ATLAS STAMP COMPANY. BROOKLYN, STATION S, NEW YORK.

Stamp Collecting Made Easy.

I make a speciality of seuding by past small books of stamps to Collec. tors in any part of the world, so that they may quietly compare same with theia collections at home, and purchase just those they may be short of. This method is very popuiar, as it prevents at undesirable accumulation of duplicates. The Stamps are arranged in countries, neatly mounted in order of issue, distinctly described and priced separately, and upon receipt of cash debosit, or Sydney reference, I shall be glad to send any book from the following list, for inspection. Books (which can be enclosed in an ordinary sized envelope) may be kept for a few dsys, and then those stamps not required returned, together with remittance for those taken. Prices are exceptionally low. Australasian stamps, priced from ic to 25 c each; British Colonial stamps, pr. from 1c to 25 c each; For. stamps, pr. from 1c to 25 c ea; Australasian stamps, pr. from 25 c to $1 \mathbf{2 5}$ ea; Brit. Colonial stamp; pr.25c to 125 ea For.stamps, pr from 25 c to 125 , Uns'd Aust. stamps pr 1:om 2r to 25c ea; Uns'd Aust. stampy, pr. from 25c to 125 ; Var of perf of Aust stpstincluding old and recent issues), pr. from 25 c to 250 ; Ex fine picked copies of mediun \& common Aust., pr.from 10c to 250 Cu ; ' $\mathrm{Min}-$ or" var \& oddities(Aust.); Used stps in pairs, strips, \& blocks; New issues: Stamps(old \& recent issues)on original covers. Also books os poorer copies ui the scarcer \& more expensive stamps priced according to condition. Some of the older issu.s in very fine condition are beyond the means of many collectors who would be perhaps just as well satisfied with a stamp a trifle defective, but costing about $1-6$ of ordinary price.

"AUCTIONS"

When the time comes that ycuwish to DISPOSE OF YOUR STAMPS there is only one way in which you can realize the highest market price and that is by the AUCTION method.

I have printed alittlecircular which explains fully my method, terms, etc. and tells you WHY I can realize a greater amount (net) for your stamps than any dealer can pay you, or than you can obtain in any other manner whatever.

Better askfor this circular if you have anything to sell. It will save you considrable money.

The PHILATELIC TRIBUNE.

During the past three months the announcement that in January, 1908, the first number of THE PHILATELIC TRIBUNE would be issued, has been given wide publicity in theadvertising and reading columns of a number of philatelic publications in the country; but, because of the tate financial crisis which has thrown thousands of men throughout the count ry out of employment and which will effect every legitinate business enterprise, inctuding stamp concerns, we have, after much deliberation, decided to defer the es tablishing of THE TRIBUNF until January, 1309 . The elimiuation of the methods of "frenzied fiaance" from the banks and trust companies of the country-which bas only begun-will mean a year of "hard times", despite the fact that the resources of the country were never larger or in a more prosperous condition. Send for circular, "DeKay's Bulletin'", which is free.

UNE P.C. of the most historical points of interest in Norhd, the Old Mother of Counties, is the Warrior Run church, originally the meeting place of the Presbyterians in this section of the state ( Pa ), situated in Delaware Trp, three miles east of Watson lown. First built in 1775, remodeled $n \mathbf{1 7 8 8}, 1835$ and 1885. Still standing and used everv Sunday.

Lloyd S. Foulk. Schuyler, Pa.
JOII N PERKINS has been interested in collecting stamps from his knee. pants days to the present. A couple of sears ago he edited the "Philatelit East,' ' for the Fast Puplishing Company of Washington, D. C , which horever retired from the publishing business and hereby caused the discontindance of the paper. He is proud to say that with its five issues the paper was put on a paying basis, and won the good will of all who saw or used it, but he was unable to take over the entire work of editing and publishing, as be was emplored in the Smithsonian Institute, in the office of the late Secruary Langley, of tying machine fame, and the daily gitnd of scientific work there is very exhausting on a stenographer. He has always done a great deal of trading of stamp. as he can offer good forelgn stamps with the suicharge "Offlial," which of course come on the mail of all the Government estab. lishments in Washington, and are genuinely used specimens. He will be glad to hear from any one having good Biltish Colonials to exchange for the above class of stamps.

DR. HKNRY M. WHELPLEY St. Louls, Mo. wants iron ore Indian implements. He is making a special study os articles made by the Indiass out of fron ore (hematite and other forms of iron ore).

He is also interested in large flint spades ( 10 inches or longer), notched fint hoes and fint drills. Illust ration show $n$ of his, and kind of collection manted. Send him outlines and prices.

NAPOLEONIC YEDALS by II. Banuing which are numbered as follows: Number one commemorates the terrible retreat from Moscow. Napoleon commenced this campaign with 500,000 men but left Russia with only 30,000 most of his soldiers perished in the suows of Russia and many were captured. This disaster was the begiuning of the end of Napoleon's wonderful career. The great army of veterans could not be replaced and Napoleon soon fell before the combined araies of Europe. Number two commemorates the abdicatiou of Napoleon 181t. Number three was struck in honor of Marshall Massena, a Jew, one of Napoleon's best generals. Number four commemorates the peace of 1809 wilh Austria. Number tive was struck in honor of Marshall Poniatowski. Poniatowski was a Marshall only three days. He was created Marshal on the tirst day of the batte of Leipsic and was billed on the third day. He was the heir to the throne of Potand and' Na. poleon intended to make him king if his Russian campaign had proved suc. cessful.

Notes

"We are in receipt of a circular letter aud the repurts for the past three months of the Stamp Dealers Protective 'Assn. Whipple and Jewell of 0maha are running the Association and they are going to make weekly reports instead of each month starting the tirst of the year. With the change in their service they are making a determined campaign for a bigger membership and we know that quite a number of dealers have wished sombeody mould "start something'" along this line for some time, we predict a healihy membership within the next fes months 'I'he editors of all stamp journals will be glad to see this well supported.

Keep Your Collections. I can be safely said that 50 per cent of the peuple who fohabit the civilized countries of today see no use, pleasure, or palue in the art of stamp collecting. The real pleasure of stamp collecting, prhaps, is to keep stamps for a distant time. Others induige for the purpose of converting their collections into cash in after years. There is no doubt that a st amp collector who collects stamps for ten or twenty years will be able tu spll them for a margio of 50 or 60 per cent on the actual cost. A collection of desirable copies of stamps will yieid a great deal more cash than an endow ment policy for the same amount of time. A person should never sell ar trade a stamp collection of over five years' work unloss forced to by laid simits. Chere is no telligg when certaln stamps will take pigantic fises il pli'e. I fllustrate the above by the fact that man who had collecele :tamps when a boy recently sold one of his collections for the sum of 39000. The reader may see by this that it pays to keep boyish collections or continue collecting. In latter years the "Young New Zealander" will appreciate the value of his work in sollectnig stamps Start stamp collections a once if you have none.-Otago Witness, N. \%

SECRETARY'S MONTHLY REPORT, November 29, 1907.
The twenly tirsl utelug of the Kansas city stamp Club of the present year was held in its club toom, No. 442Jenkins H1dg. Friday evening, October 25, 1907 Called to order at 8:30 p. m. by President Rouse, ouly seven members responded to roll cal, due, no doubt. to the vers inclement weather they being Messrs. Nelson, Bescher, Rouse, Fianke, Davis, Woodard and d. Malcolmson. The minutes of the meeting held Friday, October 11,1907 were read and accepted without change. Because of the small attendance the meeting was of au informal character. It was the opinion of all present that the intersts of the club would be best served by relinquishing the club room and holding meetings in the future in some hall centrally located. Varlous members volunteered their services or were appolited by the president to dispose of the club's etiects to the best advantage and 10 endeavor to secure a suitable hall in which to hold the next and futare meetings. The secretary was asked to notily all members of the change in the meeting place Owing to the small altendance the club's third contest was posi poned until the next, meetloy In the stamp drawing which was then held, Mr. Franke and Mr. Woodard received the tirst and second gifts respectivelp, the formet receiving an unusen set of the Prussia otticial stamps of 1903 and the latter, three of the lower values unused of the Jubilee issue of Canada of 1897. Through the generosity of the president, a second drawing was held in which each member present recelved a prenium stamp. The meeting then broke up. The next meeting will nccur November 8, $190{ }^{-1}$.

The twentr s:cund meetink of the Kansas City Stamp Club of the seat was held in its club room No. 442 Jenkins Kldg., Friday evening, November 8,1907 neoig called to order by presideur Rouse at 8:07 p. m., and the follow. ing twelve members being in attersdance:-Messrs Nelson, II. K Poindexter, Luther, Rouse Davis. Woodward, [leffer, D. Malcolmson, Phinney. Sutorius, J. Male ilmson, and Hoffman. Mioutes o" meeting heid Octoper 2.5, 1907 were accepted as read. Reports were received from those merohers whose duty it was to arrange the removal and sale of the socity's furmilure and tfects in the club room. The Treasurer was tost ructed to pay rent arne give notice to the agent that the room would un longer be occupied by the societs. Mr . Luther was appointed by the president to arrange with the Dillenbick school of oratory for the renting of the auditorium of the schcol two hights of each month. If satisfactorv arrangements can be made. the auditorium of the school in question will hereafter be the place of the club's meetings.

The executive committee decided and announced a meeting of the secretary utien business pertinent to the wellfare of the club will be discussed and a ceport of which will be made at the next meeting. The treasurer reported upon the Hnancial standing for the month of October, which was referred to the executive commitee for auditing. Mr. II K. Paindexter handel in the resignation of his brother Mr. F. Poindetxer which was accepted not; without regrets Mr. Nelson moved that the preparation of interesting programmes consisting of disnlays of collections, stamp contests of various natures, etc., which were interesting and instructive features of our meetings last summer, be resumed. Various suggestions were offered as to who should prepare these programmes without makng them a burden to one or several of the members, it at length being decided that the entertainment committee be composed of six members to be appointed by the president and phose duty it will be to furnish original entertainments du.ing the present winter season. Each of the six on the committee will prepare the entertainwent in turn or once.in three months and will announce at least one meetigg in advance the subject of the contest or the nature of the entertainment he will provide for 'his"' meeting, thus giving evergone abundant opportunity to prepare to take part in the contests and displass, or the programs. Messis. Luther, Davis, Woodward, D. Malcolmson, Rouse, and Nelson in the order of their names 'will entertain during the coming season''. Mr. Luther having charge of the next entertainment announced that the compiling of dist ricts of the stamp issuing countries of A frica from memory would be the contest for the next meeting, gifis to be awarded for the longest lists.

The stamp drawing was held with fortunate result. for Mr. Luther, and Mr. J. Malcolmson, the former receiving North Borneo, No. 66, 18 cent green and black and the latter three desirable stamps of Canada, New Foundlaud, and South Australla. The elubs third ennrest in which a mint two dollar Omafia Exposition stamp is the prize, was post poned until the next meeting. The meeting adjourned at 9:40 p m., to meet again at place and date to be annuonced hy postal.

> Respectfully submitted, Arthur L. Nelson, Secretary.

Have you accumulated any philatelic literature of any description such as auction catalogues, price lists, makazines, society reports, books, etc., which you do not wish to preserve? If so, I shouid like you to donate same to our soctety's philatelic library as a Xmas present. We will pay the express or freight and moreover, will be glad to do so.

Plea-e write at length inswering all questions when leisure permits
Sincerely, Arthur L. Nelson, Librarian K'. C. S.C .

A FEW WORDS FROM THE SECRETARY.

 FIRST; ABUUT ATTENDANCE.I would again earnestly request those of our members who have not taken an active part in the affairs of our society, or have not been present at its meatings of late, to bestir themelves Never before has the outlook for a successful furure appeared as promising as now. With a large, well lighted and centrally located hall in which to hold our meetings and a membership over double that of last year, and an energetic entertainment committee to prepare pleasing programmes for a!l our meetings, it is onls reasrnable toexpect that the attendance at our meetings from now on should increase to double that of last winter when an average attendance of twelve was malntained. Every member who does not attend our meetings regularly this win. ter will miss much enjoyment. which is in store. Be present at our next meeting and bring any of your friends-and your stamps. A pleasant and protitable evening is assured.

SECOND; ABOUT RECRUITING.
It should be felt by each member, that it is one of the duties that he owes to the society to ajd to the best of his ability in building up its mem. bership. To accomplish this he may be put to a little inconvenience or have to give a few hours of his time, but cannot every one of our members afford to do this? Of course every one can, but there are only a few who do. While a few give much of their time-even more than is required of themin working for the club wellfare, the majority do not even attempt to secure the applications of their friends or acquaintances, really a very small duty for them to perform but one which would vastly encourage others much of whose cime is freely given to the society in other ways. Surely it does not seem right or just that those who give their time and euergy in making and keeping the society successfull and its accounts and records clear, should be expected to do the recruiting of its membership also. As members resign for varicus reasons, new members must be added if the club is to continue to be as successful as at present. Now please let each member reading this awake to his reponsibility and resolve to recruit from among his acquaintances to the very best of his ability. Application blanks in plenty may be had by simply addressing a postal to your secretars. This resolution once made should be energetically carried out at once. A new Impetus.for our societ? will be the gratifying result. Will ycu do do your share?

Sincerely,
Your Secretary.
To San Marino, that quaint little Republic in the Italian hills, belongs the credit (?) of having carried out important public works by means of the profit from its issue of pleture stamps. Servia would form another notable page in our collection, for here would be placed that grim Coronation issue, into the lines of which the engraver, with sardonle cunning, introduced the death mask of the murdered King Alesander. It was probably a wrench to the feelings of the conservatipe postal adninistrators of Spain to produce an issue of pictorial stamps, but this was done quite recently as a tribute to the memory of Cervantes, the creator of Don Quisote. Unfort unately, however. a great opportunity was muddled. The issues might have been made the talk of the world had the adventures of the knight errant and his satellites been well and faithfully limber, but the designs were poor, the engravion poorer, and the printing beneal contempt; and whatever of her motive mas operate it is quite certain that no one will ever buy the Don Quizote stamps of Spain for their beauty. Sweden is another of the nations that must have joined the ranks of the issuer of commemorative stamps with great relue tance. The idea of creating a special postage stamp to commemorate the opaning of a new postoftice at Stockholm was one that evoked a strong and spirited protest from $S$ wedish philatelist, who are a large and influential body. Charity stamps have been issued in Sweden, but as these have no postal franking power philatelists can of course ignore thew.

The seventy first regular meeting of this Society was held Tuesday No. vember 26th, 1907, usual time and place, President Cornwall presiding and the following rembers preseat: Baer, Chase, Cornwall, Delatield, Diamant, Humes, Kunz, Millnouse, Myers, Ruedi,Schellhorn, Schoeman,Slack,Strauss, Wood and one visitor, Mr. Bollman.

Mr. F. NChase's application for reinstatement was favorably acted upos.
The evening's entertainment was provided by Mr. Schoeman, who propounded ten questions bearing upon stampe whose simplicity may be judged from tre winning percentages of Messrs, Good and Cornwall, 40 and 39 per cent respectively. Mr. Schoeman also provided a number of entertaining charades, having for their subjecte the names of stamp issuing countries.

Nominations for officers for the ensuing year are as follows:
Pressident, Schoeman, Wood, Myers. Vice President, Delafield, Strauss. Treasurer: Humes, Slack. Secretary: Millhouse, Schoeman. Wood. Board of Governors: Baer, Chase, Delafield, Diamant, Humes, Kunz, Millhouse, Myers, Reudi, Screllthorn, Schoeman, Slack, Strauss, Wood.

For the next meeting, President Cornwall has offered $11500 worth of stamps, catalogue value, to be divided in three prizes, to be awarded for the most complete, best conditioned and best arranged collection of the stamps of Netherlands. These prizes are contingent upon the entry of at least five collections, it is therefore hoped that a goodly number of me obbers will enter their collections for competition.

Netx meeting Tuesday December 10th, 8 o'clock, P. M., Rcoms 803-805 Wright Bidg. All collectors, members or non members cordially invited. Chester Myers, Secretars.
The seventy second regular meeting of this Sjelety was held Tuesdaf December 10th, usual time and place, President Cornwall presiding, and the following members present: Baer. Chase, Cornwall. Diamant, Millhouse Myers, Schellhorn, Schoeman, Wood Mr. A. Bollman was elected to membership.

The work of the National Stamp Committee was substantially endorsed by a contribution of $$ 500$.

A number of ingenuous charades proposed by Mr. Schoeman afforded good entertainment and a splendid course of "mental gymnasties." a pize offered by Mr. Diamant for the best solution was won by Mr. Myers.

To allow members to remain at home Christmas Eve to receive Santa Claus, the next weeting has been postponed until Monday, December 30th, 8 p. m. Rooms, 803.805 Wright Building YOU come.

Dear Fellow Members:-
While planning to lay down my burden at the expiration of the present gear, and say a hearty farewell to all, it seems to be the wish of most of the S. P. A. members to see me; as well as the ot her members retain their $\mathrm{r} t$. spective ofifces.

It furthermore gives me untold pleasure to report the conditions of this Association. By looking at the financial report you can see that the fances are in fine order. However such was brought about through the generosity of our falhful co-workers Bros. Roemer and Fuessel, by cheerfully donating stamps etc., which were sold for the benett of the General Fund, also through our faithful Bro. Brodstone who so long served us free of cost, in order that the financial part could be brought up to a reasonable standard.

I have usesd the strictest economy in order to build up a fund that we may safely sall through 1908 without financial disabilits.

I am pleased to report no losses from any cause.
While most members are responding to the call for ' 08 dues, yet some few have not responded. I hope to see all remit by Jan, lst, jet I must say to those who have not sent their dues to me by Jan. 23th, will be placed on the su-pended list and their copy of the W EST will cease.

The cost of a membership is so low that it would be an utter impossibility to furnish the paper free and keep our financial part clear.

We can all rejoice that the past has beer a year of progress, and growth; now let us all hope that the year just dawning will far eclipse the past. It is within our power. I can sum the essential point in one word "WORK". Brethren why not exert some Jnfluence and by the time we rally at Columbus next August we will have a fine roll of members.

Hoping to see all assist in promoting the S. P. A. to its former sphere, I wish all a prosperous 1908 .

Afghanistan has stamps again. The European papers illustrate them. The design resembles somewhat that of the latest 'Jurkish designs. The Afghanistan, the British Solomon Island and the Chinese Imperial stamps as well as those of all other countries which do not belong to the Universal Postal Union are by some considered as locals. These gentlemen, if they will be consistent, must also regard all the stamps before 1878 as locals, because then no country belonged to the Universal Postal Union for the simple reason that thls institution had not yet been formed. Thus the 2 penny black of Great Britain 1840 would have to be regarded as a local, because it was good for postage in the British Isles only and had no anction of the U . P. U. If a stamp has the sanction of the government of its own country, that should be quite sufficient to entitle it to recongition as a legitimate postage stamp.

Mr. J. Phillip in Stanley Gibbons' Monthly relates some rery pretty instances from the life of Mr. F. Breitfuss of whose collection the greater part was last spidng bought by Stanleg Gibbons for a quarter milion dollars. Here is one of them: "In 1873 or 1847 Mr. Breitfuss wrote Mr. Basset Hull, asking him to send any dated coples of Australian stamps in exchange for Russan locals. In due time a nice parcel arrived, lots of the stamps marked at one penny each. Mr. Breitfuss was not arranging his Australlans at the moment, and put the stamps on one side for some years. About 1893 I sent to Mr. Not thaft a Id., brown, New Zealand. wrk, N. Z., at a rather high price. Mr Notthaft showed the stamp to Mr. Breitfuss, asking him if he advised the purchase or if he had a specimus. Mr. Breitfuss then thought of the stamps received from Mr. Basset Hull at Ad, each,and examined them and amongst them he found, a superb copy of this scarce variety. It is dated July, 1873, and is, I think, the oniy dated copy known (value $£ 40$ )."

MINUTES

The 26 th regular meeting of the J. S. C. of Denver was held Ite c. 6ith at 309, 16th St., with nine members and two visitors present. The meeting was called to order with Pres. Nell presiding. The miluutes of the previous meeting were approved as read.

The seoretary was instructed to pay the bill of L. T. Brodstone.
The following appilcations were recelved: James Jackson, 619 Lafay. ette St., proposed by R. J Jacksor and Paul J. MeIntyre, proposed by J. C. Skinner, guaranteed by P. J. Mclntrye. Communicaion was read from $H$. H. Trulock of Montclair, $N$ J., who with several other gentlemen are form ing a new stamp society to be known as "The Junior Philatelic Association of America'. Most of the members present thought it a good thing and promised their hearty co-operation in the matter. They had no doubts that If this new society elected the right offleers it would in time become a very strong society. It was decided after much discussion that applications are to be voted on the meeting after their application has been received. The reason of this is that the 'WEST' being onls a monthly paper, it takes from three to four meetings before an applicant can become a member. All appilcatants must have their parent or guardian guarantee them, so as to prevent loss to the club in the way of circuits and in many other ways.

The plans for the banquet were postponed until the tirst meetng alter Christmas. Meeting adjourned at $10 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$.

Yours Eraternally,
M. Garretson, Secs.

Isolated collectors of small means might become discouraged by looking through a catalog as that of a N. Y. stamp company's 13 th auction, held at New York City on 4 aights, last month. There are la this sale $208 \overline{\text { a }}$ lots of stamps, a veraging about $\$ 10.00$ or more catalogue value eacr. Some lots are catalogued over $\$ 150.00$ and very few are under $\$ 5.00$. Some lots contain ony single stamp only, while others contain one, two, three hundred and more stamps each. And all this wealth is the property of one inan, Mr. John Scott Wilson of San Francisco. Yet there was a time when Mr. Wilson had not a single stamp nor get a single penny in his possession, a time when he was a beginner and could hardly distinguish a Mauritius Post Office from a 10 Pfennig Germany. So don't get discouraged! You may get there too. especially if you bld audaciously at sales like this.

Panama and Specialism by L. G. Dorpat

l'ntil the U. S. Congress had decided to build a canal between the Atlantic and Paciffe Oceans and that the Isthnus of Panama was the most suitalle place for It, Panama was to the general collector of postage stamps an uninteresting siate of Colombla, of no more Importance than Antioquia or Dolivar, perhaps of less When the Colombian parliament discarded the offers made by the U. S. and appeared to oppose the building of the canal at Panama, the state of this name seceded from the Colombian confederation, declared its independence, was acknowledged as a free and judependent state by the U. S. and-the whole situation was with one stroke changed

The Republic of Panama had become a stamp issuing country, and owing to the suddenness of the change the irst issues of the republic had to be of a provisional, make shift character, produced by surcharging with a hand stamp the stamps that had been used there before. Under such conditions many rarieties were bound to appear, and issue followed issue in rapid succession ${ }_{2}$. before the equiljbrium of good order could be found.

Shortl' after the secession the U. S. procured the Canal Zone and entered with the $n e w$ repubilc into a contract in regard to postage stamps. The philatelic papers of America and elsewhere began to report change after change. Controversies arose concerning the stamps of the newly created sis-ter-republic Everybody read and talked about Panama. St-angers were attracted. The volume of business increased. More stamps were used and more attention was given them by the newspapers, collectors and dealers. Panama had become popular.

Old stooks of Panama stamps wert looked over. Varieties were discovered and noted that had been overlooked before Lists were issued. Prices went up. Demand and supply had to be readjusted. New varieties were discovered, and a general race for the best and rarest things was on.

Those that were early in the field and alert for their interests and opportunities formed collections, not as the old albums and old catalogues suggested, but collcetions on a new plan, collections that embrace all varieties of all issues, as far as they were known or obtainable, collections that pent far into the hundreds, where a short while before dozens only were thought of, specialized collections which in the long run will prove the most profitable, most instructive and most gratifying to their makers or owners.

Mr. John U. Luff was one of the first to make such a collection of Pan. ama stamps and to issue a reference list by which other collectors mipht be guided.

