits, satisfying both to the eye of the visitor and to the wishes of the sometimes exacting exhibitor, will naturally ensue.

The Executive Committee, of which Mr. J. C. Morgenthau, one of the leaders in the movement to hold the Exhibition, is chairman, is to be congratulated on the wisdom with which the preliminary matters attendant to the holding of the event have been handled. The efforts of the Committee have been given unselfishly to the cause, and their endeavors are already taking tangible form.

Among the exhibits shown will be that of Mr. Geo. Worthington, of Cleveland, whose superb collection is

The formal opening of the Exhibition will be attended by officials high in the councils of the Nation and the State; philatelists prominent in the affairs of the science; representatives of foreign philatelic organizations, and last, but not least, the plain everyday stamp collector and his friends.

The scene of the exhibit will be held in the Engineers' Club, in West 34th Street, just off Fifth Avenue, New York City, and the site chosen by the Committee is ideal for the purpose to which it will be devoted, the location being within easy access of the big hotels and great railroad terminals of the metropolis.

The actual space at the disposal of the Committee on Exhibits will exceed 75,000 square feet, one of the largest areas ever devoted to the matter of exhibiting stamps only, and providing the Committee with ample room for the proper display of the smaller exhibits, as well as the showing of the large collections and almost priceless gems of Philatelia that are to be exhibited by their owners. The efforts of the Committee have been given unselfishly to the cause, and their endeavors are already taking tangible form.

Among the exhibits shown will be that of Mr. Geo. Worthington, of Cleveland, whose superb collection is probably the most widely known of any in America; the gold-medal, specialized studies of Mr. Charles Lathrop Pack, of New Jersey, one of the pioneers in the field of philatelic research; a very fine exhibit of the gems of his collection will be offered by Senator Ernest R. Ackerman, also of New Jersey; and Mr. Henry J. Duveen, the possessor of one of the finest collections of stamps in existence, will show the stamps that have gone so far toward making his collection a standard among advanced collectors.

These are but a few of the philatelic treats in store for visitors to the Exhibit. There are scores of other fine displays, including collections—all blue-ribbon winners in their respective classes—from Great Britain and the Continent.

An experiment, expected to revolutionize the old order in the matter of awards, is to be attempted. Silver-gilt cups, instead of medals, will be awarded as first prizes; second and third prize winners, of course, to receive medals, as is the custom. And this innovation in the matter of awarding cups as first prizes in the respective classes is well worthy of trial, for a cup is really more appropriate of success in competition than is a medal, for the latter is awarded more for special merit than as an emblem of championship. The proposition of awarding cups for championship will be more conducive to friendly rivalry than is the awarding of medals.

Admission to the Exhibition will be by invitation, subscribers to the fund established to cover the necessary expenses contingent to the Exhibition being a sort of Committee of the Whole, to whom will be given cards of admission for distribution to interested parties. However, persons desiring to attend will probably receive cards on application to the officials of the Exhibit.

A catalog of the exhibition, printed on fine art paper, will be prepared, and a nominal charge, probably 25 cents, will be made for it. Advertisements will be accepted from dealers, and this, according to present plans, will be the only opportunity for the trade to advertise through the medium of the Exhibition. The Exhibition will be devoted solely to the showing of stamps, no provision for space for the use of dealers on the floor of the exhibit being now contemplated by the Committee, though the matter may be otherwise decided later on. A subscription banquet will be held during the week of the Exhibition and will be largely attended.

A great deal of interest is being manifested by the officials of the Hamilton Bank Note Company and of the American Bank Note Company. The cooperation of these gentlemen is a most valuable asset of the Exhibit.

The Hamilton will furnish the Committee with 100,000 copies of a stamp, especially designed for the occasion, and it is promised that this stamp will exceed in artistic appearance any other production in the stamp line ever essayed by the engraving craft.

The American Bank Note Co., the imprint of which on margins of sheets of stamps, and sometimes on the stamps themselves, is so familiar to collectors, will, it is expected, provide an exhibit showing in every detail the processes used in the manufacture of the little pieces of paper we are all so fond of. This exhibit of one of the practical sides of the science will be an education in itself and will provide the average collector with information and knowledge that will be of inestimable value in the study of his stamps.

The Post Office Department will install a special branch post office in the premises, and stamps on letters mailed to the Exhibition building will be cancelled with a special post-mark, thus providing a lasting souvenir of the most important international exhibit

Are You Interested in Good Approvals?

We have made a study of the approval division of the stamp business, it being a matter to which a large portion of our time and resources are devoted.

This specialization in one of the more complex phases of stamp-dealing, this concentration of practically all our forces along one line only, has, not unnaturally, resulted in the acquisition by us of a vast amount of that practical experience and expert knowledge that is so absolutely essential to the stamp-dealer who would intelligently cater to the many and varied wants of the collector who buys from approvals.

We will frankly say that it is, indeed, no easy task to satisfy the demands of the up-to-date collector of postage stamps, because, with his latter-day, intimate knowledge of stamps and their value, he is not in the amateur class in any sense.

A careful consideration of the wants of our customers has made us the recipients of many testimonials relative to the excellence of our approvals, and that we are satisfying our patrons is the highest word of commendation for our service that we can offer.

Selections of stamps, arranged according to countries, are the kind usually sent, but we have, of course, very fine lots to send to the general collector. All stamps are marked at net prices, the latter being from 50% to 75% under catalog quotations, except where face value is the guiding factor, in which case the stamps are marked at a moderate advance over face.

We have established a standard of excellence in the matter of our approvals, and this standard we are resolved to maintain. We stand back of the "Nammack Standard" approval sheets; we request that they be put to the acid-test of comparison with others; we will gladly abide by your verdict.

We feel that our system of handling the approval proposition is as nearly practical as years of time and attention, combined with real experience, can make it. For the discerning collector, ours is a genuine service de luxe—minus high prices.

Now, if you are looking for modern methods, courteous treatment and a plain, all-around square deal, it will be worth your while to let us hear from you.

AN EPOCH OF PHILATELIC ACHIEVEMENT IN AMERICA.

of stamps held in the United States, and one well worth preservation by stamp-collectors.

The aggregate value of the stamps displayed will be somewhere around five millions of dollars, and precaution will be taken to protect the interests of the owner-exhibitors. Arrangements will be made with a responsible surety company for the insurance of the stamps, thus assuring owners against monetary loss, and the stamps, from the time they are received in the Committee's hands until the time they have been returned to their respective owners, will be guarded night and day.

Hearty co-operation, here and abroad, is the foreword, and that exhibitors on foreign shores will show representative collections is accepted as a fact. Over one hundred and fifty prominent philatelists of worldwide repute, have been tendered appointment on the Honorary Committee, and acceptances have already been received from many of the appointees.

May the efforts of the men engaged in earnest endeavor for the advancement of a science in which so many persons the world over are interested, their planning and working to give to philatelic America a never excelled exhibit of all that goes so far to make the pursuit of stamp-collecting fascinating, be crowned with triumphant success, for that is but their due.

SPECIALIZING FOR THE GENERAL COLLECTOR.

A collector in New Jersey has adopted an interesting plan for the pursuit of his hobby, his collection comprising the stamps of those countries whose postal issues to date number not more than one hundred distinct varieties.

It is a branching-out into the realms of specialism on a general scale, many countries being altogether eliminated from the scheme. Minor varieties of perforations, shades, errors of surcharge and so forth are not given consideration by the Jerseyite. He is getting a real pleasure out of his hobby, the practical completion of certain countries being within the range of possibility, and a definite goal is before him.
