

THE EAGLE PHILATELIST.

VOL. I. NEW BRITAIN, CONN., OCT. 1895. No. 1

The Four S's.

It is generally known that the Anti-Seebeck Society is a thing of the past. Can any one wonder at it? Still in its place there springs up another, which is known as the four S's.. "the society for the Suppression of Speculative Stamps" Now can any one tell me what good any such a society can do? It may be true that the Seebeck stamps were printed to speculate on. But did Mr. Seebeck make anything off of them? There are some people who call our Columbian issue "a speculative issue." But they are mistaken in my estimation. A person might as well say that our current issue is a speculation, but that does not make it so. Probably some "crank" will, in the near future, try and have all the postage stamps destroyed, in some way, as soon as a letter or package is taken from the post office, thus trying to prevent collectors and dealers from getting hold of them. Would it work? No. Well then, in my estimation no such a society, as the four S's., will ever amount to much. What do you think of it?—Northern Philatelist.

The smallest post office in the world and which has no postal system, is located upon the uninhabited rocks of Terra del Fuego. The post office building is simply a cask on the end of a pole, and passing ships send a boat off to this cask to get letters going their way, and leave there the letters, which they may wish sent in the opposite direction