Lately Messrs W. W. Randall and J. M. Bartels have issued "Bartels Check List of the Postage Stamps of Panama'. These gentlemen, who had very good opportunities, have not only made good use of them; they have also made use of the experiences of many others. Hence their list may be considered the most perfect, that could at this time be produced. It is interspersed with many valuable notes, throwing light on many points that would without them remain obscure. Catalogue makers will undoubtedly in the future take this list for a basis, and album makers will use it as a guide.

It is too bad the gentlemen have not given the approximate market value of each stamp and so made a price list of their check list; but that was not their aim. Whoever desires to know how a complete and profitable collection of Panama should be built, should get this list. Price 50c.

The best policy seems to be: Use ordinary precaution, study your stamps, make notes and remember all you can, but do not get frightened or discouraged, do not suspect every stamp as a counterfest, especially not the unused stamps (counterfeiters love to cover weak spots in their productions by fraudulent cancellations), and in case of doubt obtain the services of men of experience, where stamps of a few pennies' worth are concerned the differ. ence does not amulut to much, though, of course, every counterfelt is a disgrace to any collectirn of genuine stamps; where rare stamps valued at dol. lars or tens and hundreds of dollars are concerned, there is more caution nec. essary and the owner should not besitate to incur the expense of having his stamps examined by the best authority that he can reach.-See P. J. of H., XIII. p. 196.

Peru 1862. Reverting to the second issue of Perunda the Lecocq machine, we quote: "This machine pinted the stamps from a long strip of paper 24 millimeteres wide, or just wide enough for one stamp with its margins." The intention of the inventor Lecocq was probably that a large roll of paper bood should be used to feed the machine with. The Peruvians erIdently did not have such rolls and instead used shorter strips pasted together at the ends. This caused the paper to go through the machine in double layer, where the ends overlapped and the result is: two impressions instead of one, the upper une being a heavy impression in ink, the lower one an "al. bino" or colorless Impression. "The Post Office" vol. VIII. p. 3 mentions -two kinds of paper, a fine white machine wove paper and the other a coarse yellowish hand made native paper; whether or not the albinos occur on both kinds is not stated. The Lecocq machine had twn operations to perform while the paper passed through it: the printing of color and the embossing in the paper, the latter resembling the embossing in our present U. S. enrelope stamps. In connection with stamps made on this machine we can not speak of sheets or plates, there being only two dies, an inking die and an em. bossing die, and as a result a strip of stamps. If one of the two deis was set in wrong, the result would be a strip of stamps in which the embossing would not agree with the frame; such are known and held at high prices.

There are but two values as before, but for the 1 dinero a second die was made (1868?) and both values were printed in new colors. In course of time other valuese were needed, especially a 5 centavos or $1 / 2$ dinero, and one mas sade by cutting the 1 dinero dlagonally in half, though the chiet postal authoritles forbade it. In 1866 the 5 c stamp was supplied in form of a steel engraving by the American Bank Note Co., of New York, and in the following sear (July 1867) we find a 10 and a 20 centavos stamp from the same source. These are beautiful stamps (perf 12). The old Lecocq machine or machines (there may have been several in use) were again set in motion on two new dies (lccally engraved?) 5 centavos May 1870 and 2c March 1873. The 1 dinero and 1 peso were also reprinted at this time for use. The 20 mas reprinted later on in lighter color on better paper and in a more careful mas, but it seems this reprint was never used, nor is it stated when or by whom it was made. It may yet be remarked that the 5 and 2 c Lecocq machine stamps were inscribed "Chorrillos-Lima.Cillao"' and " Lima" respectivelf and are by some constdered as locals. Both occur in several shades. The 2c has an error, the $C$ of the word centavos missing, which is considered to make the stamp worth three times as much as when the $C$ is there. Between the stamps the strip of the 2 c is rouletted in color. Used this stamp is rare, and it is best to accept it used at its catalogue price on the original letter only or otherwise to prefer the unused stamp, since a cancellation is easilly forged, which in tihs case would mean about $$ 2.00$ to the forger.

In 1874 the beautiful lama stamps which had been issued during the dictatorship of M. I. Prado and had been withdrawn when that came to an end (1868) were re issued together with a new $2 \mathrm{c}, 500$ and 1 sol stamp, also steel-engraved and priated In New York. In Mr. Young's article it stated these were made by the National 13. N. Co., but this seems to be a misprint, he having named before the American B. N. Co., which is cooperated by others and seems correct. To judge from appearances none of the old 1886 remainders were used the whole set being now printed on a different kind of paper and grilled similarls as the old U. S. stamps of 1867 to 1870 but this may be an error. On Nov. 151876 the l0c lama was replaced by a 10c of a new design; iu September 1877 came the new 5c, dark blue, in 1878 the new 20e carmine, in 1879 the 5c ultramarine, the tc orange and the 2 c deep violet, making a uniform set of 7 values complete.

In Jan. 1880 on account of the Chile-Peruviau war the $50,50 \mathrm{c}$ and the 1 s were surenarged with an oval bearing the legend "Uaion Postal UniversalPeru" and (in the center) "Plata". There were two reasons for this: first the paper money of Peru had as a result of the war become so depreciated that letters to foroigu countries had to be prepald in silver, hence the "Plata" which means silver; secondly, with the steamer Bolivice the Chillans had captured a large supply of Peruviau stamps, especiallp of the 10 and toe values, hence these two values disappearet fnr a time entirely and the other values are surcharged "Peru" to distinguish them as coming from the Peruvian authoritles. Not long after if not at the same time with the $5,50 \mathrm{c}$ and 1 sol, there appeared with the sime surcharge 1 and $2 c$ stamps in new colors, that had not yet been used in these colors without surcharge. The surcharge, as also that which was used later, was applied by a hand stzmp, and consequently it may be found in all possible positions and is poorly impressed, otfen very indistinct. Mr. Young says: "Within a few months after the issuance of these stamps the subterranean rumblings which had been heard for some time broke forth into active warfart and the armed forces of Chile invaded Hest the dispu ted territory, the departments of Lacua and Arica and after a fow so-called battles, all of which partook more of the burlesque or comic opera nature than of real sanguinary conflcts captured dearly the whole of the Pervilan seacoast and soon occupled the capital. As sucoessive post offices were captured and occupted and the stamps found in the same were issued and used by the conquering invaders, the Director Gen. eral of the Peruvian Posts concetved the plan of distinguisking the stamps to be sold by his department from those captured by the Chilians by means of a change in the wording of the surcharge, which was authorized January 28, 1881. Consequently the word Peru in the oval surcharge then in use was changed to "Lima'" and a new set of stamps was prepared". The values are the same as before. The last two of this series, 50 c and 1 s , are rare and therefore much higher in price than the lower values.

To all Members of C. P. S.:-
You have all no doubt received ballot slips for elections of 1908: ! sincerely trust that every member has forwarded his selections in the addressed envelope furnished to Mr. E. W. Stanton, 456 Berri St., Montreal.

In connection with the nominations, I wish to state that Mr. H. L. Hart. our Vice President, has signitied his intention of dropping out of active stamp collecting on account of the demands of his business. We are rerg sorry to lose Mr. Halt fiom the Boaid, atid trust that he will soon be in a position to once more take an active part in our Society.

Fee:-Our present membership fee of $2 \bar{c} c$ has proved.particularly during the past year, to be insufticient. We have at present 126 members and past experience has proved conclusively that to properly keep in touch with all, and at the same time offer such benefis as are necessary, requires at least 50 c and I sincerely trust that every member has roted for the additional 250 per year necessary to make our Society, a success.

In connection with new members:-Although the Society starts the year with a membership of 126 , I am sure that with the co-operation of all mem. bers, the 200 mark can soon be reached and passed. If each will secure only one member in January, we will be well satisfled and the officers will do the rest. Write to the Secretary for appilcation blanks and send in YOUR member.

Don't delay but do it now. All new memberships sent in will be acknowlenged in the columns of the Offeial Organ. The Society would prefer to have applications come from present members as in the case of straugers applicants will only be admitted to membership after references furnished have been thoroughly looked into.

If you have neglected to return your tallot, please send it in today The time for receiving ballots has been extended to January 15th., and remember that fees should be sent to the Secretary and not enclosed in envelope with ballots.

It is proposed to hold, some time in the near future, an auction sale among members. You had better list what you have to offer with the Secretary now as it takes time to list lots and prepare them for the auction room.

With the application of YOUR new member, there should be enclosed an initial payment of 25 c .

With best wishes for tre New Year.
R. J. Mundell, Secretary, Box 773, Montreal, Que.

According to The Stamp Collector of Birmingham, there is somebody at Santo Domingo whe has one of the original clichis of the "Dn Real" 1865 of the Dominican Republic who is trying to get reprints made "on paper of the proper color, having the appearance of age, and using old ink.' ## Columbus Notes by J. E, Douglass

At a meeting of the Columbus Numismatic Society held Nov. 27, the memivers voted by a large majority that the much discussed motto was wisely omilted from the new coinage.

The new $$ 10$ gold pleces are ill circulation here but local banks complain that they will not stack. The coins beine dish shaped on huth sides instead of having the customary smootn surface of American coins.
F. W. Pickard of Cincinnati, has removed to Denver Coln., where he is connected with a powder concern. I understand he will remove his stamp business to that city. Ile has had ads in the westr.

At the meeting of the local stamp club held Nov. 20, C. B. Duty show. ed stamps of old German states while the stamps of Sarawak, Sian and Uruguay were shown by W. H. Field On Dec 4., Mr. Duffy exhilited a fiue collection of Roman States.

I read in lhe English allil American papeis that the stamp business promises to hwonme very lisely thls season and as far as I can judge, the same is the case in Halland afthough there has tueen and is still a lapee crisis on the moriev maket. The bust thing wherefrom o e call judge that business is growing hetter. iv the large number of new ablums I lave sold these four or tie weetis. alld the sale of Cataloguts.

It seems in me that we: issues are far better sellers than the old stamps. Perhapsiths is nos so in America. But there is a good reason for it, for in Holland, almont to week passes without there is a stamp auction, so most of the advanced collectois buy at the anctions and do not visit the draler. That is a bad thing in sosmall a country. When there is in "Germany but one auction a twat, and that for stamp dealers only, we have a sale every week.

In my last letter to the E W ESC I told the readers that wa would have here a bew tive cent piece (J)utch). .Tius has now appeared It is a heavy piece of nickel or somelhing like this metal. As this coin somewhat resembles our 25 cent pifce, tricksters use the rails of the Amsterdam electric car, to make the coin thin, and when evening comes, many are deceived and accept a 5 cent plece thinking it 25 cents!

The last thing I hear ahout the new de Ruyter postage due stamps is that only three hundred pleces of the 1 Gulden surcharge were delivered to the post officg at A mosterdam. in the hal! of which post office they are now traded over for Ils 3.50 tofis $\mathbf{1 5}$. -that is at 15 tinues face value! ! The press condemens this manner or doing business by the post department and 1 do not helleve there it will continue for any length of time. One of the better daily papers brought out an arilcle with the headine, " The State as Curio Dealer" and asked if there wolld appear an issue of "rare-made" picture postcards! ! I suppose however, that these issues will bing a pood number of new collectors, as people who did not care for stamps before. now become interested and so we stamp dealers get the best prott of ir.

Notes for U.S. Collectors by E. R. Aldrich

In speakiag of the 1869 issue of postage stamps Pustmaster i; meral Jno. J. A. Cresswell in his annual report Nov. 15,1870 stid: " The adhesive poitage stamp adopted by my predecessor in 1869 havine falled to give satisfac. tion to the public, on accoune of their small size, rheir unshapeli form. and the inappropriateness of their design, the difticulty of cancelling them effectually, and the inferior quality of the gum used in their mannfacture, I found it necessary, in April lasr, to lisue new stamps of larger size, supet. jor quality of gum and improved design.

In the Philippines the collection of the fres on lelegrams is collected by having postage stamps atfixed to the senders blank the object being to place a check on the operator so that the sender can not be overcharged and the operator retain the differential, and also the necessity of the releцraph offices keeping a separate money aecount of collections is a voided.

I had thourht that the days of unkind personalisms were a thing of the past in the atnals of philatelic journalism, but a bit of criticism of this character appeared itn a stampic periudical of recent date. In view of personnal of the editorial staff one is surprised, and the obvious conclusion is that it crept in while the powers that be were a napping.

We are all poone to err.and evan editors and publishers are not immune from this predisposition Honest criticism is "good for the soul." but criticisms talnted with personalisns is neither manly or womanly. it was Lady Henry Somersett, who very justly, we fear, said: "I तo not think it is unfair to say that the fault of Americat conversation is that it is often wearyingly persorial " In this instance the personlism was crudely, in very poor taste, coming from one who bv viriur of his years and the position he once held on his subjects journal should be ahove such ant ungiareful action. If we cannot attain to the fairness and diknity of men and women, we might to advantage acquire the courtesy practiced by well bred children.

Be it known that in making these remarks I aro actuated by no personal motive

The protest is offered up on behalf of the majority of collectors who like to find in the rest ful haven, Philately, surcease from things material.

That factle writer, Kate Clye, with whose amusing disections of womankind from their morals and manners to their clothes, lifwspaper readers are so familiar has been (either in the hody or in the spirit) "domg'" Paris, and amonk other thinks she has "nosed" out some information for collectnrs, from which, we pather the Paris besides being the ahode uf the modistes ${ }^{-1}$ is a Mecca for collectors, and the unfontunate disciples of laac Walton
"We spent the morning among the old book stores along the quas, not only the book stores, but the little two cent stores with which the bridges are lined. When you get tired of samplitig their a ares, sou can watch the boars plying up and down the Seine, or the Hshermen angling for the fish which never bite.

In the course of a reply to the numerous protests againgst the new gold coins, without the words, "In God We Trust,' President Roosevelt says:
"My uwn feeling in the matter is due to my very Hrm conviction that to pat such a motto on coins, or to use it in any kindred manner not only does no good, but does positive harm, and is in effect irreverence, which comes danseroulsy close to sacrilege. A beautiful and solemb sentence such as the one in question should be treated and uttered with that tine reverence which necessarily implies exaltatoin of spirit Any use which tends to cheapen it, and above all any use which tends to secure its belog treated in a spirit of lavity is from every standpoint profoundly to be regretted. It is a matter which it is indeed well to have iuseribed on our great national monuments * * But It seems to me eminently unwise to cheapen such a motto by use on coins, just as it would be to cheapen it by use on postage stamps or in advertisements.
"Popular Mechanics,' has the following brief paragraph under the head ing, "Svecial Delivery With Rockets. "The most unique method of delivering mail doubtless is that employed by steamers passing the islands of the Tonga group in the Pacific. On account of many reefs landing is dangerous, and the few letters to be delivered are attached to sky rockets which are fired and reach the shore in safety.

The writer has no neans of determining the authenticity of this excerpt, and would appruciate any information on the subject from her readers. We are rather inclined towards the opinion that mall is universally cunsidered too important to trust to the tender mercies of a sky rocket, however. Dr. Mac Lennan, to whom we are indebted for some interesting pictur. post cards of Tonga, might give the WEST readers some informalion of interest on postal conditions in the Tonga group.

The other day, while looking over some circulars, et cetera,from a company that deals in gasolne, chandelers and lights, mv attenton was attracted to a beautiful half tone of a group of envelopes bearing foreiku stamps, or original covers. as we collectors would term them. It was oue of the most attractive advertisements I have ever noticen, and admiraby fllustrated the compang's claims of the wide spread use of their lights. But it was so very unusual that one is inclined towards the suspicion that the originator knew something of Philately, and the interest tyen now collectors usually display in foreign stamps; if I am wroig in this surmise then the illustrations most be set down to an inspiration from the brain of an advertisiog genius.

Sometime ago an fllustration of a registered ellvelope from South Africa appearesi in the 'National Sportsman,'" and rerv effectivels proved the international circulation of the magazine

The WEST, ton,mikht effectively claim a circulation of this character, judging from the interesting origtnal rovers which Mr. Brodstnoe, has kindly donatpd to my collection from time to time. A uew jnurnal is announced from Florida, New York-"'The Philatelic Tribune'' with Mr. Clarence U. P. DeKay as publisher. I undertsand that the journal is to be regarded as a permanent publication. It would seem that the publisher has hit upon the psychological moment for his venture, as "The Perforator"s and "The Columbus Philarelist' are both, unfortunately defunct, leaving only the Chicago dournal in the field, with the exception, of course, of the WEST, which has been a tiature for many years. and ofll, without doubt appear for many more "The Philate ic Tribune"' is $s$ ated to appear in January.

A correspondent who is interested in the subject of delaged letters has sent me the following cllpping with the request that it be mentloued in the WES[. As it is of interest give it in its entirets.
"The Post-office Department has succeeded In finding claimants for a good percentage of thirty-seven letters recently returned from Mexico, where they had been held more than thirty years. In many cases either writer or addressee, and in a few instances both writer and addressee are dead and the letters were delfvered to surviving relatives.

One letter-whtch contained a certificate of deposit was delivered to a woman in Baltimore, Md., the grand daughter of the writer. Two letters addressed in 1875 to a former sea captain by his wife and mother, both of whom have since died, were dellvered to the captain in Connecticut. A woman in Algiers, La., was another recipient of one of these reminders of bygone days.

The letter with the most interesting history and which traveled the longest distance before deliverv, was mailed at Lavirk, Norway, November 18, 1875, addressed to a sailor at Minatitlaw, Mexico, where he had gone when a boy of eighteen years. When the letter reached Mexico the addressee had moved to South Amerjea, whence he later returned to Norway without having received the communication. A quarter of a century ago he came to the United States. During all these years the letter had remained in the Mexican postoffice, and when it was turned into the dead letter offlce it was sent to the place of origin in Norway and from there back to this country and tinally delivered at Stanley. Wis.

Others of these old letters were delivered to persons in Bath, Castined, Bremen, Penobscot, Damariscotta, Rangor, Northport and Lincolnsville, Me .

Fiscal Department

I have attempted to fill the patl of piscal Editor of the WEST and I will be pleased to receive notes at any time of new issues and of variaties not catalogued of old issues and alf such sent me will be noted here with proper credit. F. A. Brown, Hast Peru. Iows. Lock Box 7 .

For this month I am going to note some State Tax or Fiscals. First I shall take up Iowa as they have never been noted. At the 190607 session the Iowa legislature passed a law requiring an inspaction of feeds such as ofl meal,shorts, etc.. and fixed the tax at loc per ton, I believe I have seen the following tax tags:

No. 1.25 lbs.; 2, 50 lbs ; 3, 100 lbs . No's 1,2 and 3 are printed In black on ordinary manila tag $3 \frac{1}{6} \times 1 / 8$ in. The legend is as follows: At top, "Iowa Feeding Stuffs Law'" in letters $\frac{14}{4} \mathrm{in}$. high and underscored by paralell lines-all $2 \% \mathrm{in}$. long. Under the center of this is 100 pounds, fg. ures and letters $1 / 8 \mathrm{in}$. hiah and $11 / 2 \mathrm{in}$. long:, live $1 / 2 \mathrm{in}$. long underneath beginning, under the last 0 of 100 is fac slmile signature of "H. R. Wright" under and to right of this is "Comimssioner'" in letters less than 1.16 of an inch, and last of all at the bottom, beginning under the $I$ of Iowa, in the top line, is "Charges Paid"' in letture just over 116 in. high and eovering 11/4 in.

The tags seem to have been in a strip of one row, and rouletted one at top and buttom leaving unly a small bit holding them together at jight and left corners Adhesive perforated black on while calengered papet it is is in. by $15-16 \mathrm{in}$. and the legend is exactly as on the tag reduced in size. The specimen I have is perforated, top, bottom and left ends.

List: No. 1, 251b. Manila tag; No. 2,50 lb., Manila tag; No. 3,100 lb., Manila tag; No. 4, 100 lbs adhesive white paper.
II. Missourl Beer Iuspection Stamps. I gave a description of these in the WEST for April, 1906, so will only list them here-see also WEST of August 1906, article is correct except in regard to labeling Fee.

Cape "Woodblocks". The old name "Wuodblock." is silll that by which those stà̀ins are most familiarly knonn to collectors, although we are amare that neither were the dies engraved upon wood, nor the stamps printed from wooden blucks; the latter would plaints have been impossible, as whaterer the original dies were wade of, they must have been reproruced by stereotyping or electrotgping for the purpose of printing the stamps in sheets. As a matrer of fact the dies were of steel, and the plates were made up of stereotyles. but the stamps were what used to be termed (in book illustrations) "woodeuts," as distinguished from "steel engravings," and probably got the name "woodplocks" from that fact. - Glbbors Monthy Journal.

"Mine Osun People"--De ta Fabula

By Verna Reston Hanvay

AUNT CAROLINE'S. HEIMWEH.

Aunt Caroline was a gracious Southern woman of the old school. How this "Daughter of the Confederacy"' came to leave her home in Dixie land is a story in itself, but is not one which requires relating here. A unt Carolve was altogether charming, but to her there was no culture, nor beavty nor chivalry north of the Mason & Dison line; General Robert Lee was the greatest warrior that ever illuminated the annals of history; Jefferon Davis, the greatest statesman. "Tho she had been but ten years of age when the crash and clatter of war was at its height, she never forgot,-and when all is said few have forgotten, tho' they may be glad now that their dreams were not realized-that dream of an empire, cultured, beautiful, aristocratic and leisured in the genial Southland. So it was her beautiful features, beautiful with the gracious kindness of age bore always a shadow, and her eyes the look of an exile.

This look always pained us, altho' we were not able to sympathize fulls with it because of the dual blood of Northland and Southland in our veins. But Robert Lee W-_ had served two years in the Philippines, and could understand that tho' the bitterness of war was past Aunt Caroline could nev. er look upou the north as her "homeland,' that the sense of exile even when dulled and deadened, tugged always at the heart strings, - a melancholy music. And it was our dear Robert who had that inspiration which was to, by and by, spirit away much of the sadness that pained us.

Aunt Caroline had once again tuished that story of which we never tired, and had begged for at many such twilight hours, year after year, as we grew from childhood to youth. That too is a story in itself and need not be retold here. It was that story the acting of which caused an ache in many homes in the North and South, and made the figurative, "brother against brother', a sterb, horible reality. One brother in the Southern army ighting for his convictions, and ove in the Northern figiting to keep unsevered that noble heritage for which our Colonial ancestors gave their all,-their fortunes and themseloes. The ending of the story is epical, and we never listeried to it without feeling as if a hand clutched at our hearts. For thoso $t$ wo were our kinsmen, and the meeting, wounded and broken, on a moonlit battlefield, was alwass a reality. A scrawl by each for the little sister at home--and then for both the shadow.

Aunt Caroline could tell it with much more calm than her listeners evidenced. The story was older t.o her-it had in some measure lost the keenlike edge of pain. We knew intuitively that she was looking for that shadow * * . * and would welcome it when it came.

But as I have stated it was our dear Robert who understood best all this. Robert was a postage stamp collector, and was so very fond Indeed of his collection that he had taken it with him to the Philippines. He used. sometimes, to tell us a story he had read somewhere of some Engilsh soldiers in the Boer war, who, in leisure moments 'round the camp 0 re would place a bit of card board with only a little postage stamp upon it where they could see it plainly. That stamp bore a llkeness of their Queen. Smalliting and comr:ouplace as it was it alwass awakened in them all the chivatly of their uatures. It stood for the person, the country, the loved ones, - for loyalty, Robert told us too of the feeling, quite forelgn from the collecting pleasure, which came to him in that distant place when he would look through the album contalning our own country's stamps. This part of his collection was complete, or very nearly so, and when he looked through it it seemed to stand as a symbol for the dear Republic.-the horrors of war, the ruin, the bloor, the slaughter, were forgotten-only the deep stirring patriotism, the passionate thrill that lias made this country unconquerable rema!ned, - the thrill felt alike by those with the blood of the Puritans and Cavaliers in their veins, and by those who came but a generation ago. That collection reminded him of the country, the cause, the republic it stood for-America.

Out of the fullness of that remembrance Robert spoke. "Aunt Caro" line, haven't you some envelopes with stamps of the Confederate States?" Acnt Caroline roused herself with a smile from her dream of the past, and replied that she had quite a number. Robert begged to see them, and arm in arm they left to browse among the envelopes, and we settled ourselves to aur usual unsentimental evening pastimes. But one whom we called the Prophet oracularly prophesied, "Mark my words, girls, Robert will entlee Auntie finto collecting if they are allowed to spend the evening among stamps. and one collector in the house is enough!'

They did spend the evening together, about half past ten I found them in Robert's den, deeply immersed in large books. On Aunt Caroline's cheeks was a soft flush. I was bidden by moy gentle brother, "Depart from hence! This is no place for unbelievers." I "departed', but not before I sang back, "Line well your purse all ye who enter there!"

That was but the beginning of evenings in the den. We fretted and fumed, but only to find ourselves ignored. Robert and Aunt Caroline were in high spirits those days, and chatted gayly together in strangely wierd language. Many letters left too, for Disle. When Robert brought home some books gay in Morocco, gold lettering and fine paper, with Aunt Caroline's name and crest beautifully hand tooled on the covers in gold, we understood the dire thing which had been visited upon our innocent house. Another philatelist had developed in our fold. But while this is always inexplicable to outsiders, we could understand Aunt Caroline's bright, animated expression.

Tho let ters to personal friends in Dixie brought their larvest. Large and still larger packages arrived, then more ard yet more. Robert alanced with delight. 'I told you Aunt, Caroline that you'd get some gems. Those blessed grand seiguors wouldn't part with them for money, but there's plenty in lixie to be bought for love. Aunt Caroline, you'll have the tinest collec. tion of the Confederacy ever gathered, or l'm not your dutiful nephew!"

Aunt Caroline and Robert got together what he called, "a good representative collection". For months this interested them, and then they began to specialize. They talked learnedly of shades, and varieties, of types, and of "gems on the original cover." When sundry rersons of whose collections Robert told things which caused our eyes to distend, began to call to see the collection. we sat up and took notice. Aunt Caroline would have the finest collect for of these stamps in existence, they said.
"MINE OWN PEOPLE"-Concluded. It was wonderful, remarkable. Bhe became interested in other llnes of collecting as well, but her Confererate States stamps were always frst, last and best.

And the stamps still came from the South. They came'frcm other places as well, and I have reason enough to think that Aunt Caroline signed a goodly numper of cheques But she had her reward. She was halled far and near, among the clan, as a priestess. -as one who had delved further into the stamps of the Confederacy than any other. She had long since joined the important seleties: her patience and perseverance were univers. ally admired by collectois, even we who were not of the elect were interes. ted, and interest tinged with respect for the value of such tits of paper. Modest and uassuming bils of paper they were, but in such wise do they occupy a sure place in the atfections of mature men and womea.
But the end was not yet. Aunt Caroline collected used and unused, bought many sheets, blocks, pairs and original covers. Robert said that aitho' she had the very ficiest collection extant it was a large enough field to specialize in for a life time.

One summer day she departed on a mysterlous journey, and retiarued on a sumny day with an equalls sunng face. There ensued a conference with Robert, and at its close he went about with a scarcely less jubiant air. Much urgent inquiry brought forth the fact that Aunt Caroline had journejed some thousand or so miles to attend an auction sale, and had returned with an elusipe gem in which her collection was deficient, in an imperforate block of four We also gathered that her bank account was depressed to a goodly amount in four fat figures.

Father looked surprised, astounded. But something, the animated joyful expression of the two, especially that of Aunt Caroline I think caused his eyes to grow misty, and very gentle. "Robert, he said, "jou might get me an album and a kids packet or twu . Caroline, we'll be children together agaio; it time for our second childhood, anyway.

Ghe Ctamp Dealer in Love

Series No. 5, of the Experience of a Stamp llealer.
The Stamp Deajer was in love. He sat in his isew office, do not thint when I say "his new office" that the stamp Dealer had become owner of a new office for it was not so. it was an uld oftice but it was new to the Stamp Dealer as his office generally was every month or so.

As I was saying the Dealer was in love. :He had met her, fell in love and was, above all-engaged to be married. Yes, in fact, the Dealer was to be married this very night.

The ceremony was performed in a small church and the bride and groom had a magnificent repast in a down town restaurant, consisting of cheese and crackers, -I mean the 'repast' not the restalirant. That evenng the Dealer thought that his wife was beautiful, but the next day he found out, as the saying goes, 'she was almost "false'" to him,' she had-false teeth. When the Dealer went to his office that moruing, he sat down and meditated, and decided that:
"Little drops of powder,
Little dabs of paint,
Make women what they ain't.' ${ }^{\prime}$

Föreign Revenue Notes

By Oscar T. Hartman

REVENUES USED FOR POSTAL SERVICES.

Oscaslonally you find U. S. revenues on lette s, but their use was never legally authorized. This may be said also of many other countries. Iu my opinion a revenue postally used should be on the original cover which affords. a security to a great extent

Take for instance the revenues of Ecuador which were postally cancelled to order but how many realig g snuine can gou find among them, without. the cover to prove their use. In cingland since 1883 and in many of her coloules stamps are used postally an 1 for certain revence purposes. The latter are generally pen canceiled, also with bank, fro, etc., cancelled. Largebusidess concerns use also an additional type rint or punched Initials to sufeguard theft.

In most countries is some kind of record to give the time of the authorized use of certain revenues. The cause is varied. It might be the shortage of postage stamps, theft of same, war and its causes, change of currency, etc. The list is quite extensive: The tirst one is Argentine. Under Austria jou find a few of the Lombardy Venice 1850-58 revenues used postally; Bolivia, Brazil, Chili, Colonbia Kepublic, Costa Rica, Dominica, Equador, Great Britain. Honduras, Hong Kong, Jamaica, Nevis, New Zealand, Nicaragua, Phillipines, Queensland, St. Christopher, St Lucia, Saldador, Sierra Leona, Spain, Tasmania, Venezuela, Victoria, Western australia. The above countries represent those, which have used revenues without changing in any way the design or values. Many revenues have been surcharged for postal sersice but the surcharge makes them postage stamps, so they are not mentioned. It whll be always well for the postage stamp collector to be on the lookout for high values of countries which use them for postage and revenue, that they are genuinely postally cancelled. Nor to say that they may be as scarce, revenue used, but they do not belong in a postage stamp collfetion.

Another surprising matter is the fictitious values collectors put on revenue stamps they happen to have in their possession, especially those mentioned in the different staudard postage starp catalogs. Postally used, it might be vers scarce, but as revenue common enough. Take for instance an English two shilling stamp. Posrally it is worth somethisg, but many two shilling revenues fetch no more than one cent used in the retall market.

I know of a recent case in a European country when a regular bank, in the capital of the country, accepted a lot of cancelled stamps of the rare first issue of that country as security for a bank loan. I think no better indication of the statility of philately cepld be brought forward." It is true that the country concerned is far soore developed in a philatelic way than our country is, but the transaction is nevertheless remariable and extremely gratiffing to contempiate by collectors of postage stamps. --Redield's Weekly.

0uestions relative to stamps will be aisiverts in this column free of charge to subscribers All questions must be sent to the above address and a ec stamp bust accompany each letter containing questions. 399. What is the character of Appleton's Weekiy issued in Bradford, Enyland? It is principally a list of stamps, but a big one, covering the wide tield of Great Britain and Coionies. Old issues are no* excluded, but novelties predominate. Stamps in stock and offered for sale are priced; stamps not in stock and wanted are not priced. Occasionally special bargaius are offered, and now and then at ad. from some other firm is carried. Besides Ewen's Weekly Stamp News this is probably the best indicator of the stamp market.
352. By the courtesy of Mr. E. B. S.erling, 941 Edgewood A ve., Trenton, N. J., 1 am enabled to describe the following designs of $U$. S. stamped papers:

14th design: This is called the "rape-worm-stamp" and consists of the stamp design just described as the thirteenth with the addition of a section of it repeated 56 times, so that it appears, as if 57 stamps were on the document, one overlapping the other, one visible entire and the others showing only the lower part with the ioscription "2 CENTS 2 ". The whole is nearIf $171 / 2$ nches long, and only 22 mm . wide, as before. The value represented is 57 x 2 cents or $$ 1.14$. A queer thing!

15th design: This is just like the design described its Vol. 36, No. 2 of the WEST design 6th with the addition of the inscription: "Good Only for Bank Check'" across the face of the stamp.

16th design: Three opals, the middle one standing upright, the other Lwo lying horizontally. The middle one is surrounded by a band with the usual inscription "United States" above and "Interna Revenue'" below. In the center is a large colorless tigure " 2 "' on a vertically lined background and a straight horizjotal label with the words "TWO CENTS'. In the left oval is an eagle perched in fighting position on a shield with the U. S. arms, and in ti e right oval is a marine view. The whole is surrounded by fancy ornaments. Size $43 \times 105 \mathrm{~mm}$.

17th design- Head of Frankiln in a circle ( $351 / 2 \mathrm{~mm}$. diameter) on a diagnalls lined back-ground within a circular band bearing the inscription "United States'" above, 'Internal Revenue'' below, the four words separat. ed by four heart-shaped ornaments which project begond the band with the Inscription and its two enclosing lines. On elther side there is a disc partial-

If visible a:d bearing the Hyures ' 25 ''. The disc is surrounded by a band inscribed ' IWENTF FIVE CENTS'', and beyond these, as aiso abuve aind belo: the central part of the stamp there areprnaments glving the stamp a size of $66 \times 126 \mathrm{~mm}$.

As a curlosity pussibily an essay, I may here mention a blacik check of the llanover Natlomal Bank of New York 189 - with a stamp of the 4 th design in the louc, left corner and an impression lesembling the 3rd design in the center. This latter, however, is not-really a stama; there being neither a value nor the usual inseription on it. On the lower part of the diagonal band there is the Inscription. "The Ilanover National Bank" and outside this in very swall type "Copyright 1884 Hanover National Bank.' There are two discs added, and in all fqur discs appear ornamental, crosses.

INCREDIBLE: Carl Kohler in the Rerliner Briefmarken Zeitung states that the 5 mark stamps of Germany, type I. inscribed "Relchspost" were retouched by hand with red or white color, or both as the case might be, and the editor of the B. B. Z. contlims this view. They do not refer to a retouching of the plates, no, a retouching of the printed stamps one by one to cover up imperfections of printing is what they mean! How the jmperial prituting office could aftord such a course for even a short time is almost incomprehensible. Has ever anybody heard angthing like it from any other printery? It would be highly interesting to hear an explanation of the procedure from the official who ordered or permitted it. Posslbly only one or two sheets were so treated and perhaps more for a joke than anythag else. Yot it remains a unique occurrence and secures to the Germans the palm for having issued the first hand painted stamps that ever any mortal thought of.

A nother couceivable possibility might be that this hand painting was a scheme to protect the government against counterfeiting and stamp washing, and that the scheme was soon abandoned, because the process must undoubtedly have was soon abandoned, because the process must unduobtedly have proved too expensive. I have none of these stamp at hand, but I should be nuch pleased to hear from other collectors whether or not they can tind auy traces of handpainting on their 5 -mark stamps. Mr. Kosack would do us a great favor if he would examine into the matter thoroughly and then give us the facts in detail.-Dorpat.

According to several notices in various British and German papers Philatelic literature is receiving more attention lately in Europe and prices have a tentency to ilse. So don't burn or tear your old stamp papers!

What to Collect and Hore by K. Nuck.

Mtuch is being written these days as to what stamps and what countion are best to collect

In my opibion ona's own cunntry should come first. But one soon gets all the chetiper variettes and thell what? My idea is that if beginners would start and cullect one country at a tive gettiog all varieties they can afford, they would get a better collecton than by tiryng to collect all conutres at onse. Of course I do wot mean to ignore all other countries but one. I would not advise this Collect any stamps of any country that come in sour way bur devote your especial energy to une country at a time. Thus while hustling after varieties of your one country you would of course often run across other kinds. These should be placed in their proper paces and will do for a beghning when you come to that country.

If this plan is helpful to any beginners, the writer will have oblained all the reward he is looking for.

AChat AboutiReunion

What a contrast between the tirst stamps of Reunloit and the pictorlal series recently issued Th hs fremen colony can boast of I wo of the greatest varieies in the French colunisl list-namely. the 15 aud 30 centimes stamps issued in 1852. The two labels are mean looking things, published up by means of printer's type,yet a stamp collector would ratier liave one of these than a thousand of the ornate pictorial stamps now ourrent One of these fatter, by the way, is of particutar interest, for it forms an a dition to the philatelist's prowing collection of map stamps. The similar labels of Canama, and that famous map stamp of the nomintcan Repunlic, whicti rery nearly equbroiled the Dominicans In a war with their neighbors of Ifayti, are weli known to all.

Between these two extremes, the rare Rennions of the lirst issue and the pletorial stamps current at the present time, tiere hase been many-tuo many -postal issues for this unfonoortant island. Iu 1889 , for ir.stance, and in succoeding years. the authorities appear to have passed a job lot of French and French colonial stamps though the surcharging nachine int use in Reuntion. 'These stamps abound in "inverts" and errors of spelliog

Of the 1886 series every stamp except the $20 c$. on 30c. has been found with ocerprint inverter while the se. on toc red, the loc. on the sarme stamp, and sic on the orange are known with a double printing of the surcharge. It is the 189 g -93 series, lowever, that marks Reunion out as a champion country for mudnled surcharges.

A slight alteration is noticeatble in the latest specimens to hand of the is centimes, yreen, of Belgum. The ornamentation which prepiously connected the main stamp with the Sunday label ts not removed, so that, the dividing line of perforation traverses a completely blank ground, and the stamp is now a complete stamp in erery sense even when the "Ne pas livrer, le Dianche' tablet is torn away. We wonder whether this slight modificaLion betokens a weakening of Postmaster General Vandenpeereboom's favorIte fad.

PROTO POST CARDS
By K. Nuck
Eversone u ho owns a kodak or camera can make their owio postcards. Bs buying the postcards supplied by photo supply dealers and puting on them pictures from your own negatives, rery interesting cards can be made.

In a town that has no souvenir pust cards an amateur photographer can make a nice little sum of cash by offering for sale cards of his own make at reasonable prices.

The owner of the kodak or camera should go around his town and sur. rounding country and take pictures of the most interesting and important bilidings, etc., and then put them on post cards. These home made cards show the scenes deptcted as they really are, not as the artlst who fixes the caids you buy, thinks they ought to look. For instanoe, I have cards of neighiboring cities, etc, and thought that it must have been some beautiful buildings, but when I saw the said buildings, they did not look neary as good as the post card' made them to look. Therefore, reader, make some cards of your own that are true to life pletures of sour home town aud surround ings. Write Rhone, st. Paus, Minn.' for samples of photo post cards.

Unlike most fads, the picture post card has not become a nuisance. Escept for the over-worked postal employees no ono has any fault to find with them. And to the thousands of shut-ins in feeble health they have proved a god-s.nd, enabling them to forget their misery for a short time at least In thousands of lives comes every day a ray of sunshine with a picture of the uld home or familiar scene, a remembrance awakened by the slip of pasto hoard when a visit to the old home is impossible.

Bulletio No. 2, Bureau of American Ethnoiogy, "Perlerated Stones from Califormia." in its 34 pases gives some interestiog data along the liue of these relics.and briefly eldeavors to solve the problem of their use-u hather for the diggiug stick or hammer, head for war club ar batod of the medicine man or chief in authority. Mr. Flenshaw cites their use among varlous un civilized peoples the world over. A numher of tigures illustrates the text.
"The Buried City of tre Panhande" is quite an interesting article by Prof. Everly (Mathematics and Science. Canadian Academy, Canadiao,Tex.) in "The Student" for 1907. Mr. E. and a coips of studerns from the academy made a survey of the site last March. This famous ruin is located in Ockiltree county, Texas. The excavations proved this supposed eity or vil. lage cite to be an aucient. burial place and the mounds were found to contain human bones. Hint chips, pottery and charcoal. Numetous filit arrow heads and spear heads have been found in the immediate vicinits.

Curtis in Chicago Record Herald says reckless American buyers have pushed up the prices of curios and bric-a-brac all over the world. Archer M. Huntington of New York alone has demoralized the market for such things in Spain by paying anything that was asked for the books, manuscripts and curiosities he has been collectine for the Museum of Spanish Arts and Industrie he has erected ou Riverside drive in New York. Other American collectors have plunged into the market with their money in their hand and have paid three times and often twenty times as much as articles they sought would have been sold for if they had shown less ardor. This is true all over the world, from New Orleans to Yokohama

A Pittsburg school teacher who went to Canada for her summmer outing sent for over 1,000 views of her home city for distribution, and gatbered nearIf twice that number of Canadian postcards for her collection while away.

Quife a sif hav burll cansed in the archaelogical world by the discovery of many buges conari relles fil a umbor of colleelans I quote the follow. ing from a lewspather report " lot boit Mich. My thauks are due Mr. H. W. Boers, of Detrnit, Mich, for a copy of the Detroit News of November 14, 1907, cuvtaining a very lengthy article on the subject headed, "Daniel E. Soper in a fake relic business. It seems from this that several partles are fiterested In the fraud among them one or more museum curators. This article is an almost complete expose, and is illustrated by cuts of a number of fake relics. Every collector, and espectally those having copper relics from Michigan, should endeavor to procure a copp of this paper.

A sepulcher contalning the bodies of many children has been discovered near the Pyramid of the Sun, at Sar Juan, Mesico. The sepulcher was corered by a huge tombstona on which is carved the face of a woman, surround. ed by many hieroglyphics. The body of one of the children is almost patriGed.

Wah-wah-to see, considered the head of the tribe of Musquakies, recently died on the Tama Indian reservation east of rildora, Iowa. After death the tody of the old chieftalu was properly dressed and takeo to the council lodge. A rude bler constructed by stretching a blinket over poles and covering all with a piece of bripht new mathting. On this the bodg lay, the foot of the bier res! lin on the whund, the head raised about three feet and resting against tre ifiatform bullt abolit the juterior of all lodges. It was here that the deith. watch was kept. Black Cloud was master of ceremonies. By some proces of preservation unknown to the white man, the old chief looked as if he had just fallen asleep.

Soon after came the funeral cortege, all went to the top of a bluff overlookine the river A grave had been dug and a rough cottlu made. According 10 all ancilelit cusion, Wah wah-to-see was buried in a sitting posture, his face to the setiong sun. The grave was just deep enough for the top of the head to come tu the top of the ground. His clothing was rolled back, so that the head and breast were bare. On the cotfo was placed a bottle of water, vessets containing provision, the beads and other personal trappings of the dead $\Lambda$ cover was placed over that part of the crftin that held the extremities, and a board fitted across the top to shield the head. Wa-pelluka delivered an address During all the service, Black Cloud waved a huge eagle wing back and forth absve the grave Throughout the address the or ator kept sprinkling holy tobacco in the grave, and at lis close all those pres. ent passed about and deposited portions of the fragrant herb in the cofta following the old custom, a dog was sacrificed at the grave, a young Indian taking it to a spot near the heal of the grave and klling it with a blow fron a green oak club It mas throttied that it might make no outcry. A gable roof was placed over the grave, which was covered with matting and canvass, and a crib of poles built above the covering. All was then heaped up with earth, and in this form of burial no earth is permitted to touch the bocy or its trappings

Wah-wah-to see was a thorough Indian, who held tc the Indian tradilions, the Indian religion and the Indian life. and was buried according to Indian customs.

It will be seen, that by studying the customs of present day Iudians, much may be learned that will throw light on the ancient times.

I wish agaic to call attention to the fact that this department needs notes and cippings of archaeological interest, and I trust that mang of the readers will take as much interest as a few have done, and by that means make the Department a success

THE SOUVENIR POST CARD.
Of all the hobbies large and small, The Souvenir Post Card beats them all. It shows us viens from all parts of the sphere, And tells us news from friends so dear.

Send them a Post Card of the place And you bet they'll have a smiling face.-Allen H. Taylor.

How Coin Collecting may be Made Both Interesting and Profitable

The collection of old coins has aluass hast a fascination ahout it for young and old alike, both fur those who limit their expenditure to picking up here and there some odd coins which apuear to them to have some peculiar traits, stamping them as singular and different from the orfinary run of coin, and those who gn in for the hobty with enthustasm. and the intent to gather toget her a ruprestmative collection of one or more series of coins and medals At the oulsel it may be well to draw attention to the difference between true coins and thise preces which hio ve been struck to commemorate important events. and many lherefore be termed medals. In this latter section a vast number of pieces may ba grouped under separate headings; the token coinage aloue being of sulfcient importance and extensive enough to fill many cabinets, each particular group having well known characteristics denoting the period to which they belong. The coin collector in the course of his researches, will come across many pieces which are neither medals or coins He will meet with jetons.counters, passes. checks, and manv sundry medalets, and even advertising mediums which have been issued by enterprising traders at different periods In the formation of a cabinet all these different types will reguire sorijne out, and classifying. As the student dips deeper into the science of numismatics, he will find that this sorting out process becomes easler, and that there are marked peculiarities which at once enable the expert to locate specimens, even though they mas be so rubbed as to have very little outline upon them, oftentimes neither date or inscription. Take for instance the great y roup of collectable coins issued during the period of the greatness of Imperial Rome. Thnusands of these coins have been discovered in England, sometimes in isolated places where one or two have been dug up, at others in earthenware jars, containfug thousauds,olten almost past recognition,owing to the action of the weather and the soil with which they have been covered for so many centuries Yet the expert cullector can tell at a glance a Roman coin! He can decide without hesitation to which period it belongs, and can often fix the reign in whicn it was struck by the bare out line of the profle upon it, so true are these coins to their own particular characteristics.

Again, the early English hammered money is distinctly different from the coins struck by aud minted, by the aid of the mill and screw. So the full. faced heads of the early Norman kings, at which apparently no attempt at portraiture was made can lie distinguished immediately from those of the Tudor perion and later coilu.on which tre portralts of the English sovereigns are so clearly wivelt. The crude Saxon coins have piotiles peculiar to the period, and it is the sime with the coins of otlier couniries. It will thus be seen thal a cabluet of colns may quickly be sectioned, but it is not so easy to sub divide them, to surt our. the values or to classify them in the correct chronolosisal order. The ability to do this comes only by experience, and the young bepliner must be content with solvag some of the lesser difficulties and is well advined if he takes ap one or other of the easily collectable ally readily dethed groups. Nalurally the keen business man.and there are many culecturs gmong !usifess men, seek to make their hobly proftable. They inas gu about it with a view of accomplishing immediate mometary venetit. or they may ain at gathering together a collection which will become valuable fo the future.

Every eflector should aim at making his collection as complete as possible He should replace inferior specimens by others better preserved, and should try to make the collection representalive, rather than expend all the spare cash he has at his disposal in acquiring rarities. Of course a collector without some few curious and soarce coins, consisting of coly very ordinary tspes and those in comparatively poor preservation, is of little interest 10 the advanced collector. But for the encourayement of those who are just beginoing to colleot, it may be stated that many of the larest and most raluable collections which have been dispersed during recent years had very small beginnings. They were the work of a life time, it is true, but during the building up they afforded their owner ample compensation for time, trouble, and money expended in the many pleasant tours in which they rejoiced in their ever increasng cabinets. To commence collecting on a business footing, duplicates should always be disposed of as quickiy as possible, and it will oftentimes be found protitable to secure a miscellaneous parce], out of which specimens may be stcured to reward the purchaser, leaving him still suftient coin to recoup his outlay, by careful disposal through the mediums at his disposal. We do not suggest that coin collectiog should be made a trading hobby, or that the collector should buy for the sake of selling, but we do maintain that there is an increased interest in the purchase of a few gnod specimens, when the duplicates which are turned out of the catinet realise satisfactory sums. Buying in quantity oither from the auction mart or from the dealer, is undoubtedly far more economial in the ent than securing a picked sperimen here and there at ext ravagant prices. Even the most advanced and ofentimes wealthy collectors proudly boast that they dispose of their duplicates, and are often astonished at the increased price they obtain. Young collector are of cen troubled at the vast difference be (ween the market value of well preserved specimens of issues which were once current in large quantities, and those scarcer specimens known as proofs and pattern pieces. It cannot be too clearly understood that whereas the Girst mide coins were struck in thousands, only a few proofs were struck off, and sometimes none were issued, only a very few of these scarce proofs get. ting into collectors' hands.

According to the evidence of Mr. Cecil Harcourt Smith, keeper of the Greek and Ruman antmilities at the British Miseum. Ite authorities own an extensive collection of forgeries. liy which they are able to compare authtntic specimens and unknown examples which are offered to the Museum. Sucha collection publicly on view would be beneticial 10 collectors, who are often uncertain as to the authenticity of their own specimens. Unfortunately forgers copy not only valuable pieces, but really inexpensive colleciable cuitos.

At a sale at London a few days ago a Commonwealth pattern farthing realised $$ 8$ and a tin farithing of $1684, $ 10$. At the same sale war redals fetched good prices. A Peninsulas medal wht three bars and one Waterloo medal realised $33.

Old lacquer is well worli collecting, especially small hoxes, pin trass, and other sundiy tollet atticles inlaid with ivory, metal, or mother of-pearl. These are chiefly of Oriental origin, but English lacquer is obtainable, to0, but Engilsh lacquer upon a basis of wood is frequently decorated with orna mental devices in colours. Lacquer work must not be confounded with pa piermache, the ground work of which was, of course, paper pulp

The collection of old knives and furks with crystal and stone handles is now receiving some attention. Some of these handles are beautifully carved, others are quaintly shaped. Now and then individual specimens mas be picked up in curio shops for two or three shillings each, and thus little by little, a collection of quaint knires, forks and spoons may he ohtained Many of the knives are scimitar shaped, and the forks hare two long prongs, whereas the bowl of the spoon is almost round.
l3ank note collecting is an interesting craze.and there are many obsolete notes originally issued by country banks represernting a face value of $9 j_{1}$ which may be bought now for 25 and 50 cents each. Neatly mounted in an album, such notes, although costing little, give their owner the appearance of great weatlh.

An interesting exhibition of Anglo-Saxon relics is now being held at Derby at the Midland Railway Combany's Institute. The relics comprise Anglo-Sason cinerary urns, round and square headed ibulae, horsehead deco rations cf an early type, beads. tings. flint implements, and small broph tweezers and spenr heads, as mell as a few knives and keys of later date.

Collectors of autographs will doubtless be interested in the sale taking plac this week at Sotheby's. The colection includes let ters of King Charles I, fueen Victoria, and a number of ollers fon Lord Byron Longfellow, Dickens, and other well kuown poess alld litelary ment Finds of old coins continue to be reported An old sevedteenth century traders token found at Breulford was in excepionally good preservation, abd the inscription "Henry Dawes in Rumford, $1668^{\prime \prime}$ was easily discernable. A groat of Henry VIII. found at Middlewich, in Cheshire, was a weil preserved specimen of that reign when ine quality of silrer coinage was so much debased.

The autumn salos of books have now comn enced, and good prices have been obtained so far. A copv of the Edimburgh edition of the Waverley novels was sold at London for $$ 35$ The market, srems to be flooded with chpies of the ninth edition of the Encyclopaedia Rriratmica, the complete work, including the elevell supplementary volumes forming the tenth edition, to: gether with a revolving oak bookcase. only realised $$ 5 \overline{5}$ in Aberdeen a few days ago.

An important sale of autographs will take place in Berlin early in ${ }^{\text {i }}$ December, when the oriyinal proclamalion issued by William, I of Prussai, and addressed to F'rance, when he crossed the frontier in 1870 , the entire document being in the handwriting of the Emperor, will be sold. It is stated that the reserve bld has been tised at $\$ 5000$.

Old china continues to realise good prices. A few days ago a two handed Worcester mug sold for $\$ 10$ and a Coalport $\theta$ iner and basin realised $\$ 25$.

The boyer of an old picture in Liverpool painted on a panel has been rewarded by the discovery that underneath the painting is a still oider one, a genuine Mcriand, signed and quite authentic. Now and then bargains may be secured in pictures, for it often happens that the uncertainity as to the authenticity of a picture prevents collectors from "speculating' and bargains pass thom by.

According to a telegram from Bellefontaine, Ohio, a well reputed will of John Bunyan, dated three years before his death, is said to have been dis. covered among some old family papers by a Mrs. Corington. The document is dated December 23rd, 1685.

A valuable addition to the antiquities in the Lahors luseum is a collecthon of old copl. sils excavated at Shorkot in the Jha vistrict. The collection contalos a sacriticial shovel, a ewer, and a brass statuerte of considerable interest. There is quite a demand for Indian brass-work just now, and collectors are getting fancy prices for good speciouens of genuine antiquities.

Among the rarities in stain ins for which good prices have been realised lately was a Cape of Good Hope, 1861, woodblock ld. scarlet, with good mar. gins, sold at London a few days ago, for $\$ 25$. At the same sale a Mafeking 1900, on Bechuanaland Protectorate 1d., on $1 / 2 \mathrm{~d}$. dermilion, having inverted surcharge, realised 824 , and a $\$ 5$ green, unused strip of four in mint state. realised $\$ 30$.

The book sales are now in full swing. and very high prices have been realised already for par phlets and lithle tracts. A four leafed pamphlet enti. tled "Strange Nows from Virginia " printed in 1677, was sold at Sotheby's lats week for $$ 495$, or $$ 135$ per leaf. A nother little tract describing "Warfare against Sarages in New Englaird,'" also four leaves, went for $$ 590$.

A Collector's Dream by Harold Banning

One everng as I was golng through my medal collection I came to a medal which has been glven to an English soldier who had taken part in the battle of Waterloo. I had studied it many times before, but thls evening it seemed so draw re to ir. I laid it donis several umes only to pick it up again It was past bedtme. Oue more lonk, I thoukht, and then to bed Again I read the luseription Wellington, Waterioo etc On the edge was the following huseription, Whisetield Hoppor lst Hat. 92 Highlanders. The eyes that have gazed upon hhis saw Nes's charge at Waterlno. The clock struck twelve. I leaned $m y$ head on the halid contanning the medal and closed my eyes. I was grasping some heavy object. it was not the medal. I roused myself and looking down discovered it was a musket. The ground trembled, my ears almost collapsed under the terrible roar. I found myselt on a great semicircular ridge. In front of me on a parallel ridge was Na poleon's army. The Fitencharillery palloped up nearer and unlimbering their guns, hurled a storm of balls at us I was confused, but it flashed upon me that I was one of Wellintogn's soldiers. "Fix bayonets' tang out. I obeyed orders and we waited for the charge which we all knew was coming. A great column of infantry detached itself from the main army and came steadlly towards us. Our ranks waited until they were within ranke. then a flash like lightning extended along our line and a storm of bullets swept through them.but they still advanced. Again and agajn we tired until they halted, wavered and finafly. retreated Our cavalry then dashed into them and turned their retreat into a rout. Another order was siven and our regiment formed a square, the frout rank kneeling, the secoud rank biring over theit heads. The French cavalry eame upou us like a whirlwind. Their sabres flashed above us. Their horsts panted in our faces Their hoofs almost trampled us down, but we did not lield an inch of ground. Our puns flashed incessantly, emptying many saddies at every dishtiarge. Again ard again they dashed upon our bayonets. Then timally walked their horses around our faming squates slastimg furiorsly at us with their sabos. as last the few survivors turned their horses and ithdiew. For hus these assaults continued, infantry and cavalry charged upon us while the cannon roared incessantly. Part of our line was broken, many wete retreaifig. The battle was apparently lost. Weliington rode along our lines speakiog words of encouragement. Turning to our colonel. Wellington esclaimed, "Oh, that Blucher or night might come." We could stand it no longer. The lints were wavering. It the distance 10 our left a columot of troops was seen rapidls approaching the field of batile It was Blucher. The crisis had arrived. Cheers broke from our ranks. "A hindly, $f$ French was seen advancing to meet them. While the French Impurial guard was brought up to make a final assault. This splendid body detached inself frum the main arme and adranced towards us A short qrey fikire on horseback accompanied them 10 the valley beinw us, where he halted and addressed them with quick. Hery ges, tures They replied with shouts of "Vive la Einperor"-it was Napoleon, Pointing to the weakest point in our lines he ordered them to chaige. St: lently aud sternly thev advanced. not a drum beat. not a bugie wailud its inpsifing notes Volley afrer villey tore throush them, but they pressed on At ! heir head rode an utheer, somebidy said it uas Marstall Ney. HI, horso staghered and fell, he mounted another. Five harses fell under him in as many minutes. Then with drawn sabre he marched on foot at the head of his men. A fle of our soldiers who bat latn that on the ground, now sprang up and poured a volley in ther facos, but they sull adwanced. Another volley followed; the wavered. A brizade of our cvalry rode furlously tinrough them, cutting down hundredy They stiggered, recolled and then retreated. The despairing cry now arose from the whole French army "la garde rescue, la garde recsue." The baitle was won. Napoleon was defeated, and Blucher was there with fresh troops to pursue them. Ney however, formed his men intos uare to covar the retreat of the remainder of the army. We were ordered to charge them with the bayonet. I eapmig forward, we bore down upon them. I had only advanced a few steps when a pain shot through mg head and I could feel mvself falling I must wounded I ihought 1 was awake. I had fallenflom my chair. striking my read ak inst the table, The medal was sill clasper fil my thand. I platiced at the cluck It was fipe minuts after twelye 1 had bren asleep tive mulutes, and had seen the batule of Waterluo i have uften wondered if I hiad not seen the battle through the eges of the former owner of the mela: I had read nothing of the battle befure my dreato. I have since read much, ant hive visited the field on which it was fought. 1 found everything as I had seen it in my dream. Can any of my readers enlighten me on the subject?

MOUVTING ENTOMOLOGICAL SPECIMENS

By K. Nuck

Specimens should be monnted as soon as possible before they become dry. It they have dried, t: ey can be relaxed by puttiug them in a dish coutaining damp sand When relaxed th'y should be spread out aud then mounced on boards to dry. These spreading boards can the made by anvone; sofi, wond should be used. They should be made of different sizes as lhe bodies of the woths, etc., vary much in size. Make boaids about 18 irehes long with grooves $5 / 8,3 / 2,1 / 4.1 / 8,1 \cdot 16$ in. Wide respnifively. When mounted specimen should be well up on pin about $1 / \frac{1}{4}$ of win absve the specimen The wings of butterfices and moths should be spread out and a narrov band of paper laid on and then pinned down Specimens should be kept on the boards for a couple of weeks. They can then be placed in cablnet.

If it is not convenient to mouilt spe :imens at once they can be placed in a small envelope aud stored away tutil they can be mounted, when they can be taken out and relaxed and then spread.
(As little or no colleoiling can be dune at this season of the year I thought it advisable to hold back notes on "collecting', and "killing bottle" untll later. Next month a writeup will be given of Preserving Specimens then the absre mentioned notes on collecting and killing bottle will be given. This change was made because 1 thought that some might have speci. mens collected that they wished tu mount and preserve and the atove would be of some help to them, hence the change in plans.

The collection of neerer tes is coming to be nore and more popular with the mineralogical fratein ty.and very just $y$ so. Who has not watched with admiration one of the so-called 'failing stars' as it burtled through space and left its tiery trail in the atmosphere on some daric evening? What strange fancies naturally altract one at suth a moment. as he or she ponders on the birthulace of this mysteriuns visitur from oul illimilaule spact! Many strange markings usually are found oll all mereotites due to their incandescent condition caused from the friction of the atmosphere. Their chemical compotsion varies greatly, but there is usnally a prepodederance of jron and nickel. No scientist can state detioitely where these strange metallic sub. stances originate. Suspeuded in the ether without the earth they fually come in contact wilh the earth's orbit and fall through the air leaving luminuus trails to mark their fignt. Sone meteorites are so small that they are entirely consumed by their passage throukh the at mosphere before reaching the earth. while others have been found weikhing mans tons. Fatalities from the heary bodies are compatatively rare. bur we rememl et reading, sereral years ago, of a case in in western stale where a meteorite crushed through a dweling house at the end of its fall, killing the inmates Climale does not seem to affect their fall in the least, as large meteorites have beell found in both frigid and torrid regions.

The collection of fragmentis of these stranke heavenly bodies has now become so popular that most of the larger mineral dealers now put extensive series of meleorites on the market. Waril's Natural Science Establishment of New York, the largest cimpang of its kind in this country, puts up some of the best series we have iot sper'. We advise dollectors with an eje for the mysterlus or unigue 10 sime a colltiation of these specimens

Many of the unique "canmon halls' and dumb bell formations found in this vicinity have latelv been sell to us Those we have examined have been composed of pyrite of inon, which is a combination of jron and sulphur, usually belog much found in bituminous coal, and used to the mamufacture of sulphuric acid.

Some of these conctetions are almost perfact shmetes. and the outside usually has a dull reddish timpe, die to oxite of iron. Orhers have the typical dumb bell formation, white in several instances we have seen three of thest spheroid bodies joined together in ore mass. On belug broken open these concretions reveal the characteristic cleavage and zolor of iron pyrites. Their origin is somewhat of a mystery but we have adval ced a theory as fol luws: these concretions were protably once a part of a molten mass of material, as this is distinctly a volcanic region. By a minialure explosion, caused doubt less by the eseape of gaseous vapors, the small fragment of iron prrite composing each nodule was probably ejected to some distance in the air, and falling into water after its descent, was reduced to its spherical form. Still others of these cannon balls have probably been reduced to their present form by the eroding effects of water and the constant abrasion of pebbles. One meets indeed many strange condifious in nature in the immediate vicinity of the Rad Lands.

A Historical Caleridar

By Chas. A. Guy

The Glens Fials Insurance Company has distributed for 1908 a neat and pretty calendar of historcial interest, around Glens Falls, entitled "Washlngton at Halfway Brook (Glens Falls) August 1783." above the calandar proper is a reproduction of the famous oil painting by Ferris, showing General Washington, with Governor Clinton and several other officurs, receiring a drink of water from Halfway Brook from one Briggs, which is recorded as a historical truth This is the eighth historical calendar gotten out by the Insurance Company. On the back of this very tine historical souventr is a sketch of the varicus historical spots iu this vicinity, with several half-tone illustrations of "A Corner in Crandall Pars, Glens Falls, A Winter Scene." "Halfway Brook Historical Marker, which stands at the corner of Glen Street and Glendale A veque, Glens falls, N. Y., this historical stone 'was placed there by the New York Ristorical Association" and "Ilalfway Rrook, Cian. dall Park, Glens Falls. N. Y., 1907 "

This caleudar is the fllest one yet gutten out by the ahove named company, and is attracting much interest throughout the state of New York.

Home sensitizing of post cards is very seldon worth while when suct escellent cards can be obtained ready for use However, if the phorographer prefers to make his own there are two things to remember. The tirst is that if good pletures are to be obtalined. It is essential to obtain good quality cards. If this is nut done poor primts nill iesult. with gellow ist whites, and defects of all sorts. Secondly, the cards should be sized and for this purpose arrowroot is as good as ansihing. The best way ; to make a 2 per cent solution of arrow root (about 10 graing to the ounce). The arrow root should first be rubbed into a paste with a litlle of the water. aud the rest added a. ${ }^{\prime \prime}$ le boiling. Roilime should be cuntinued for 10 witutes ant then tras solution should be skimmed and I per cent of salt adden. The card shouls be painted oper twice wilh this, it being allowed to dry between the coats Sensitizing may then be proceeded with.

Hy crossing out the words "Pust Card"' and inserting "Printed Matter' and writing nothing but your name and the date, $y$ m may send cards to forelyn countries for one cent, according to the Posial Rules and Regulaions. This means a great saving in postage to collectors who have a large list of regular forgign exchangers.

The 47th monthly meeting of the above named Society was held in their rooms, 1622 Masonic Temple, on Friday ev. ening, Dec. 6th, Pres. W. F. Dunham presiding. I'he fol. Jowing members were present: Messrs. Verkley, Carey, W. F Dunham, McDonald, Brand, Simpson, Excell, Luon, blumenschein, Dr. Merrill, Chester Dunham, Iluber, Holmes, Baker, Sorensen, Williams, Loer, Ribsra, and Green. Messrs. Edward R. Heissler and Howard R. Newcomb were elected to membership.

A resolution was offered commending the course of President Roosevelt in hits endeavor to improve the appearance of our current coinage. The sense of the Society was found to be favorable to the St. Gaudens designs on the twenty, and adverse to those of the ten dollar gold pieces. On motion a committee was appointed to re-write or substitute a resolution on the subject and report at a special meeting to be held Dec. 20th.

The election of officers for 1908 resulted as follows: President, Virgil M. Brand; Vice Preident, J B. Holmes; Secretary, Ben G. Green; Treasurer, F. Elmo Simson: Librarian, Chester Dunham; Curator Elarry E, Williams; Executive Board, W. F' Dunham, Ben G. Green and W. H. Mc. Donald.

A silver prouf coin was won by Mr. Brand as a prize for test of memory in regard to the U. S. standard dollar. Mr. McKinley memorial medals were distributed at cost, and one placed in the cablnet.

Magazines received since last report were: The Numismatist, Spink's, Numismatic Circular and Numismatische Correspondeuz; auction catalogue from S. II. A ocient stone implements continue to turn up in all parts of the world, and from their great similarity it would appear that primitive man used tools of stone very much alike. The outcome of the inventire genius of the human race was apparently the same wherever a want was discovered, so the flint arrow head and the hatchet of the neolithic age, whether they were fashioned in Britain, North Amerita or Sourl) Aprica are very similar,differing only in the material used, which. of coulse, as flint or sione ready to hand. ## M. F. A. REPORT.

The Secretary is ready to receive nominations for officers to serve during the year 1908. There is also some question as to whether it would not be desirable to run the Exchange and Sales department separately. This would of course increase the number of offcers and attention should be given to the fact.

Messrs Hartman, Norton and Polk anoounce that they will be unable to fill their respective positions another year. Mr. Hartman reports that the lost sircuit has been found. Each member is requested to send in nominations for any or all the following offcers: President Vice President, Secre-tary-Treasurer, Sales Supt., Exchange Mgr., The latter two to be included under one head if members so desire. Send nominations as soon as you can to Wm. C. Pols, Secy., Box 22, A roold Mills, R. I

On Post Card Collecting by Siegfried Schachne President of the Fost Card Society of America

If you collect or are intending to collect rostage stamps, we ask leave to make a few suggestions in favor of your confining gour atcention to government issued pustal cards.

In the tirst place, all the interest that attaches to the ordinary postage stamps applies te postal cards as well, for nearly all of the latter, certain early issues, excepted, are tmpressed with stamps similar to the zurrent ad. hesives.

Aside from their stamps, postal cards possess other attractions. As a background, the card itself, geuerally of tine texture and delicate tiut, is far superior to the narrow border of paper which surrounds the adhesive postage stamp; and the latter has no equivalent for the postal card's interesting in. scriptions and illustrations. A glance at a postage stamp album and then at a book of postal cards will suffice to establish this point.

Postal Cards have the advantage of being intended, in nearly all cases, for actual use, rather than for sale to collectors. This was generally true of postage stamp; thirty gear ago; but nowadays many countries are its the habit of increasing theit revenues by emittng. at suspifciously frequent intervals. long sets of sjamps containing unnecessary, denominations and absurdly high values, for which there is no demand except from collectors. Every two or three years. for instance, the little Spanish Colony of Fernand Do, having only 10,000 inhabitants, issues a series of 18 different values, whereas 8 sufficed for this country, when it had $30,000,000$ people! Since 1880 more than 20,000 different adhesive stamps have appeared, as against about 4000 postal cards.

This brings us to another point, viz, that the gathering of postal cards, while it affords a tield of considerable extent, is an inexpensive hobby as com. pared with other kinds of stamp collecting. All the postal cards issued in a year by all the governments of the world would not, if bought reasouably, cost tbe collector much more than a single stamp like the new Five Dollar Liberia, which useless production of a miserabie Negro Republic can not be obtained in a cancelled condition, and for which one who desires to keep up his sets musc pay the full amount called for by its face at the present day, the gettiug together of a fairly complete collection of postage stamps would involve-even if the great rarities were excluded-the spending of thousands cot dollars: and every day the task it growing greater.-With postal cards, conditions are different. Belng very low in face value, they present light terptation to isssue them needlessly, and very few not required for postal needs have been issued. Some cards, it is true, are rare and costly, -the rarest is perhaps worth 87500 , while a single stamp has been sold for $85,000.00$ -but the expenditure of a sum comparatively small will procure manp fine specimens; a few dollars a month judiciously laid out, will soon bring together a good representative collection.

It is a fact however, that the present prices of cards are exceedingly low. Cards issued years ago can be had today, unused, at tigures little in advance of their face value. This cannot continue and a steady increase in values is to be expected. He who makes purchases now, will become the owner of an interesting and beautiful collection, but will have made an iovestment capable of yielding a large return in the near future.

Space is lacking for the full statement of all the interesting and instructipe features of card collecting. In this country and in England men of high standing have occupied and enlivened their leisure hours with the study of Postal Cards. Stamp fanciers are turuing more and more to this, the most enjogable and the most rational braoch of the stamp gathering hobby.

We shall be glad to welcome you to our ranks, and can assure you that, if you once enter the postal card field, you will nt soon be tempted to abandon it.

Any further information in the premises will be cheerfully furnished by the writer.

King's Catalog--Revierved by L. G. Dorpat

The fill title of this simplifed catalogue is this-"The Universal Standard Catalogue of the Postage Stamps of the World,' and it is issued by Winttield King & Co, Stamp Importers and publishers, Ipswich, Engiand for 37 cens U. S. money. The last edition is the eighth and contalns 472 pages catalogue text besides preface, publisher's announcements and "ads'. The print throughout is clear and the fllustrations, though reduced in size, are pocd. The cover is of paper with gold lettering and makes a good impression.

The main feature of the book is its simplicity. Shades of color are not listed, and minor varieties are left out, locals and private issues are not included and the different printings of one and the same issue are not considered. Thus the whole number of the U. S. stamps is brought down to 157 pnstage, 5 special dellvery, 92 ofticial, 21 dues, 1 registration and 41 newspaper stamps, or 317 in all. (Scott has 319 numbers for postage alone, and nearly one half of these are doubled, trebled or quadrupled on acccunt of papers, prlatings, shades etc.)

Collectors desiring a simplified catalogue can hardly be served better than by King's. Beginners will find the cuts of $U$. S. stamps very valuable in helping them to get acquainted with the different issues. Though, of course, very little information can be expected from a simplitied catalugue in regard to rare varieties.

If I were permitted to suggest an impruvement, I would say: Leave out all surchges in the next edition, because these are, with very few exceptions, not very pretty, comparatively dear and on account of many existing counterfeits more or less doubtful, and for all who do not wish to make a study of philately the best advise I could give would be to leave surcharges alone. Hence I would prefer to see them omltted from a simplified catalogue. But that is my dersonal view As it is, the book lists 20,496 stamps of which 6, 153 are apportioned to the British Empire, and 14,343 to the rest of the world. Europe has 43,361, Asla, 3,856, Africa 4,469, America 4,688, the West Indies 1,637 and Oceanica 1,485 . This is more than most collcetors will ever have, and a complete collection according to this reckoning may be worth something like $$ 25,000.00$, possibly $$ 50,000.00$.

A handy addition to the books the Pronouncing Vocabulary near the sad, giving the English pronunciation for a good many Geographical names that are ofen mispronounced by speakers of the English language.
l'ublisher will include catalogue witl the WEST for 60 cents. 'Io foreigh subscribers 75 cents. Send to L. Brodstole, Supertor, Nebr.

Prices in London

Taken from the Collector of New Yort:-These has been a : urpising increase in the prices paid for autcyraph tetters at auction sales in London during the past gear. I can not account for it in any other way than that there must be a greater domand. I quote prices from a sale on November 8th, counting one pound as five dollars:

Charles I ALS; fol $$ 28000$; Charles II, LS, 4 to, 1683, 4950 ; James II, LS, 2pp, 4to, 1686, 2300 ; William ll], ALS, 3pp, 4to, 1691, 5250 ; Duke of Buckingham, ALS, 2pp, fol, 1627, 11000 ; Queen Victoria ALS, 4pp, 8vo, 1880, 47 5Q:. A MERICAN PRICES.
The fine collection of the late Joshua I Cohen, of Raltimore, Md, was sold in Philadelphia, on Norember 12th and $131 h$. When we consider the sale came in the midst of one of the worst panies this country nas ever sean, it did extremely well, and shows that autograph letters hold their values better than many other things. There was gond attendnace and the bldding bidding was active.

Gen Geo Wastington, A LS, fol, 1782, Of unusual interest as relating to the capture of Prince Wililam Henry, $\$ 25000$; A LS, $4 \mathrm{pp}, 4 \mathrm{4t}, 1794,8500$; ALS, 4to, 1796, 60 00; ALS, 4pp, 4to, 17999000 ; ALS, 2pp, 4 to, 1799, 90 00; LS, 4te, 1788, 3250 ; LS, 4 to, 17763600.

The above represents the return of Washington letter to the former rasonable values.

Indian Geographical Names in Northeastern Kansas by G. J. Remsburg

The Aboriginal oscupancy of the territory known as Northwestern Kansas, is commemorated by a great man!s Indian names on the pages of geog. taphy. The following is only a partial list of geographical names of Indian origin, io the reglon mentioned:

In Atchison cunty we have the towns of Muscotah. Kenuekuk, and Huron, and the townthip of Kaploma, wnile in Jackson and Nemeha countles are towns and township; of the larter name, the one in Nemeha beginning with a " $C$ " instead of a "K'. Nemeha itself is an Indıan name. Seneca, the county seat of this county, has an Indian name, as has also. O jeida in the same county.

In Jefferson county there are towns and townships named Oskaloosa and Osawkie, from the Indian; also townships named Delaware and Kaw, from Indian tribes of those names. Atchisnn county likewise has a Delaware township, and one of the privcipal rivers of Northeastern Kansas bears the same name. Sarcoxie is the name of a Jeffernn county vlllage of Indian origin. Hiawatha, one of the p-incipal towns of Brown county, has a well known Indian name. Wyandot te county derived its name from the Wyandotte Indian who formerly lived there. This county has a Delaware township and the towns of Muncie and Quindaro, all Indian names Leavenworth county has many Indian names. In the clty of Leavenworth the following streets are named after Indian tribes: Choct aw, Cherokee, Delaware. Shawnee, Seneca, Mlami, Osage, Ottawa, Pawnee. Kickapoo, Pottawatomis, Kiowa, Cheyenne, Dapoat, A pache, and Sloux. The county also has the towns and townships of Kickapoo, Tonganoxie, and Delaware. The town of Fall Leaf was named for a Delapare chief, as was also Big Woman' creek. Lenape, another town, was derived from the original desig. nation of the Delaware tribe, "Leuni Lenape," meaning "original" or true men." Wild Horse crees got its name from the Delaware Indians.

Doniphan county has the beantiful Kickapoo name of Wathena for one of its towns. The kickadoo had a chief by that name. White Cloud, another important town of this county, was ramed for Ma hush. kah, signlifing White Cloud. a cnief of the lowa Indians. Iown Point, another Doniphan town, was named in honor of this tribe.

BY A. CROSIER. Wilmingion, Delauare
One of the rarities in the mineral world is the fine grained limestone used for making litnokraphic plates The quarries at Solenhofor are celebrated not only for the excellence of their lithographic stone but also because remarkable sfecimens of the extinct flying reptile the archaeopyter'x have been found imhedded in the stone. News now comes from A thens that large deposits of the strne have been discovered in Thessaly. Some experts say that this $i$ reek stone is superiur to the best known in Europe.

The form of bows used by the ancients varied greatly with different nations. The Scythian bow was in the form of the letter "C', and the bow of their descendants. the Tar ars.still keep that shape. The Greek bows were not more than three or four feer. In length, but so stout and stifif that it required considerable strength and skill tu use them These bows were rather too short to be of much use, and but a small portion of the troops were armed with them.

The Rnmans carried the bow to Britian. where ic formed an important part of the armies oi that period. The Engilsh archers were said to be the finest in the world, and their skill decided the balties of Crepcy, Puitiers and Agiucourt. The hows were of two kinds, the long bow and the cruss bow. 'I'he cross-bow uas made of sreel or horn atid was of such strenglh that it was necessary to use some mechanical appliance to bead the buw and adjust the string.

Some birds are chielly remarkable for the nests they bulld. The largest nest is that of the Austrian jungle fowl. This bird collects a quantity of decaping vepatable matter and builds with it mounds 15 feet high, and from 125 to 150 feet in clicumperetce The exgs are lain in a circe from 9 to 12 inches apart and buried more than ant arm's lengit with the large end upward.

The Australian brish turkess wotking in colonies build pyramid nests even larger. One of these nests on being moved filled several carts and its total weight was five tons

It is reported that a diell olganized morement is on foot to expand the diamond industry of British Guiana on a sound commercial basis, and there is indication that this will become an important undertaking. They are said to be diamonds of a tine quality.

During the present year many remarkable discoveries have been made at Abydos, Egypt, by E. H. Jones, and Prof. Garstang, working for the Insti. tute of Archaeology of the University of Liverpool.

The objects unearthed were almost all small, but included many interesting things. A mong these were a bronze ar of a very strange shape and uncertain use; a finely modeled wuoden statuette of a woman with a child, and sizty mummitted hawks. The hawks were found io large pottery jars adjacent to burial places. Near the latter were found some curious bozes containing skeletons of shrew mice. Representatives of the mice were carved on the lids of the boses.

The beaurliul pottery of the Egyptians was illustrated by the discovery of a blue glazed hippopotamus, sald to be modeled with the peculiar ware they displaged in their studies of animal life. In the figure of a hedgehog, a fine example of the potter's art, black gulls had been inserted, apparently while the clay was still molst.

In Alaska, the bones and often the entire bodles of extinct animals such as the mammoth, mastodon, relndeer and bison, are found principally in the layers of soll directly above the gold-bearing gravels. So intimate is this association between fossil animal remalns and the auriferous deposits that the fossils serve the prospactors as indexes of the metallic richness of the soil. In ancient times both the gold and the bodies of the animals were deposited in the valleis by the action of rivers. Consequently the appearance of fossils is an almost certain Indication that gold will be found in the neigrborhood. The cabins of many miners are ornamented with hoge tusks and aotlers uneart hed in the digginge.

We hope that none of our collector friends have had the same experience as of a person, the veteran collector of Potts, Penn. Several years ago while hunting for Indian relics, a Bucks county farmer mistook him for a iruit thief, and gave him a severe drubbing, from the effects of which Mr. Sands was laid up for some time. Rather an unpleasant experience for an inficcent collector of relics.

There are many so-called holy relics, snme genuine. others of doubt ful reputation treasured in different parts of the country. It is not ofien that they chaoge hands, belng usually la the possession of ecclesiastical bodies. The credulity of the buyer is sometimes shown by disputed cases in the law courts. A relic said to have been one of the nails in the holy cross, in a casket, was dieclared to be an impudent forgery Yet forgeries have 1 heir interest and value too, for at the trial in question it was intimated inat the British Museum aurhorities make a collection of forgeries, and as a matter of education they are of great value in identifyiug genuine specimens.

A gold Roman coln of the fourth century has buen presented to the B.ths Committee by the executors of the late P. E Georke. It is in splendid preservation, arid is believed to have heen found during excavations when the Pump Romm at Bath was bullt.

Photographic

Post Cards

Postcards are sold now-a days with"almost any surface, "but it may be incidentally remarked (and may possibly have escaped"the reader's notice) that if he canoot get cards of any particularly artistic surface to suit him he can make them for himself by the simple process of making the print on ang kind of paper and afterwards mounting it on an ordinary post card of some thin card board (penny packets of 25 are usually thin enough) the postal reg. ulations permiting paper or pictures to be mounted, pon post cards provided the material is not very thick. Probably they would have allowed the covering of the entire card at any time, as in that case the paper mounted becomes praccically part of the post card, but now not only can that be done but the photograph itself can be trimmed smaller than the postcard and a thin paper mount having been stuck on the card sn as to comp'etely cover $4 t$, the photo can be mounted on that (provided the original card was very thin) and a horder of any desired description drawn round it aith pen, pencil and black or white ink (which last, however, in making borders should be used very sparingly).

All sorts of objects lend themselves to the making of photographic borders and it is a test of the skill and ingenuity of the worker how varted an assortment be succeeds in producing. Pressed leaves printed through an ordinary P. O. P. post cards produce lovely forms, which can easily be made to surround an oval or dome shaped picture, &c. Skeleton leaves, uhich can often be found on commons, sg., in the early spring, having been exposed to the weather of the previous winter, make beautiful borders, the tine lace-work of the skeletons showing very clearly when printed on a smooth surfaced photographic paper. It is quite easy to accompilsh this method of ornamentation -the tirst step is to print the photo in the correct place on the card by means of the usual mask. A piece of plain glass is then inserted in the printing frame and on this the reverse disc is laid, so as to coser the photo. Now if the post card were slmply laid down on this disc and exposed to light the border would be plain lilack, but by interposing the leaves, skeleton or otherwise, a pattern is made on the dark portion, which can be adaped to any shape by suitbly arranging the leaves, &c., upon it. The card can be allowed to go perfectly black, or (which is perhaps more effective), only sufficiently dark to tone to a tine grey or brjwn. Titles of any kind can be written on the plain glass by means of "Photopake," and will print perfectly white on the card, but it must be remembered that the letters must be made backwards if they are next to the card-which they must be. for the thickness of the glass if they are written on the other sile, ent frely dest rogs their sharp outhne. On the other hand if the card is exposed in a camera the writing can be written direct as usual, for by adjusting the glass in front of the neg. ative it will be found that a sharp focus can be obtained without afffculty for buth writing and film; this is one advantage of making cards or prints on which it is desired that any writing should appear in a camera rather than by direct printing.

Many other things can be utilized for borders-shells, plates and dishes with pretty patterns on them, frames, ordinary views printed from negatives with a picture of the person who was wih the photographer when the view was taken in the middle of it (modern dress is, alas 1 generally more or less out of place in the-view itself at the time of taking it), and innumerable other objects. How many readers have tried the experiment of making; a border by simply printing various materials with small patterns on them? The card of which an illustration was given, shows how a small pattern paper can be used, and also a method of ornamenting the upper portion of a card which was previously a dark blank space. Papers of sultable patterns can be purchased from any large stationers. The paper is simply used exactly as if it were an ordinary negative, the pattern side is laid upward in the printing frame and on it the postcard, face downwards, with the mask between them. Papers printed with different colors afford somewhat curious results. It is a matter of speculation for example, to what shade different depths of blue, green, purple &c. will print. Red of course prints nearly. white and light blue nearly black. The misture of colors on the paper may be such as to produce quite a different effect on the print to what the paper does tc the eye. - From English Paper.

FOSSILS WANTED.

The Colorado schooi of Mines can use a large number of fossils of the followngg named organisms and can offer in exchange any size or quantity of many unusually beautfut minerals and crystals, guaranteeinf satisfaction to the exchanger.
Students will work with much of this material. so the perfectiou desirable in exhibition or type specimens is not necessary. though one or two perfect specimens of each species can be used.
Duphicates will be accepted but not more than twenty five specimens af one species should be sent except after special arrangenent.
The names of the fossits need not be given unless it is perfectly convenient to do so. but the locality must be stated as well as the age if the last be known.
Not more than one or two specimens of very large speries are desited.

SOUVENIR POST

Now is the time to buy your stock for Valentines, Washington's Birthday, St. Patrick's Day, and Easter trade.

Let us tell you something about our standard lines.
Style A. Art Cards. Under this head we classify copies of paintings. These iuclude reproductions in color of the work of famous European artists, beautiful landscape views, lovely marine scenes, etc. The price, sets of six, 15 cents; 25 cis per doz., $$ 1.50$ per ${ }^{100}$.

Style B designates photographic postcards. In this style we have view carde, portraits of famous people, actors, actresses, musicians, pictures of warships, cats, dogs, and the other animals. illustrated hymns, and popular songs, child studies, and life model comics. We sell these six for $25 \mathrm{c}, 50 \mathrm{c}$ per doz, $\$ 250$ per 100 .

Send us a good photograph and we will make you 1000 for $$ 2000$. Now is a good time to have yonr cards made for next summer.

Style C. Hand colored gelatine cards. We do real hand work. We have in this style a good variety of scenic cards and some fancy cards. Just now we are strong on N. E. Views, also some Japanese and New York City. Price 25 c per doz or $$ 125$ per 100 . We highly recommend this process for view cards made to order. We will make 1000 cards from a photograph for $$ 1200$. Order now for summer trade.

Style D. Delft old Dutch blue effect. This is especially adapted for winter scenes, lake and river views. It is made in America, We can turn them out in thirty days from the time we receive the photograph. We have some stock cards at 25 c per doz, or $$ 150$ per 100. You should have some made though from your own photographs at $$ 1200$ per M . This will be without doubt the biggest seller on the market in the summer of 1908.

Style E. Engraved cards. Keal steel engravings of Shakesperian and other subjects. Good for those who can appreciate them. Price per doz $25 c$, per $100 $ 150$.

Style F. Fancy cards, general name for things not easily classified elsewinere. All prices.

Style G. Gilt cards. Here is where we are strong. Includes Valentines Easter, Memorial Day, Tbanksgiving, Christmas, and New Year subjects. also love sets, Greetings, Birthday, Best Wishes, Fraternal Emblems, etc. Average price 25c per doz $$ 150$ per hundred. Order Valentine and Easter cards now. Continued in our next, but don't delay.

Important Notice

The SEVENTH Edition of the UNIVERSAL STANDARD CATALOGUE will be published in December, 1907 and will be brought fully up to date.

The single and multiple watermark ed stamps of British Colonies will be separately listed for the first time.

The most important improvement will be in the illustrations, nearly 1000 new ones being added, making nearly +000 in all. These have been specially engraved by hand, and being deeply cut will give much clearer impressions than could possibly be got from the old "process" blocks.
Although the much heavier cost of these engravings and the increased number of pages will add considerably to the expense of production, the price of the 1908 Catalogue will be as before.

36c Post Free Anywhers.

Souvenir Post Gard HoHlers

SEND YOUR CARDS IN THEM! SHOW YOUR CARDS IN THEM!  KEEP YOUR CARDS IN THEM!

The most perfect post card holder on the market, it meets every need of the sender, the dealer and the collector, keeps the cards in perfect condition and at the same time admits of their being readily removed and rearranged.

A set of cards mailed in one of these holders reaches its destination unbroken and unsoiled, and the cost of sending is no greater.

A large holder full of cards is best for display as the whole number or a part, as desired, can be shown at one time.

The holders are made in sizes to hold from two to one hundred cards, and if especially ordered, to hold larger numbers, thus the collector has a choice of holders to accommodate any division that may be made of cards and in colors to harmonize with and enhance any style of card.

| Size for 10 cards or less | $\mathbf{5 c}$ |
| :--- | ---: |
| Size for 20 cards | $\mathbf{1 0 c}$ |
| Size for 50 cards | $\mathbf{2 5 c}$ |
| Size for 100 cards | 50 c |

Any sizes desired at proportionate prices. Ask your deder for them or get them from us by mail.

The accompanying cut represents one of these holders containing seven copyrighted Ullman cards and in order that you may know what the holder is from an actual sample we will send you one containing this interesting set of cards for 15 cents post paid.

oUR ILLUSTRATIONS

G GARABEDIAN sends a card from Syria, and had ads when he lived In that country, and says he got good returns from the W EST. He has seut a new ad wrich you can see in this issue. He says also 'I think it may be very interesting to the Americans, although for us-Christians in the Orient - it is one of the commonest scenes Both men in the picture are. in the attitude of prayer, which they call Namaz. Perhaps few Americans bnow that every Mohammedan is, by the commendment of the Khoran, ordered to pray eight times a day. They have two bells in their Mosks The Iman,or the priest, ascends to the Minaret, and there turning to the four sides of the world, cries loudly the inviting prayer, which begins with the woids "Allah elber Allah'" (Gor the most high). Hearing this the people go to the Mosk, but nobody can enter it unclean. There are public fountains in the court of each mosk. The people have to wash, their feet, then hands to the elbows and their heads and face. After this is done they enter the mosk, taking away their shoes at the door. Moslems who are not found near a mosk at the time of prayer, pray wherever they are found. A fter the usual cleaning they spread a piece of ruk or something else on the ground, take off their shoes and put aside, turn towards east, and begin to pras. They stand erect with their hands held up murmuring words of prayer. Then they kneel, then approach their faces to the ground, then stand up once more, all the while murmuring prayers. They do this kneeling and standing performance several times. after which the prayer is over. The Mohammedans are very fanatic and perform this ceremony eight times a day without getting tired of it."

HERBEKT E MOREY. The photo was taken by a Herald reporter in hts office after explosion and wreck of safe on Oct. 29. "I give a few facts of molife. Born, Apr. 21, 1848. IIave been a collector of coins since 1857 and of stamps since 1863. I graduated from Malden High School in 1866 and from Massachusetts Yale College in J8iz. Started at the coin and stamp businpss in 1889 and stayed in one place until last jear when $I$ was robbed four times and obliged to move for self protection to present quarteis. Will say outlook is betrer than ever and am sorry I did not move gears ago." He has had ads in The WEST for more than five years
E. P. HOLMBERG, of Casper, Wro., makes and sells photogiaphic post cards and calendars of western life and scenery, especialls of Wyoming. One of Red Men on the old stage cach, taken by him. Will use more jn later issues

PART OF Rob N. Mercer's collection. The rest will be given in the next issue. This collection of Ancient Mound-Builders Poltery comprises over one hundred pieces, most of them collected in Arkatisas, and known as the Riggs collection, that is they originally belonged to him. 'Tnis collection was gotten together back in the early seventies ty an old U. S. government Indian scout who lived among the cifferent tribes of Indiaisand spoke their languages. He was one of the last of those picturesque persunages then and if living today to dress in buckskin and moccasios; the old frontiersman since passed awar, with the buffalo extinct, wandering and following the different trials of the then Wild West, compared to future jears. He collected for my father, the late $R$. W. Mercer. A rchaeologist, and others, was over sis feet tall and followed by a pack of dogs, in full western dress even when he visited the cities to sell his relics aud to get supplies to trade with the Iudian tribes.

The idols are of the Hindoo and the Aztec trcluding the three Ancient Mound-Bullders idols from sunny Tennessee. They were all found near the sama place. I have two more very tine mound builders Idols, both of them females, not on the photo as I have them separate and could not wrap them with the roll. The collection of pottery is as five as there is and whole pieces of such in a large collection like this are very rare and out of the ordinary and cannot be duplicated bir nooe. There are plenty of cracked and otherwise damaged utenslli to be gotten. The collection of pettrey is on eshifition here, and not for sale, only as an entirety. Might consider and split it; but I would do that part if got good offer. The idols are for sale separately except that the Tennessees go together and ang inquiries merely for information or curiosity enclose postage. See more vie vs nest iusse.

Pat RYAN, Chadron, Nebr, was fromerly connected with the Northmestern Railruad, and ruu into Superior for several pears. He reports he has the largest collection of Iodian goods of any one in the U. S. He had a special train to the Pan American Exposition, where he displayed his lndian goods, and the Exposition authorities gave him close to $\$ 2000$ to show them and he sold over $\$ \mathbf{5 0 0 0}$ worth while there. fle has the basement of the $0 \times a h a$ Library flled with part of his collection. He expects to offer his collection for sale to the city, if they wish to buy it.

OUR COVER ILLUSTRATION represents Mr. Lieplinger's idea of displaying stamps, emblems, etc. His idea is a good one for anyone wishing to exhibit philatelic work and is as follows: He has taken heavy cover paper tied with rlobon and covered it with stamps, seals, flags, photo views, em. blems, elc., on the outside and on the inside his several lots of cheaper stamps on sheets in shape of cross and other designs with pockets on side of covers to put in duplicates, or envelopes can be used as well. I think it is one of the best deas I have seen, and can be made of use in schools, colleges and ameng young people generally. He says: "I take the liberty to enclose one of the many soupenir stamp Christ mas albums, which I donated to the childee. of whesrs and soldiers on the evening of the Christmas tree-about $5_{0}$ mooks ill aill were prepared I was at it three weeks, sorting.counting and partine. Every minute of ny time was taken, as the honor of my philatelic a!i iny depended on ny action. Tomorrow evening a play will be produced al the patillion by the children of the camp. After the play the stamp books will her delivered Five beautiful prizes are to be exhibited later at the paviliul consinung of portrait stamps animals, landscapes, emblems and coat of ârms sianps well arranged on large sheets covering almost a $10 \times 16$ wall (Will send photoxraph later). Two months from date the collections of each child will be examined, exhlbited and pirg awarded. My alm was to gain recruts, to surve philately-to circulate the princ̣ipal pholatelic publscations (WESC \& Mekeels) and to please the children: I nope the attempt will be successful. I worked hard for it and used over 3000 good stamps for prizes, etc, and about 6000 for the books. Every number of the WEST is gone-therefore I request to be sent a volume of $190 \pm 567 . "$

The WEST issues tias been exhausted. The publisher wishes to hear of the success of anyone who has carrled out this dea, or any other ways.

St. Louis Ntamp Collectors -ociety

To the officers and members of the St. Louis Stamp Collcetors' Society.
Gentlemen:- With this, the last meeting of the year 1907, the St. Louis Stamp Colectors' Society completes, with the same feeling of satistac. tion experienced by the collector who adds another prize to his collection, its third year of good philatelic works.

With the end of the old gear comes rejoicing in recalling not ooly the pleasure and profit afforded members, but also in noting the materlal progress the Soclety has made, witnessed by this summary of membership:
Membership January 1st, 1907. . . . 41 Dropped
New members .................. . 12 Resigned Reinstated
57 Total membership to Dec. 30th, 190745
Perhaps to the casual reader this growth is not remarkabe, but to one who knows the state of neglect into which philately had fallen in St. Louis it is gratifying to note, that not only have we retained our former members but have interested a few new ones. The officers as elected for the year were: President F. R Cornwall, Vice President, J. H. Humes, Treasurer, Dr. Paul Baer; Secretary, Chester Myers; Governing Board, Above offleers and Wallace Delafeld Jr., Dr. J. W. Higson, Millhousse, Geo. Schellnorn.

The resignation of Dr. Baer as Treasurer, was recelved early in the year and Wallace Delafield, Jr., elected in his stead.

Mr. S. Hopkins who so ably conducted the Exchange Department during the early months of the year was obliged through lack of time to resign his position. Mr. S. M. Schoeman then elected to the office has piven va!uable service to all who have made use of this feature.
nuring the month of May the Sc. Louis Manufacturess' Assncation mnved it ottles from the Merchant Exchange Building to Rooms 803.804, 805 Wright Building, where the Society has been generously extended the use of comfortable quarters for holding meetings.

The entertainment features, mavy and varled and in every sense entertaining, consisted of informal discussions of the topics of the day, the exchanging of Ideas and stamps, auction, competitive exhibitions of Austria. Jamici, United States, Norway, tlayti, of "stamp quizes." etc., etc. The Society purchased a copy of "The Stamp King'" which circulated among and was greatly enioged by all members. Io the Fall a novel scheme of eutertainment was attempted and proved a thorough success, that is, the appointment of a new Entertainment Conmittee for each meering who propided prizes and original entertainment of the nature mentioned above.

Messrs. Cornwall, Hopkics and Long very generously donated $$ 10.00$ worth of stamps to be sold at auction for the benetit of the treasury. Mem. bership cards of appropriate design were prepared and distributed among the members.

So much for the past, -nuw a word as to the future: It is generally conceded that new members are necessary to the contlnued success of every organization; our Soclety is no exception. New members are alsu essential to the life of the sales and exchange department. Let us therefore make strenuous efforts this coming year along recruiting lines and then let us remember, that where the work of the Recruiting Committee end that of the Entertainment Committee begins and that ample provision should be made for masing our meetings as attractive and entertaining as possible. And lastly, because all of us are proud of our Society and happy to be Identified with it, let us by all muans have an official emblem.

With these few suggestions I close with my heartlest thanks to each and every member for constant support and uniform courtesy, bespeaking a similar kind reception for my successor.

Respectully submitted, Chester Mjers, Secy.

The seventy-third regular meeting of this Sociery was held Monday, December 30, 1907, accustomed time and place, President Cornwall in the Chair and the following members present: Messrs. Baer, Bollman, Chase,Cornwall, Humes, Millhouse, Mpers, Schellhorn, Straus, and one visitor, Mr. Anschuetz.

The Secretary's annual ruport was read and accepted and ordered published in the official organ.

A vote of congratulations was tendered President Cornwall on his tri. umphs with his superb collection of Cape of Good Hope.

The entertainment for the evening consisted of the President's talk on stamp matters in general, and Cape's iu particular and also an impromptu "Deestrikt Skool" devoted to the verbal spelling of the names of stamp issuing countries after the fashion of old time spelling bees. Mr. Strauss proved his knowledge of "stamp names"' by "spelling down'" all others and thus gaining the prize offered by your Secretary.

Next meeting Tuesday,Jan. 7th, 1908 Rooms 803805 Wright Building. Chester Myers, Secretary.

The seventy-fourth regular meating of this Society was held Tuesday, January 1908, usual time and place. President Cornwall presiding and the following nuembers present: Messrs. Baer, Boisselier, Bollman, Chase,Cornwall, Delatield, Diamant, Kennedy, Millhouse, Myers,Schelhord,Schoeman, Strauss and one visitor, Mr. Anschuetz.

The report of the Treasurer Mr. Delafield was read and accepted. 0 oflcers for the ensuing year were elected as follow:-President, Mr. Myers; Vice President, Mr. Straus: Treasurer, Mr. Humes; Governing Board Messrs. Baer Delafield, Diamant, Millhouse, Wood and above mentioned officers.
S. M. Schoemann, for Secretary.

The seventy fifth regular meeting of this Society was held Tuesday, January 2ist, at the usual time and place. President Myers presiding; the following members belng present: Baer, Chase, Diamant, Humess,Long, Millhouse, Myer, Schoeman, and Wuod; also one visitor, Mr. Wm. J. H. Anschuetz.

Mr. Schoeman handed in his resignation as Secretary. 'It was accepted with regret and Mr. Wood, who received the next highest number of votes at the slection held last meetling, was intalled in the offce.

Dr. John W. Higson having removed to Salt Lake City sent in his resignation from the Society and it was accepted with sincere regrets.
The President announced the following committees: Entertainment, Chase, Chairman, Delafield, Scnellhorn; Emblem, Cornwll, Chairman, Strauss, Gildehaus: Recruiting, Wood, Chairman, Faer, Diamant, Humes, Johnscn, Schoeman, Sisson, 乌lack.

The President also announced that Mr. Schoeman had consented to continue as Sales Superintendent and Librarian, also that Mr. Diamant had ag. greed to act as Auction Manager.

The Chalrman of the Recruiting committee reported that a !ist of stamp collectors in St. Louis had been gathered from various sources, by the President and a copy of the same would be furnished to each member so that an active campaign to increase the member ship could be inaugurated.

Mr. Diamant moved that the dues should run for the jear from month members were elected-carried.

Mr. Long moved that the number of resident members be Ifmited to Gfty, all applications received after that number is reached should be put on a waitiag list and an initiation of $$ 1.00$ thereafter be charged-carried.

Mr. Diamant moved that the names of applicants be published in the Official Journal and come up for action the following meeting-carried

The Chairman of the Entertaniment Committee reported that it had been decided to hold stamp competitions at each alternate meeting; the countries decided upon for the first six months with date being as follows: February 4, Netherlands; March 63, Germany; March 31, France; April 28, Swedpli; May 26, Denmark; June 23, Canada.

Mr. Diamant moved that prizes be offered to every exhibitor whose collection awarded fifty points or over-carried.

Mr. Long moved that the basis for judging collections should be, completeness 30 points, coudition 35 points, general appearance, 35 polnts.

The Auction Manager requested that all stamps for auctioning should be handed in the previous week so that a list of them could be forwarded to members with notice of meeting.

The Sales Superintendent complained that some members held the exchange books longer than the regulation two weeks. It is hoped that the guilty parties will take the hint.otherwise there is a suggestion of proposing a fine for future delinquency.

To stimulate better attendance the President suggested that the Secretary publish periodically a report of Accive Members' attendance.

The evening's entertalnment as provided by the Committee consisted of ted questions or braln-twisters. The prizes were carried off by Messrs. Schoeman and Wood with winning percentages of 80 and 56 respectively.

The application for membership was received from Wm. J.H. Anschuetz, U. S. Sub.Treasury.

Next meeting will be held Tuesday, February 4 th. There will be something dojng. Competition, Netherlands. All collectors in and around St. Louis-non members included-are urged to attend without fail.

Geo. Wood, Secretary.
A limited collection might be built up of stamps recognized by the Oniversal Postal Union, or of stamps not recognized by that body. In either ease the line of division would be instructive.

The annual general meeting of the Society was held Wednesday at the rooms of the Montreal Philatelic Society, kindly loaned for the purpose, and the work of opening and counting ballot was proceeded with. ' 'he results were as follows:-

For President, Oliver, W Barwick, majority 9. For Vice President, Canada, J. A. Craig, Yarmouth, N. S., majority 12. For Vice President, U. S., C. H. Fowle, majority 11. For Secretary-Treasurer, R. J. Mundell, majority 6. For Sale Superintendent, A. Smith, majorit/ 23. For Auction Manager, G. P. Legrand, majority 14. For Librarian, H. A. Chepman, majority 10. For Atturney, f. F. Downes, majority 13. For Purchasing Agent, H. C. Nelson, majority 5. For Trustees 1.O. L. Ballargeon,2, Wm. MoRee, 3, N. Husguenid. For Official Organ WeST. Fees for 1908, 50c; Yes. (3 against 50c fee).

The office of Vice President seemed to be the favorite, many names being suggested, and the thal count showed the result to be a tle between J. A. Craig, Yarmouth, and H. L. Hart, Halifax, with 12 votes each and Wm. McKee, Montreal a close secund w!th 11 votes. Mr. Hart had already written the Secretary expressing his wish to be relleved of office for the coming year, so the Vice Presidency went to Mr. Craig.

The President requests that all officials forward him at once, a report showing the condition of their respective department as of Dec. 31st, 1907; *his is important and should be attended to without delay.

To all Members C. P. S:-
In commencing a new year of our Society's history the most important work to be performed will be the increase in size of our membership roll: We have at present 126 members and two applications pending. Why not make 1908 a banner pear? This matter of securing new members can be made a very easy one if you, as members, will assist. Can you not one and all suggest at least one likely candidate? Either send for a blank or drop me a card with particulars. If the members are indifferent, how can they expect the Officers to be otherwise? The realization of the Society's ambltions should be the realization of our own, and a membership roll of 256 or double its present size means just that many more advantages possible. If you will each secure one new member, this will be accomplished.

Will those member who have neglected or overlooked their overdue fees please send them along at once-the bylaws provide that names of delinquents shall be published in the Official Organ in addition to discontinuing their subscription and while we will not promise the former, we cannot order any more copies of the Organ sent after this notice; please look after the matter.

While on the subject of the Official Organ I would like to request that all members who do not recelve their paper regularly will drop me a card with full particulars, when I will arrange with publisher to forward missing numbers.

Hoping you will make an effort to pring in a new one, R. J. Mundell, Seoretary.

Applications recelved:-

1. T. E. Morgan, Delhi,Ont., Merchant, recommended by A. E. Steele, Deihi, Ont., and R. J. Mundell.
2. J. A. Lachaine, St. Martin, Que., Contractor, recommended by Montreal Stamp Co., also member A P. A, 2230, C. C. C. 3007.

Notes on Election: - We are curious to know whether the proposal to nominate Mr. Andrew Carnegie as Librarian, emanated from the brain of some public spirited member or if it was merely the clanoishness characteristic of the race to which Mr. Carnegie is supposd to belong blossoming furth; also by what method of calculation the voter for Mekeel Weekly and a 2 c fee arrived at his answer.
a SFAMEEUL BUSINESS CONDUCTED IN ASHAMELESS MANNER.
The self-confessed forger by the name of F. Fournier continues to send out his circular letters with samples of forged surcharges on stamps, boastiug that his counterfeits can stand the most careful comparison with originals and that he can defy all competition by the cheapness and excellence of his work. It is true, he sells his counterfeits as such and claims that he makes them of obsolete stamps only. But what he does not sap, he is doing right along; he ls furnishing the material for cheating and defrauding the unwary stamp collector; he is destroying the value of genuine surcharged stamps; he is disgusting and discouraging the timid, encouraging the criminal, and tempting the weak: he is sowing album weeds broadcast wherever he finds buyers for his stuff; he is foodng the market with worthless imitations and detroying confidence; he is working to detroy philately and philatelic pleas ures and robbiug his clientss, as he calis them, at the rate of 1 to 5 cents for every genuine stamp that he spolls Is a man of this kind to be trusted or aided? Would he be apt to return a genuine stamp that is valuable? Is the selling of a genuine stamp to him for his nefarlous purpose right? Is it not as much as abetting a criminalo Is there nobody in Switzerland who feels the injustice of his undertakiag and who is able to arouse the judicial or if necessary the legislative authorities agalnst such abuse of the printers art!-(Dorpat).

Paul Kohl's Reform Katalog. The many intermediate collectors, who do Dot wish for the philatelic distinctions and split hair varieties but still mant a catalogue, are recelwng the fülallment of their wish for a simplitied catalogue both in England, by King's Cat., and in Germany, by Kohl's Re. form Katalog. Evidently it was a hard task though for Mr. Kohl to restrict himself to necessities. There are a number of notes and references to the larger work of the same author, and anjone using the smaller one cannot help learning that there are some things worth knowing, even if one is not willing to follow the specialists into all their intricate details. For & simple "straight variety" guide a better book can hardly be found. In the appendix there is a list of books in German, English, French and Itallan, that would form a fine philaltelic library, also a list of albums, packets and accessorles. The book contains 875 pages of clear and clean print. -(Dorpat).

Philatelists who are also philologists, may find "Die Welt-Warte" of tnterest and value. It is the official organ of the Mezzofauti-Bund, a league of philological clubs and societies named in honor to Guiseppe. Mezzofanti (Milan 27741849 ), who, it is said, understood 70 languages. The November number contains a very interesting report about Esperanto and the "Delegation pour l'adoption d'une langue internatonale auxliaire,' stating that the 'Delegation'' has adopted Esperanto as being nearest to the ideal interna. tional language and expects to by a few little changes (which however will not essentlally alter Esperanto) to make it still more acceptable and useful. Monsieur de Beaufont the inventor of "Adjuvanto" who abandoued hls own creation in favor of Esperanto is active in this movement and it is hoped that the "Esperanto Lingua.Konistate" will cooperate with the "Delegation'", which represents about 18000 scholars (professors "and teachers) and 300 clubs and societies of all kinds of arts and sciences.

A British Farthing Stamp. While stamps of the value of one centime are common in Europe, where they serve to frank circulars and printed mater of light weight, British stamps of the face ralue of one farthing are somewhat of curiosities. Strictly speaking, however, the newest farthing stamp is not a postage stamp at all, since it is cot used for franklog postal matter. It is issued by tha's philatelically speaking smartest of all our Colonies New Zealand and its purpose is sald to be to allow traders to give their customers a discount and they are cashable at any postoffice in the colony. But. we must admit that this explanation will not fully explain the purpose and use of this extraordinary stamp of the small value of about ode-fiftieth of a shifling.

The number of pleces handled annually in the U.S. mail amounts to more than $\mathbf{2 0 . 0 0 0}, 000,000$ or 57 million dally.

Rest of constitution furbished to i:nterested parties if request is mailed with stamp to President or Secretary.

A HOBBY, aa Napoleon said of love, should be a pleasure not a torment. Yet there are collectors of postape stamps who set themselves the most tormentingly difficult tasks that can well ide concelved as pastimes, The simple pleasure of colleoting has been endangered by the encroachments of specialism, with the result that the catalogues and albums have become so complex in arrangement and so voluminous in form, that the new collector is puzzled and appalled by the multiplicity of specimens which it would be mecessary to acquire to form angthing like a representative collection. King's Catalogue leaves out minor varieties and Illustiates U. S. stamps and is dedicated to the general collector who collects to enjoy rather than to possess. Publisher of WEST offers catalogue at 360 or with the WEST 600 .

Correspondence has been proceeding in the Glasgow Evening News on that old, old subject, "The Scracest Postage Stamp." Of course it has not taken very long to bring a letter from a knowledgeable reader pointing out that the lc. British Guiana of 1856, is indubitably the rarest postage stamp In the world. Equally of course, many of the readers have written in to declare that they possess a specimen of that rara avis. But there are other 1 cent stamps of British Guinana, and probably all will "discover that they have one of "the others."

Refore noticing the current papers I wish to mention the tirst of the new crop of catalogues to reach our review table; it is the 1908 edition of Kohls' Reform Catalogue. In spite of all condemnation this too has grown from 797 pages into 828, but still remains a very handy volume. Sowe countries have boen somewhat rearranged, but upon the whole srstem and arrangement have remained much the same. The extent of condensation, to be sure, is not the same throughout, some countries being treated more liberal!y than others, yet on the whole this catalogue is an admirable example of the sim. plified catalogue. The numbering corresponds with that of the large. Kohl catalogue, so that cross reference is made easy. I can cordially commend this smaller catalogue to all collectors who are familiar with German. The large catalogue will appear again in the fall of 1908.

I have heretofore alluded to the supplement to the NEDERLANDSCHE PHILATELIST dealing with the stamps of the Oranye Free State. From the supplement to No. 41 I gather the information that the design of the birst issue of the Orange Free State-which, as you are aware, was retained for all subsequent issues-was furnished by Henry Sybouts at that time Postmaster General of the republic, and that the tree does not represent an orange tree as commouly repited, but is supposed to be the tree of liberty: to judge from the powder horns, the fruit of the tree may be supposed to be bullets or cannon-balls. The stamps, as is well knuwn, were printed by Te'la Rue & Co., London; they were in sheets of 240 , in four panes of 60 each, 10 rows of feach.

No 117 of Madid FILACELICO gives the official dacuments relative 10 lhe late Exposition issue of Spain-the one with the portrsits of the King and Q iemn From these it appears that in the lirst place these stamps could be used oniv within the Exposition grounds and that in the second place even there a letrer bearing them would not be forwarded unless it bore an equip. alent anomint in ordinary postage stamps. It is thus plain that in spite of the in cription CORREOS they possessed absoliliely wo franking power whatever and are not, therefore, postage stamps at all, but little better that advertising labels. It is diffeult to see how the Spanish government could $\cdot$ lend its official sunction to so transparent a sptoulation Collectors will do well to leave this Issue alone: the Roumanian Exposition labels were bad enough, but these are worse.

EL FILATELICO ESPANOL is running an exceedingly interesting article on the earliest issues of Spain for several numbers past. The author has gathered much historical information, heretofore unknown, about the parious issues, in part from personal interviews with the very men wio ongraved and printed them. Thrilling tales are told of the dangers and diffculties under which some of these stamps were produced and the whole very vividly describes a dark period in the history of unfortunate Spain. I quote a few details. Scott's No. 504 (type A3) was Issued for the province of Cat. alonia in April 1874. It was lithographed by Sr. Soler y Arques at the village of Besora, in a house which was also used as a military hospital. The sheets consisted of 100 stamps in 11 rows of 9 stamps each and one stamp over the middle of the upper row-rather an odd arrangement. Scott's No. 505 (type At and A5) was tssued for the former Kingdom of Valencia, the socalled Maestrazgo; it was lithographed by Sr. Juan Vllas at Vistabella. Scott's No. 503 (type A2) was issued at Tolosa in July 1874 for the Baqsue provinces and Navarra; Scott's Nos. 509, 510 and 511 (tgpe A6) were iss 1 ed at Tolosa for the same provinces in March 1875, the 50c for slagle letters withiv the same province and the 1 real for letters from one province to the other.

The Rerliner Briefmarken-zeitung is now appearing semi monthly-not half bad for a paper that carries no outside advertisingg. Its No. 26 brings the sad news of the death of one of Germany's foremost philateists: Judge Henry fraenkel of Beriln, who died Sept 20th of pleurisy, barely 54 years of age. He was one of the best known phllatelic writers of Germany though always engaged in controversy with some one because of his caustic pen; yet he was perscnally a very lovable character as I know myself, having had very pleasant exchange relations with tim.

The same number and No. 27 bribg the highly interesting article on "Western franks" which was read by W. Sellschopp, formerly of San Eransisco, at the late German Philatelists' Das at Hamburg, and which has been copied by most of the German papers-deservedly so, as it brings a vast amount of information on these little-known witnesses of the day of the Argonauts. The article is ton long to be quoted here; it would be worth while for one of our papers 10 have it translated.

I quote the following: " 1 sensible measure agains the lllicit sale of postage stamps the little counry of Luxemburg has just adopted. The lateIs issued postage due stamps can be procured uncancelled or cancelled from any postoffice, but of course have no franking power; letters stamped with postage dues instead of the regular stamps are treated as unpaid This permissou of sale is the only correct nay-the Netherlands, by the way, have also adopted thls plan-as against olher cosentries, whose stamps of secondary rank reach the market only by the backdoor. How much trouble could such states save themselves by permitting the sale of ofticial stamps etc."

I doukt that our P M. G. sees his way clear to placing postage dues on sale, but not a few postmasters have no scruples about solling them just the same.

No. 27 of the same paper has an article from an eminently comperent pen on the Lion Surcharge of East Roumelia for South Bulgaria. At the hand of four enlargements the eract measurements of the four types are given. Considering the vast number of forgeries of this issue every collector should test his coples of the same by these measurements.

I have just rceeived another simplified catalogue: there redlly seems to be a rendency towards a return to the simple life in philately, collectors haring become surfelted with the cloyed sweetness of perforation vagailes, of single and multiple CA, of chalky and plain paper, and so forth. This time the attempt is made by Mr. D. Field, the wellknown editor of the West End Philatelist of London; the catalogue has been edited by Mr. Bertram Poole, the wellknown writer. Being an experiment, he has contined himself to the stamps of the British Empire: a new edition, if this one is favorably received, will Include the rest of the world. Even rigidly simplitied.the stamps of the British Erupire take up 225 pages! The catalogue goes far beyond Kohl's in simplifization; even multiple CA watermark is not listed, much Jess paper rarieties and perforations. Nevertheless a collector would have the hardest bind of a task to get togeher even the varieties that remain after this process of elimination.--I can cordialy recommend the litte book to all collectors interested in the movement: the price of 1 sh. is very moderate. I shall be pleased to furnish the address of the publishor.

Hy the time you read this the new jubilee set of Austria may nave appeared the Deutche Philatelist reports that on December 2nd they were placed on exhibition in Vienna. The occasion, as you are aware, is the 60th anniversary of the reign of Emperor Francis Joseph The designs have been furnished by Professor Koloman Moser; the engraving has been done by Ferdipand Schirnboeck. The ralue from 1 heller to 35 heller are typographed, the higher values linengraved. The 2 and 5 krone stamps are bi-colored. the 10 krone is printed in three colors. The 1 heller shows Emperor Charles VI., the 2 heller Empress Maria Theresa, the 3 heller Emperor Josep.h II., the 6 heller Emperor Leopold II., the 20 heller Emperor Ferdinand I.; the others show the present emperor at various ages, except the 2 kronen, which shows Schoenbrunne Castle, and the 5 kronen, which shows the Hofburg (Residence) at Vienna.

The same paper reports that on December 6th the Roumadian Post 0ffice Department offered at public auction the remainder of the two jubilee sets of 1906 (Scott's No 176 to 155). The numbers ranged from 23,830 of No. 191 to $1,295,601$ of No. 176; of the error 25 bani oilve instead of blue (of No. 181 ) there were 221,454 . Only two bids were recelved; a Roumanian dealer, J. Gross of Hucarest, offered 50,110 francs, and Senf Brothers, Llepsig, offered 3.600 francs Hoth were rejected, as the Department expects to obtain 200,000 franes (athout $$ 10,000!$ ) Another sale is to be held this month (January). imall thusiness this would seem, for a selfrespecting state.

Une of the best known philatelists ánd stamp dealers of France has just passed awar. I refer to M. Arthur Maury, of Paris, who died Dec. lst, in his susty-fourth year. His paper, Le Collectionneur de Timbress Pose, has long beet famous as one of the best informed of the entire philatelic press. His fame will rest chiefly upon his History of the French Postage Stamps which but recently appeared, wut he was the author of many other works on philately and on heraldry, of which he was an ardent student. He has repastedly been consulted by various governments on matters connected with nea stamp issues and his name had recently been proposed for the French Legion of Honor-an honor of which death robbed him. He was in truth one of the oldtimers of philatly, having commenced dealing in 1860. The Arst of the European papers to bring details of his life is Stanleg Gibbous' Monthly Journal for December.

Collectors and Other Folk by Verna Yelestor: Hankay

> (American and Englinh putilicatious desiring an impartial revit w in this periodical will pleage torwatd specimen copy marked for Review to Mise Verna Weston Hateway, Lik Bx 8 . Dallas, Pa.)

It is an evident but inexplicable fact of human mature that the collec. tor longs most inlintly for the appiecialion and interest of mon eollectiog folk. The great majority of colifcrors are decidedly conservative. set even the few of the passe Bohemian type, affecting long harr and dreamy eses, and prattilng most gently of alt and artistic principals. make obrious bids for the favor of their matter-o'-fact fellow beings.

The postage stamp collector is not an exception to the gederal rule. He, (or she) form "National Stamp Committees'' to entice the dear publlc: converses with silsery, liquid eloquetice of the stores and ajcores of learning to be found in his stamps; incires the interest and the latent primitive pas. sions to collect and acquire which is basic in all humankind, -a heritage from the mfil and urmen of the caves. And in the end, we, to speak in the p!ural sin e, have created, evolved(or caused a retuin to the primitive, is other words) A collectir with.whom we may converse upors such erudite aud profound sul-jects as the smudge of ink uprn the nose of His Most Gracious. Imperial Majrsty, uhich distinguishes the stamps of the second issue from those of the tirst: or 'he number of hairs which we can distinguish, (it needs a powerful microscope and a liained pie for ihis) upon the loyal cranium. We can also converse lucidly upon the mysteries of perforation and compe und $p$ ifforalion; upensirgle and multiple wacermarks; upon blochs and sheets, and marginal iuseriptions and various ot her delails of similar ilk and degree of profundity Isn't it touching?

Were you ever. dear sister, or brother. responsible for the collecting pursuits of a fellow being? If not you have escaped much and I herebs entreat you not to involve yourself th such dire distress, unless-and this is a detall of immense importance, the wretched individual lives some hundreds, or better still thousands of miles, from your place of abode. And, unless once more, jou are of an altruistic, abuegating temperament, and in addition possess all the virtues in the decalogue. In the latter instance vou may consifn jourself with a sweet and patient smile to the invasion of rour collecting sancturay; you may prepare yourself to shower all those moments of liesure - which yoll treasure upon the collfctor nnvicd: to stand ready to ad. vise, to mentor, to collcet, care for, and cherish the collections, and inciden-tall; the collector so long as you botin do-er-collect!
-.- Of course, on the other hand, you have someone with whom you cab conserse upon the afore-mentioned scientiffe matters. But, as I have intimated, even this rose has its thorns, and all the warmth and glow of comradeship does not at all times satisfy. After all its the collection, sour collection which is the thing, and at times we feel as if we were unveiling a nun when we offer up to the gaze of the uninitiated, e'en tho' it may be an appreciative gaze, the treasures upon which we have lavished our affections, misplaced and wasted affections, no doubt.

Browning gives us rather more than an inkling of these varying emotions:
"I keep my prints, an imbrogilo, Fifts in one portfolio,
When somebody tries my claret,
We turn round chairs to the fire, Chirp over days in a garret,

Chuckle o'er merease of salary, Taste the good fruits of our lelsure,

Talk about pencil and lyce, And the National Portralt Gallery:

Then I exhibit my treasure. After we've turned over twenty,

And the debt of wonder my crong owes
Is paid to my Mark Antontos
He stops me一"Festina leute!
What's that sweet thing there, the etching :"
How my waist-coat strings want st retching
How my cheeks grow red as tomatoes,

How my heart leaps! But hearts after leaps, ache.
"By the by, you must take, for a keepsake,
That other, you praised, of Volpato's "
The fool! Woold he try a tight further and say-
He never saw, never before today, What was able to take his breath away,
A face to lose jouth for, to occupy age
With the dream of, meet death with, -why, i'll not engage.
Rut that, half in a rapture and half in a rage,
I should toss him the thing's self''Tis only a duplicate,
A thing of no ralse! Take it, I supplicate!'’

But all of our efforts to have our fancies appreciated are not so successful. I often wonder huw many neplected families, or pater familias and mater familias, stamps are responsible for; how many neglected friends and forgoten engagements, and sins of omission and commission, before we have learned to tuck stamps away in odd corners of our lives, lest they become all engrossing aud a dissipation. Serious things can be laid at our gentle Philatelia's door, without a doubt

While we gearn for an appreciation of the thin"s with which ae are enamored, we are too often meted out the treatment which was accorded the same individual, in the same poem by the incomparable Browning:
"And the wife elleks tea-things un- Quoth the wife,--looks black as der,
And her cousin he stirs his cup. dsks."Who was the lady. I wonder?"
"- Tisa dath John bought at a sale," thunder:
"What a shade beneath her nose!
Snuft-laking, I suppose-"
Adds the cousin, while Johr.'s corns ail "

So, after a time we grow aweray of well doing, and wisely keep our fancles and hobbies-safely cloistered in some little sanctuary or snuggerg. They get aired occasionally, of course, quite by accident as a rule, and the result is none which sometimes serves to bring about John's ailment. It is; no doubt, quite explicable and quite natural for one to fail to kindle an enthus. iasm to match the collector's, yet the smile of wellbred toierance never fails to fret the collector. "What a beautiful binding!", exclaims the one to whom you are exhibiting your treasures. You open the volume reverently, and point out one thing and another which you think worthy. The, "How very extraordinary!', is in sooth somewhat maddening.

Y'es, we collectors are strange belugs, and for "ways that are dark and tricis that are vain," we are indeed 'peculiar'. But I am not one whose opinion is of value on the subject. I am, alack an alas, a lost soul!-I am golng to specialize.

A PECULIAR JAPANESE STAMP. Sent by Roberge, Mass.
Such is the silk inspection stamp used by the examiner of silks and aftixed to the price of silk, testifying as to their purity. The stamp consists of a white triangle with a black and red chrysanthemum on a red disc inscribed in large white letters "Red Kiku Pure Silk." Around this is a cir. cular band bordered on the inside by two and on the outside by one thin black line. In this band we find the inscription in black "Examined br the inspectiou Hureau Fukushima.Ken, Japan.' Outside the band are floral ornaments giving the whole a rectangular appearance. The paper is white wove, perforated $10 \frac{1}{2} \times 11$. There is no val ue on the stamp, and though a fee may have to be paid for its affining it can hardly be classed with revenue stamps. The nearest to it that we have in the $U$. $S$. is the meat inspection stamp or the wire inspection stamp. From postage stamps it is, of course, still farther removed by its character than from revenue stamps. - Dorpat.

YVERT & TELLIER-CHAMPION CATALOGUE.

In France philately may not be quite as far advanced as it is in England and Germany; yet it is not backward, as the 12th edition of this pretty and handy catalogue shows. It is simpler than Kohl's large catalogue and Gibbons' two-volume work and resembles most our "Scott" or the German "Senf," though it takes much less notice of color-shades tharr the latter book. One peculiavity is that it gives at the end of each country's department a compaot llst of envelopes and wrappers, and for this reason it map find many a friend who would otherwise be satistied with some other catalogue. At the begloning uf the book there are several pages of useful defnitions, last of colonies belonging to the several mother countries,a directory by which one may easily and yuickly retermine to what country any stamp belongs and a table of moneys. In the back of the book is a list of packets, albums, lenses etc. It is welt bound and can be recommended to all who are acquainted with the French language. The price is 00 cents, U . S . money. - Dorpat

Well Franked. There recently arrived in lierlin an euvelope which the German oticials would certainly not, take the trouble to weigh; the letter was franked so generously. Un the front side there were 120 stamps, each of 10 roubles; on the other, side there were thirty of the 10 roubles, one of 7 roubles, one of 50 kopecks and one of 2 kopecks or a total of 1517 roubles 52 kopecks: and at the rate of 50 c to the rouble the postage came to $$ 901$. 16 .

Advertising Stamps by L.L.Dolson

Stamp collecting has been said to be the greatest of all hobbies and now as it is a science we should try and make it the greatest of all sciences.

All of the florists, seedsmen and nurserymen have been advertising horticulture in a very unique way which I think could also be applied to stamps.

Horticulture has heen taking quite a spurt in pubile interest in the last two or three years, and Mr. Vaughan, President of the National Council of Horticulture) conceived the idea of trying to give it a little impetus by teaching the public the value of shrubs and fowers, and the National Council of Horticulture has undertaken to supply the newspapers throughout the country with articles on horticulture,-articles that would deal with the subject in a purely elementary way, and intended for amateurs. They are trying to get people to grow flowers and to plant shrubs in their yards. Ther sent articles to 2500 newspapers all over the country, and in most of those papers the articles were printed. Now. In other words, why cannot nis plan be tried to ad rertise stamps. Some of our large societies could take this up and send articles to newspapers, thus bungling our science before million of people. New recruits would be added to our list of phllatelists, thls would not onls help the dealer, tut the stamp papers and socleties.

In these articles would be set forth the aid to its study of geogragphy and history that stamps collecting is. Also the financial part or stamp col. lecting as an investment.

There is one kind of advertising which ne want to beware of, and that is the inserting of the names of a certain society or firm in these ads as that makes the people believe that we merely desire them to join our ranks to get their money.

There is a woman who writes from some place in Kentucky, that signs her dame "Kentuckian" mostly. She is emploged by the Sapalia people, and the Peerlina people, and the Berax people, and several other people, and she writes home articles for papers. Her articles appear all over the United States in agricultural papers in the home department, and the only thing that is in them-for instance, she will tell how to clean carpets, and the only thing that smacks of an advertisement is that she gets in the name of Sapalia once in a while. . The borax trust have women emploged in the same way. One writes from Emporta, Kans., to the home department of agricultural papers. She recommends borax for sore ejes and baraic acid for all sorts of things. Now we don't want to advertise stamp collecting, Inserting some frm's name for the profit of that frim, but stamp collecting as a whole. We want to recommend it for tired headaches, blues ete, wot for the profit of some individual dealer or soclety but for the general wellfare of stamp collectors as a whole. Let us try it.

Stanley Gibbons' Monthly Journal for September and October contalns an escellent article on the stamps of Salvador. If more articles of this kind come to light, it will not take long to make the Central American republios which came into great disrepute thrcugh Seebeck stamp issues rather popular, and tren even the Seebeck stamps used on original covers will demand prices that were hardly dreamed of five or ted sears ago.

Lot Number Forty-nine by A. F. Blocki

In a small room, lighted only by a student lamp on a table in one corner, two men were talking in low tones. Une had the appearance of a prosperous business man, the other would have passed for a student, or possibly an expert book-keeper.

Before them on the table were a number of pens of various kinds and several ink wells, each containing a different colored ink. In the full glare of the light lay two little bits of paper, to all appearances exactly alike, but one listening to their conversation would soon have learned that one of them was a stamp valued at several hundreds of dollars while the other was a forgery, made by the younger of the two men In the room.

This expert in the use of pen and ink was no other than the notorious counterfelter, William Chronen, more commonly known as "Bill the Yenman.' His companion was Morton, the stamp dealer, and it wasevident that he was to dispose of the products of the forger's pen.

Morton was examining the spurious stamp with a powerful magnifying glass. At last he turned aud reaching over, grasped the other's hand. "Bill,'" he asid, "you are certainly a wonder. Why, I'd buy that stamp myself if anyone of good standing brought it to my store. It surely ought to mean a lot of easy money for us." "Well," replled Mr. Chronen, "This is a new wrinkle for me, but if you can get $$ 300$ for that one I tinished off yesterday I don't think I'll monkey with any more of Uncle Sam's yeliow. backs. This is a whole lot easler, and you don't have to buck the whole secret service all the time, either "

The stamp dealer picked up the two stamps, genuine and forgery and placed them in his pocket stock book. "Blll" took off the green ege-shade he wore while at work and took up his coat and hat. "Well," said he, "I'm going to skidoo for my little bed. Coming my way?"

Phillip Denliam, a young court reporter in Juige Smith's court, had remained downtown that evening to take in the new play at one of the theatel, and was hurrying over to the platform of the elevated road on his way home. 'Just as he was passing Morton's store, he noticed that two men were coming out a side door. He paused, thinking possibly the stamp dealer's place was being burglarized. He uas just under a powerful arc Jight, which lighted up the store building and showed the two men plainly. When they turned the st reet, however. he saw that one of them was Murton. The other he dia not know, although the face seemed familiar to him in a dim way.
"I'd better hurry," he muttered to himself,"If I miss this next car on the elevated I'll have a pice wait out on the platform.' All the way home the face of Morton's companion, as he had seen it for a moment in the glare of the arc light, troubled him with the Idea that he had seen it before, and he racked h's brain in a valn effort to recall the circumstances of his previous meetlug with the man, if there had been one.

Wten he arrived at home he did not feel sleepy, so he took a large scrap book which lag on a table in his room, and began turning its leaves, pausing now and then to read a few lines from one of the newspaper clippings it contained. These were all Items in regard to some of the more important of the tilals which Phillip had reported.

Suddenly he stopped, and gazed at a picture at the top of a page. It was the same facu he had seen when Morton's companion turned toward blm for a moment before hurrying away down the street! Beneath it was a description of the trial of Willam Chronen, alias Bill the Penman, accussed of co nterfeiting! Swiftly Phillip read the newspaper account of the trial, which ended by stating that the prisoner had been discharged on account of insufticient evidence. Down in one corner of the page was another clipping, dated about a week after the trial, which stated one of his accomplices had been captured, and had confessed, implicating Chronen, and that if the latter could be recaptured he would surely be convicted.
"A counterfelter 5 !' exclalmed Phillip. "And Morton a stamp dealer. What were they doing together, I wonder." For a few minutes he sat st lll, thinking over the thought that had come to him. "If that fellow can counterfeit Treasury Notes so stilfully he ought to be able to make pretty dangerous coples of stamps. I wonder-''. He was still wondering when he dropped asleep.

In the morning he felt even surer that his suspicions were correct, but decided to stop at Morton's stamp shop before going down to court. . When he entered the store, and asked for some things, he saw nothing wrong. In fact he had hardly expected to. Just as he was starting out, however, Morton inguired "A re you going to attend the auction sale at the Philatelic Club rooms tonight.? There are going to be some pret.g nice stamps on sale. In fact I have one extra good one in. It's lot number forty-nine.' Phililp said he thought he would drop in at the club rooms during the evening and hurried on.

That afternoon, as soon as he could get away from his work, he hurried over to the rooms where the auction lots were on exhibition, and esamined the number fortynine carefuly. To his eses it looked all right, and get he felt sure it was a forgery Near him stood another man examining the stamps. Phillip noticed that he had the air of one who understood thoroughly all the little details of the starps he was examining.

Stepping up to the stranger he sald "I beg your pardon sir, but would you mind examining lot number forty nine over here, and telling me if it looks quite genuine to you?'' The mau looked around and Phillip recognized him as Bronson, the famous English expert. He had never seen him before, but he knew him by the pictures of him which had appeared in all the phillatelic papers, with the announcement that he nould make a trip to the United States soor.

By this time Mr. Bronson was examining the stamp Phillip has reques. ted him to. He took a pocket magnifging glass from his pocket and examined it closely. "Have sou any reason for believing this to be a forgery?" he inquired. Phillip fist asked him if he was Mr. Bronson, and findiog that he was, told him all he knew about it. "That is certainly suspicious," said Mr. Bronson, "And I believe there is a very slight difference in this paper from that used in the genuine stamp, although I cannot be absolutely sure without comparing it with a genuine copy."

For a few moments he and Phillip remaired in earnest conversation, then Mr. Bronson offered to go to his rooms at the hotel and get a copy of the stamp which he had there, which he could compare with the one before them, and arranging to meet Phillip an hour later in the hotel rotunda.

Phillip spent the greater part of that hour in the private office of the United States Marshal. Before he left,arrangements had been made for the capture of Willam Chronen that Dight, and for two deputy marshalls io attend the auction sale of the Philatelic Club that evening.

Hurrylng back to the hotel where Mr. Bronson was staying, he arrired there a little before the hour, but found the stamp expert waiting for him. Mr. Bronson announced that he was non quite sure the stamp catalogued at "Lot Number Forty-Nine' was a forgery.

That evening at the club's roeeting just before the auction, the mem. borss were surprised by the introduction of Mr. Brenson. He was not ex. pected to arrive until the following Monday, but had taken an earlier boat.

After the regular meeting was finished, the auction sale was begun, and progressed in ordinary fashion until the first furtyeigth lois had been dis: posed of.

Just as the fortyeighth lot was sold Phillp entered at the back of the room, accompanied by two strangers, and the three remained standing near the door.

The auctioneer announced lot number, forty; pipe, and described it. The increasesd interest among the olub members showed that this was something unusual in their sales. None of the previous lots had catalogued higher than elghty dollars this; one was catalogued at three hundred!

Just as the auctioneer was about to call for bids. Mr. Bronson stepped forward. "Pardon me:" he said, "May I examine that stamp before the bidding begins?" He took his magnifying glass from hls pocket and turned toward the auctioneer.

Before the auctioneer could reply to his request, however, the attention of all was attracted by a scuffle at the door. Mr. Morton was struggling in the arms of one of the two strangers who had just come in with Phillip Denham! The rascally stamp dealer, fearing that the British expert would dis. cover the fact that the tsamp he had entered in the sale was worthless, had endeavored to escape. Be fought wildly for a moment, but the other stranger stepped up behind him, and in an instant his wrists were securely pinion. ed by a pair of handcuffs, and he was being escorted from the room. The instant the door closed behind the trio, the room they had left was in an up. roar. Every man was asking the one nearest hlm what the trouble was, and no one seemed to know anything about the strange episode thes had just witnessed.

Suddenly she voice of Mr. Bronson was heard from the platform. as soon as the excited philatelist quieted enough so he could make himself heard, he gave them a brief acount of the sheme to victimize them, and how it had been frustrated by their fellow member of the club, Mr. Phillip Dennam. At the mention of the name of the one who had saved some of them at least from considerable losses, some of them started to cheer, and catching sight of Philip trying to make his exit through the rear door, they forced him to take the platform and tell the story over.

He told them the dart Mr. Bronson had not known, how the building in which Mr. Morton's store was had been surrounded about an hour before and Bill, the Penman, the notorious counterfeiter, captured, together with tools and materials which would sutfice to convict both himself and the stamp dealer when their trial took place.

The auctioneer, seeing that he would be unable to carry out the origina! plan of disposing of one hundred lots at auction that evenlog: announced that the sale was concluded for the evening, but that another would be heldone meek later in the same room, when the fifty-one sets left from this sale would be disposed of.
"Well" said Phillip, "There are some stamps in that sale that 1 have been wanting a long while, and I guess that thousand dollar reward for the capture of Mr. Chronen ought to make it easy for me to bid in some of them."

Notes for U. S. Collectors By E. R. Aldrich

The one cent Jamestown is reported by $\mathrm{H}^{\prime}$. L. Smith as precancelled from Chicago. I should be pleased to correspond with any one having any precancelled stamps of the Jamesto wn issue. Write me at Renson, Minn.

The Dayton precancelled can be found with missing letters in Ohio. 1 have one reading On and one Ohi. In each case there is absolutely no indication of the missing letters ever having been set. Specimens can also be found showing broken letters.

The postai service of the Philipines is under the direction of the Director of Posts, who is exoftcio the post master of the city of Manilla and who receives a salary of twelve thousand pesos per annum. There is also an Assistant Director whose salary is seven thousand $\forall v e$ hundred pesos. There are also heads to the postal department proper and to the telegraph department the tirst receiving a salary of six thousand tive hundred pesos and the latter five thuosand five hundred pesos.

On Aug. 4, 1406 , the Phllipine Commission passed an act whereby it became unlawful to either deposit or take from the malls any lottery ticket or the advertisement of a lottery company.

For the year ending June 30,1906 there were $22,869,200$ playing card revebue stamps issued, from which it would seem that it would be some time before these stamps, even collected with a dated cancellation would be among the scarce type class.

With the exception of the tin foil wrappers bearing one and one and two-thirds ounce tobacco stamps, all the U.S. revenue stamps are printed by the liureau of printing and engraving. These foll wrappers are produced under contract by the Juhn J. Crooke Co , of Chicago and Conley Foil Co. of New lork. The expense of producing the stamp is paid by the users as well as the salarles of agents and counters becessayy to supervise the work, so in reality they cost the government less than any other stamp.

The lower postal rates which went Into effect October tirst awaken a joyful echo all over the world among those who make use of the internation. al cails. The philatelic press, as well as newspapers in general, show that the change is received with great gratification. The reply coupon also receives a good deal of attention. The Cape Times, a large South African paper, devotes nearly a column to ft ; and the other postal changes. Some papers piedict penny postage between Great 13ritain and the U.S. Thus the woll is contracting!

Some, if not all, the bank papers were printed in sheets of 4.6 or more, pere provided with stubs and bound into books. Many different kinds of paper were used. The stamp was usually printed before the check form, or other form. was pution; but in a fow cases the stamp was printed after and orer the form: in two instances it appears as though the stamp and form were printed together in one printing. The latter may be the case where the wark was done by the A merican Phototype Co. of New York, the American Graphic Co. of New York, Joseph R. Carpenter of Philadeiphla or sevaral others, who pridted the stamps and might,of course,complete the whole paper at once.

The insoriptions on labels and under stamps as far as 1 have seen them ate as follows:
"Payment of moneg" $\quad$ " $"$ right $: "$ ath design: "Good ouly for checks and drafts payable at sight" in label right under stamp.
jth design: "Good when the amount does not exceed $$ 100.00$ " in label right under stamp.
jth design: "Good when issued for the parment of moneg" in label right under stamp 10th design: "Good when the amount insured shall not exceed $$ 5, C 00$ " in label right under stamp.
There must be etill a few more designs, which I bave not yet seen, and one of them is most likely to be found south and west of St. Louls, because there it was printed by the St. Louis Lithograph Co ; it is described as hav. ing "At sides, circular design of two cent plece" " $\Delta t$ left, ouverse of coin, In God we Trust-1874; at right, reverse of coin,States of America-2 cents." I shuold very much like to see one of these stamps, and shall return it promptly if loaned to me.
lis the kindness of Mr. E. B'Sterling we may note another design: 15th design: It is otherwise quite the same as our lst design, only in the circuar dises at the left and right we find inserted a horizontal straight colored disc with inscription in large colorles capitals: "Good only for" (left) and "Bauk Check" (right).

Beginners Department--Peru

By L. G. Dorpat

I quote Mr. Young again: "Although the Chilan army had captured Lima as early as the 11th of January, 1881, the post office remained in the hands of and was conducted by the Peruvian clerks and regular postage stamps of Peru were employed up to Novebmer 30th, 1881, when the office was taken possesson of by the Chileans. For the tirst week or two they sissued the ordianry Peruvian stamps and then for a short time used the "Deficit" or postage due stamps of Peru with the surcharge "Lima Correas" bet ween the circles."
"About the end of December, 1881, or at farthest by the 1st of January, 1882, the stamps of Peru hand stamped with the arms of Chile commenced to be issued from all the postoffices within the jurisdiction of the Chllians, and here is where chronicler, cata logue and collector seem to be "up against it," to lapse momentarily into the expressive vernacular of the streets. Not only were genuine stamps surcharged with false dles by various unauthorized parties, out gevuine stamps were stamped with the genuine die in the regular and in various unauthorized and totally urused colors." If I understand Mr. Young right, he means to say that surcharging was done for the fun of it and for edification of eager collectors and dealers, so that it becomes wellnigh impossible to say which surcharges were made for postal use and which for sport only. He goes on:
"Moreover, the genuine stamps are freyuently so badly printed that no living man (a dead one-?) could tell the good from the bad. Nor does the matter of examining cancellations on used stamps appear to offer much of a solution, for the cancelling dies in use in these unsettled times were many and various and some of them continued in use for years afterward and some were undoubtedly carried of by the Chilians on teparting. It is not only to Chilians and their followers that we owe these false surcharges to, but to the Peruvians as well."
lieginners will do well to refuse buying any of these surcharged issues, except on original covers coming from actual correspndence, and in that case the stamps should remain on the covers Others that come with larger lots of stamps may be retained as curiosities or objects for study, but they can hardly be considered as of much value.

The surcharging craze continued until 1895, a perlod of 15 years, and besides the three surcharges already mentioned we find stamps of Yeru overprinted with "Union Postal Universal'" in the form of a horse shoe and the word "Peru"' below, with 5 dies of triangles containing a little sun and again the word "Peru" with a larger sun and the words "Correas Lima" above and below, with a portralt of General M. Berumdez or with seceral other surcharges, in some cases there being two surcharges one over the other. Besides the Peruvian stamps we find a long series of Chilian stamp used by the Chilians in various Peruvian localities. They are surcharged "Adu de Correos"' or "Princlpal'" and name,Callas,Lima, etc. Finally there is a whole army of locals made by either surcharging revenues or postage stamps for postal use. For a collector who has a large supply of material these may afford a splendid tield for Investigation and study, but for the beginner thay lorm rather a dangerous wilderness.
Dovetalled in between the many provisiouals, we find in 1886 a re-issue of the set of 1874.79, printed in new colors and without grill. In 1889 this set was surcharged GOBIERNO for offlcial use. Besides this there are two more official sets also made by bf surcharging.

At last in 1895 the general postmaster of Peru, Camilo N. Carille, resolved restore order and propriety in regard to Peruvian postage stamps. Before, however, this resolution went into effec. there were two temporary issues made in that sear, so that in all we find three sets for 1895 . The tirst consists of 5 values of old designs reprinted in new colors, 1 c 1874 in red, 2c 18774 in blue, 501866 in claret, 10 c 1866 in orange and 20 c 1866 in ultramarine. These stamps are at least pretty, if nothing else can be said of them.

The second set cor 1895 consists of 7 values, two designs, issued in commemoration of the success of revolution and the new president Dr. Nicolas de Pierola. The 1, 2, 5 and 10 centavos are of one and the 20 and $50 c$ and 1 sol of the other (larger) design. The stamps were manufactured by the American Bank Note Co. s, ware to gointo use on Sept. 10th, 1895, to be used ior lo.days only, and the remainders were then to be burned publioly. Whether this program has been carried out faithfully or not, I am not aware. The third set consists of 8 values, 1 and $2 c$ portrait of Manco Capar the first Inca, $5,10,2 \theta$, and 50c portrait of Pizarro, the Spanish conqueror of Peru, the 1 and 2 sols portrait of La Mar, one of the Peruvian General. President, namely the irst one who had been elected. For the next two sears there is a rest in the making of new stamps with the exception that in 1897 the color of the 50 was changed from indigo blue to green. (Up to March 7th, 1896 the stamps surcharged with the portrait of General Morales Bermudez were good for postage or redemption, after that date they were declared obsolete.)
l3efore the end of 1897 there was a new commemorative issue in preparation which it seems did not come intu use until the beginning of 1898 though ti bears the gear 1897 as a prominent inscription. The event to be celebra. ted was the completion and dedication of a new postoffice building at Lima. There are three values, 1 c with a view of the new iron bridge, 20 with the front of the new pust office and 50 with the portrait of the president. It is queer that in the same fear the le value should have become so scarce that again a provisional had to be made by surcharging the le due stamp "Fran. queo' '.

In 1899 the 1,2 capes and $5 c$ Pizario of 1895 were rejssued in new colors. To these were added the new high values of 5 and 10 soles. Later the 10 c of 1895 (Plzarro) followed in black and in 1900 a new value of 22 centavos in two colors with a portrait of president Lopez de Romana.

In 1901 we again find a commemorative issue celebrating the commencement of the 20th century. There are only three values to this, le Admiral Gran, 20 Colonel Bolognesi and 5c President Romana. This was followed in 1902 by a 22c stamp in the type of the commemorative issue of 1895.

From this we see that little order has been established, the order belag broken by commemorative issues and, as it appears, unnecessary changes. The area of surcharges at least seems to be over.

In vol. IX of "Mekeels Weekly Stamp News' one may find on page 96 a long list of Remalnders of Peruplan stamps, amounting to more than 4 million, offered for sale. What the result of thls offer was I am not aware.
(To be continued.)

The 1907 Truo-cent Brokun Envelopes By Charles E. Jenny

As this issue of envelopes is already replaced by the new issue in red, being in use but about three months, it may be well to compare netes and find just what sizes were issued. Below is a list of such so far as known to me. If anyone has any other sizes or colors I would be glad to hear from them.

Creamy white, sizes $3,4,5,7,8,9,11,13,14$. Bluish white, slzes 5,13 . A mber, sizes 3, 5, 7, 8, 9, 13, 14. Blue, sizes, $5,7,13,14$. Buff, slzes 2, 3, $5,7,13,14$. Manilla, wrapper.

In the large head type, which is much scarcer, the following are found:
Creamy white, sizes $3,5,8,13$. Bluish white,sizes 5, 13. A mber,sizes 5, 13. Flue, sizes 5, 13. Buff, sizes 13

Of the new two cent red the following sizes have already appeared and doubtless all other sizess will soon be found:

White, sizes $5,7,8,13$. Amber, sizes $5,9,13$. Blue, sizes 5, 13.
For the convenience of those not familiar with the government system of numberng the size of envelopes, the following measurements are given:

Size $1,27 / 8$ by $51 / 4$ inches Size $2,31 / 4$ by $51 / 2$ inches. Size $3,33 / 8$ by $5 \frac{1}{8}$ inches. Size 4, 3 有 by $5 \%$ inches. Size $5,31 / 2$ by $65 \cdot 16$ inches. Size 7, 378 by $8 \%$ jriches. Size $8,41 / 8$ by $91 / 2$ inches. Size $9,43 / 8$ by $10 \frac{1}{6}$ inches. ${ }^{\circ}$. Size 10, 39.15 by $4 \frac{5 / 6}{}$ inches. Size $11,4 / 4$ by $5 \frac{1}{4}$ inches. Size 13, 334 by $63 / 4$ inches. Size 14, 39,4 by $65 \cdot 16$.

A Reality by L. L. Dolson

Series No. 6 of the Experiences of a Stamp Dealer.
The Dealer held a telegram in his hand, it read: "Your Uncle George died this morning at 10 o'clock, come at once." The Dealer remarked "that he did not have time to see the old fellow buried.' But when he read on a little farther" his stamp collection has been left to sou," he began to shed tears at the loss of his 'dear' uncle and to make preparations to go.

After the funeral the Stamp Dealer went to his ollce carrying his deceased Uncle's stamps. He immediately sat to work and mounted them in a new book and when he saw them arrayed in a new bock and realized that he had received a fortune, he actually shed tears for joy. Then he sat down to-no 1 must not say meditate, for 'twas a reality he was rich, and 1 must add, lived happily ever after.

Lately I got a copy of the Southern Post Card Magazine, Nov. 1906. It Is, now November 1907. and it took this paper a full year to reach me. It contains a stamp column, and had I seen it before, I would have mentioned It before to make the readers of the WEST acquainted with it. Whether it still exists I do not know. Why don't publishers of new papers send me a copy of their paper for review? A good word here and there helps a good deal. Another way to increase circulation is to get ads with the WESt The WEST is liberal in this respect, and oo-operation is to everybody's benefit. -L. G. Dorpat.

A Use for Holiday Picture Post Cards

At this time of the year more than at any other, our letter boxes". overHow with pictu.e postcards, and the question becomes acute as to what use can be made of the missives sent us by friends who are holiday making af tre seaside.or in the country. A method has recently been erolved by whigh the quaint and beautiful effects of stained glass can be got by the aid of gifo torial cards. withont the exercise of any more skill and patience that, fies average artworker is endowed with.
oller $E$
By wav of a first endeacor we will make a teapot stand out of afpingle card and a sheet of glass of the same shape, but one elghth of an inghalarger all aound. The style of the picture does not particularly signify feckiffhy is a good thing, as individual tastes and sentiments can be allowed efres oflaco We can keep always before us the view of some place full of pleagant assifio ations for us. the reproduction of any famous picture we admire, gf, the fapfti, card which has captured our imagination. If we are to exefgra; $\mathrm{an}_{\mathrm{y}}$, diffrim; ination it should be in favor of deep rich tints, crimson supsetfe dark, pagan; light scenes, and so on.

Ilaving picked our card, we soak it for twelve hoursily cleann, cold watery board, and gently and carefully rub off the cardboard 159 m , thanhagj, sh as to leave only a thin sheet with the picture This processips qgt geardyan duffe cult as might appear, and a little practice will spon epable 8 ng ton managejit successfully. Fine sandpaper may be used, as well as theftogerngibiog 9 k When quite dry the card must be tized down to, the squaradtus pe decgrated with the picture side next to the glass. Anygogd glear, paste mapobis, omk plosed here, but it must be clear. All mositurehaging haqn squegzad igytb the stand is left to dry before the business, af rendorgif the piet yrat transparis black paper, to give the illusion of leading, is rua all round the glass, the exta eighth of an inch allowed preventing it from encroaching on the pioture.

These teapot stands, though undoubtedly effective, are ouly the rudi. ments of the work uuder conside.ation. Hy using large sheets of glass and bits cut out from different cards, instead of whole ones, the most artistic results can be arrived at. Glass fireplace screens, which are not particularly expensive to bul, are particularly troublesome to make, hold out vast pos. sibilities. The best method for these is to place a row of igures cut out from cards one above the other, down the center of each panel, forming he background ot self-colored pleces, similarly obtained, which are dovetailed Into each other, according to their shapes, all the joints belng, of course, sovered up by the lengths of black paper preciousig mentioned. It oue have any cards with floral or conventional designs.or mottoes printed in ornamental characters, it will be found possible to work in bits cut from them into the backgrounds. A catalogue of stained glass lights, or of transparent paper "'Window Decorattons," will give many useful hints as to the disposition of these adrentitious ornaments. If preferred there would be nothing against makiug a tire screen to show a series of views upon a plain ground, in such a case we stould ädvise dariz blue.

We give a design for a break'ast board on which to put a coffee pot.etc. It would be of glass with a polished wood rim and little feet. In this instance we buglo by plotting out the surface io a series of littie panels, making the two halves correspond with one another, and not allowing the various pieces to run in together as they come, as we have when forming backgrounds all of a single color. For the large circle in the center we advise the use of one of the giant pustcards now tu be bought at all places of popular resort, and for the other panels it is wot a difficult matter to find cards from which a selfcoutained bit, so to speak, can be taken of the size and shape reguired.

The principle ou which this breakfast board is decorated is applicable to all the different kind of glass trays which are now sold. The subjects need not, of course, be confined to any particular style The Dutch blue and white canes that one so often gets, might be worked up into a beautiful trag, or one could make a most admirable patriotic one with a portrait of His Gracious Majesty fir a center plece, and the fags and embiems of our country and its Colontes disposed around it. We can picture a fine one of naval subjects, arranged around a card of "The Victory," or "The Oregon," or a military one given up to one or more of the famous reglments of the U. S. Armp. In fact, it is always the same when one comes to speak of picture postcards. Their range is so wide nowadays that one at once begins to imagine collections formed on all sorts of lines It is not difficult to reduce such notloas to practice. Once let your friends know that you are accumulating patriotic or naval or milltary cards, or whatever it may be and thes will soon begin to come in.

A rather ambltious effort, but one which will repay a good deal of time and trouble, is to cover a table top with cards treated in the manner we are describing. In this case they are stuck down from the back on to the wood and the glass, cut to the shape of the table, is subsequently Ifeed to it, as is done in the case of some valuable Chippendale pieces. The advantage of a table thus decorated is that nothlog spilled on it will leave ang mark, nor will it be nearly so liable to get scratched or dirty, as if it were painted. A sries of reproductions of well-known pictures with a rich red or blue flilng strikes us as a most bopeful suggetsion for this special branch of the work.

The hanging glass panels, which are used by a good many people as window ornaments, are another promising subject Shields of arms, cut from heraldic cards, look acmirable on them, and so do full length figures or Dutch patterns. Though a Japanese design might seem out of place in stained glass, one might be tried as an experiment.--From an English paper.

BIRTH OF POST CARDS.

Who, when, what, or how originated the idea of picture post cards is a matter of dispute. liut meager information can be obtained on the subject. It is said that M. Leon Besnardeux, a bookseller and stafioner, conceived the idea in 1870 during the J'ranco Prussian War.

There were forty thousand soldiers in camp in his vicinity. The supply of envelopes was limited at the time, being difficult to obtain, and this wide. awale stationer trouhgt that the men would appreciate some way of letting their friends know of their environment and life in the camp without the necessity of writing long letters and the consequent hustle for envelopes.

He tried the experiment of having cards engraved with cannon, tents and ratious things which might prove of interest to far away relatives and sweetbearts. The soldiers promptly took them up. The ifst supply was soon exhausted, and he issued a second set. However, when the camp broke up the issue of cards was discontinued and forgotten at the time.

Some years later it was taken up by Germany and Austria, but attracted little attention at first. One storv goes that a German was the first to print an object of interest on a card witr a cordial greeting thereon and send $i t_{1}$ through the post; paying regular letter rates. Some say the industry devel. oped from this simple beginning. - New York Index.

Just as there are stamp fads, coin fads and badge fads, without which the youth's education is not complete, the card fad has taken rank with all of these and bids fair to surpass any of them That fact cannot be disputed. dll one has to do is to walk into a drug store, whether it be a small one or the largest in the city, curio shop, hotel or, most important of all, a store where nothing else but postal card are handled, and the hold they have on the people, especially the traveling public, will be easily recognized. The craze for collecting these cards seems to be largely accountable for the man aer in which it has increased and the interest kept up.

The Picture Postal Card. The picture or souvenir postal card is probably doing more to make the world known to the untraveled than all the keographies and gazetteers. There is scarcely a village anywhere in the domain of the Postal unton that has not had its picture taken for a postal card impression in black or white or in colors and thus its humble fame has been carried over the seas and introduced to the four corners of the union. Alt the aliens and prodigal sons cannot return for the old home week celebra. tions, but, thanks to the man who invented the pleture postal card, they may be reminded of the old home scenes at an expenditure of a few cents.New York Sun

From a newpspaer I clip the following: - What is said to tudicate a prehistoric dentistry ha, beell discovered in the teeth of a giant mastodon, the tinding of which has caused a more or less spiantitic stir in the neighborhood of Helena, Moniala Some of the terth of the mastodon have been found to be tilled, say otherwise veracious persons who have examined the bone formations, which have been underground for more tran 20,000 years.

Scientists who have examined the inds. declare it is ridiculous to assume that the paleozoic cave dweller tinkered with the teeth of the mamooths of his time, yet hare are evidences of a rude sort of bridge work in the molars of the ablmal. The tirst reports of this dental evidence was greeted with the sneer usivally accorded to nature fakirs, but an examination made by an expert in the matter of crowis and billings, disclosed the fact, he sass, that the bicusbids of this antediluvian creature had been subjected to some sort of dental process

Does any reader liriog near Releda know anything of this?

Some time ago I recieved from Mr Edgar Hawk of Moncngahela Clty, Pa., some very pretty shells, a fine fosgil fern and two perfect arrow points. Mr. Hawk states the arrows were found on the site of an old fort-this of course makes them more interesting

The Aonual Report of the Smithsonian Institution for 1906 is a valuable additirn to any library. Some of the best articles in this colume are Iceland: Its Ilistory and Inhableants, by IIerr Jon Stefanson; The recently discovered Tertiary Vertebrata of Exypt,by C. W. This paper is purely geological and archaeological in its uature, and the author has established a list of well anthenticated anthropological discoveries, which he has carefully separated from those finds the age of which is not settled -Scalp. ing in America, by George Friedrica. This is a fine description of scalping as practiced by the different tribes of A merican Indians and the first white settlers, with the amounts of bounty paid at different times for scalps. You

While digeing a well in Mason county lll., workmen on the farm of John lirooks uncovered a number of teeth which belonged to some great mas. todon. The teeth were mine inches in length, about five inches in width and with a circumperence of tweaty Inches. The roots of the teeth were eight ioches in length although there were signs of breakage on the prongs. Othef portions of the skeleton crumbled to dust as soon as exposed to the alr, but the teeth are sound.

I received from Mr. C. Edw. Kurtz of Bucyrus, Ohio, a short account of au lminal cemetrer the west side of the town of Bellevue. He states that a oumber of skeletons have been expused there, and several relics found-also that ir is the center of several Indian trails. If any reader knows more of this ancient burial grouud. will they please soud me an account of same, rith list of the most important relics found there.

Does any reader remember anvthing of Mr. C. W. Riggs, an old hunter, trapper and mound explorer, who left Cineinnati in the fall of 1887 with three small boats known as the Sunny South No. 1. 2, and 3 respectively? Nr. Riggs intended to go down the Onio and Mississippi rivers to nearly the St. Francis river, Arkansas. From there re intended to go over into the pilds of Acrtansas about fifty miles and spend six weeks or two months exploring mounds. I have never heard from him since, but would llke to know if there are any mounds in that section, if anyone has explored them, and with what success.

I would like some reader to write the WEST and describe the stone relis found in Oregon, Washiogton and British Columbia. This is a sectiou of America from which we get very little archaeological data, would also like to hear from some of the readers in the Gulf States.

No Postage Stamps Here. Glancing over the map in quest of British possessions which may possibly provide us with new issues of stamps, we find them cheifly among the Pacifc Islands. For instance, there are the Gilbert Islands and the Elllice Islands, forming together the Gilbert and Ellice Islands Protectorate. There are toveny-fve islands in all, with a total area of l66 square miles, and a population of thirty-five thousand. As, however, there are only about one hundred Europeans settled on the islands, the need for postage stamps is perhaps not a very pressing matter. There are also the Phoenix Islands, seven in number, and the Unlon, or Tokelan Islands, a group of six islands with varlous islets. Many other small groups and sin. fle islands in the Pacific are scarcely worth mentioning as possible issuers of postags stamps. Among the islands of the Southern Atlantic the day may cume when Ascension may be granted its own issue of postage stamps. There is also Tristan d'Acunha, one of the lonliest, but at the same time healthlest, spots in the world. It is said that everybody in Tritan d'Acunha lives to a great age-possibly because they have no electriz trams, municipal elections, oi-postage stamps!-Otago Witness, N. Z.

A Kolumn for Kansas Kollectors  Bv George J. Remsburg

Dr. Erwin, of Harper, has a rare old pipe that would be a valuable ad. dition to any collection of quaint, curlus and antique objects. ${ }^{\text {ax }}$ It was made in Denmark more than 150 years ago. and the doctor values it at $\$ 100$. It is, of meerschaum and is mounted in solid silver. The bowl is tive inches high and four inches across, but taking the stem out of it one is surprised that it weighs so little. The stex is flexible and is about two feet long. It is corered with braided silk.

With the exception of Harvard university the collections in the museam of the Kansas State university are the Jargest in the United States. These collections are growing larger each year through the expeditions of the entomological, zoological, botanical and geological departments of the institutin. Prof. H. T. Martin recently secured a large and valuable geqlogical collection from Yatagonia, South A merica.

An exchange says that a curious lead plate was found by Henry Hees, at Newton, while digging in the banks of Sand Creek to get some sand. He was down about five feet when his spade struck something hard and the plate came to light. It is about eight inches in diameter. In the center is an embossed crown with a star in it; all around the edges are Maltese crosses, evidently pressed, and just above the crown is engraved in scrip letters, $U$. M. C., in a simple monogram. Under the crown are the figures 1105. The plate is very heavy and the workmanship is fine.

The Howard (Kans.) Courant some time ago referred to the enterprise of several Kansas collectors, well known to readers of Philatelle West, as follows: "A room has been fised up at the court house for a museum and curio rcom, and it is truly an interesting exhiblt. Cammie Ross is arranging It and has loaned his own private exhlbit as a big starter. He has a rare collection of geological specimens, petrifactions, etc., embodying more than 3,300 speimens from Elk county alone. Alsj he furnishes over 1,000 from other states. Charles Osborn has contributed over 500 Elk county specimens. Jeff Hurst, Mrs. Shelby, Isaac Coley and others also contributing liberally. Everett Ross has displayed a fine collection of zoological specimens, with reptiles, bugs and insects of iare kinds. The Ross boys have their specimens nicely cased under glass, the work of John Ross, and it is expected that other additions will be made to the extibit.

The Wintield Courier reports the following: A find of fossil bones that will discount "the Leavenworth pre-Ilacia Man", was made by workmen digging in the cellar of A. F. Smith's house in Hlarvey township. They were taking rock out of the cellar for the furnace which I. W. Randall is installing, and in breaking up one big stone, several humas bones were dis. covered. Other specimens found near the place lead to the belief that the ledge where they were found had, a long time ago, been used as a burial ground. The ledge in which the petritied remains were located was covered with soll to the depth of about a foot and a half. The bones were hidden in the rock about four feet farther down Mr. Randall brought two of the pleces with him and they are now on exhibition at Snyder and Nolte's hardware store. They look as though they might be the knee bone or joint of some kind. They are perfect in shape, although extra large and are as hard

Ihe limetstone ledge io which they have betn burled so loug. Mr. Ras. millintends to have an expert examine the specimens to ascertain what they

Mounting Botanical Specimens bp K. Nuck

-Those who are interested in botany, and who have during the pastisumaer and fall collected and pressed botanical specimens do doubt wish to keep then for futere refereuce. To do this they should be mounted, and a few pointers on this subject may be of use to amateurs.

Sheets of stronk white paper are of course absolutely necessary, if regu ar mounting paper canuot be obtained the unruled side of foolscap or theap dawirg paper may be used.
-The most convenient way of attachtog the spectmen to the paper is to fue a sheet the same size as your paper, lay the specimen carefully in the water, placing it wrunk side up, and gum it thoroughiy witt: a littie soft trush. Photographers Paste gives good results, but mucilage mag be used. How take the paper to which gou intend attaching the specimen, aud lay it arefully on sour plant. Press it a little and then you can lift paper and pecimen will be fastened to it. To make it good and soll, make a slit with ipenknife in say two places under stem and paste a narrow strip of paper sound stem of plant and through the slit in the paper, and gum the ends bun on back of paper.

The next thiog is to write in lower right hand corner its botanioal ame, together with common or local name, the date of collection, locality ahere found and the time of flowerin", if it is a flowering plant.

Of course only one specles shou!d be placed on a sheet and wheu all your flants are thus mounted they can be arranged as follows:-All the Species of the same Genus should be placed in a cover of different and coarser paper than on which specimens are mounted, and the name of the Genus can be ritten on outside lower corner. Then the General of the same Orders hould be placed together in the same was and the name of the Order written outside on sheet as before. The different Orders can be arranged in any order yon see tit and now your collection is complete as far as mounting and arnuging are concerned. When new varieties are added they are placed in their proper place under whatever Genus they belong to. In this way it s a rery simple matter to add specimens to one's collection.

I trust that these few remarks may be of interest to some amateur botantst. In the near future I will give a few pointers on collecting and pressing specimens so that any new hand at the job may have a ilttle idea is to how to go to work.

And now in conclusion, I have only this to say. If sou are not already a botanist, start now and be ready to collect specimens in the spring.

Kubbings of Coins. Rubblags of coins may be successfully made by folding a plece of tissue paper, placing the coin at the bottom of the fold. and holding it firmly to prevent slipping. Rub the surface of the tissue paper lightly with a soft blue pencll, and you will be able to briog out clearrall of the type. Without removing the coin, rub the other side Pleces a high relief, as in the case of some medal, cannot be brought out by this process.-Lyman H. Low.

A lead Papal seal, which evidently was once attached to an ecclesiasti. cal document, has been found near Liocoln, Englasd. It bears upon it the inscription, "MARTIN US PP. V.' thus indicating that it was atached to a document bearing the seal of Pope Martin V., who was elected Pope in 1417, and died in 1431. Lincoin Museum has been fortunate in securing a number of treasures lately, many tinds having been made during recent ercavations in the City.

A vase was found lately at Gela, on which is painted the Battle of the Amazons. Experts affirm that it is the work of Polygnotus, of whose cratsmanship only three vases have hitherto been known.

A very interesting discovery of Roman pottery has just been made at Newbury, near the bick kilos belonging to S . and E Collier. No less than twenty Roman vessels have been unearthed.

According to a New York paper, a small faded red morocco volume bear. ing on the fly leaf the autograph of Charlotte Bronte. has just been purchas ed by a collector from one of the barrowmen In Farringdon Street. The literary price which is of considerable value, was secured for eight cents.

At a recent sale of old china, at London, an old Worcester tulip pase, painted with exotic birds in three compartments, sold for $$ 700$. Two pairs of Chelsea oval dishes, from the Duke of Cambridge's collection fetched $222.50, and a small wooden bux, made from Shakespeare's celebrated mulbery tree, $$ 36$.

The, members of the Sheffield Naturalists' Club have just celebrated the close of the season by a display of the specimens secured during the year. The President showed many minerals and fossils and rough agates, and Mr. G. W. Roome had some Tertiary fossils from the Paris Basin, and the south of France. The collection was displayed in the rooms of the Literary and Philosophical Society. This is a good way for all to exhibit their collec. tions.

Tests of the many valuable hard woods native to Western Australia have made known the extraordinary properties of vate, bellesed to be the strongest of all known woods. Its average tensile strength is $24,000 \mathrm{lbs}$. to the square inch, equaling that of good cast iron. Mang specimens are, howbref, much stronger, and one was tested up ro seventeen and a halt tons to the square inch, which is equal to the tensile strength of wrought iron. The sawn timber of yate, is probably the strougest in the nurld. The tree grows 10 a maximum height of 100 ft ., and has sometimes a diameter of two and a half or even"three feet.

Some ancient pottery has fust been found at Reading, England. In the ofighborhood of the town many remains of ancient potteries have been diswrered from time to time. Some of the ware, although crude in form and In its baking, is decorated with a sort of cross-halched pattern and dogtooth. ed border around the rim.

The Prince of Wales has piesented to the Royal Cernwall Institution a saluable collection of thirty-one gold coius found at Trerbraze Farm, near Liskeard. The coins were claimed as treasure trove. the proprty of the Duchy of Corowall of which the Prince is the Duke.

An interestirg collection of old china has just been dspersed at Leeds. The prices realizd were very moderate, and collecrors secured some good mpecimens. A Swansea plaque, palnted with roses, by Billingsluy, went for 40.50 and a pretity little Ellers ware teapot went for 88 . Several Lowestoft leapots were sold at fairly good prices, and a Worcester teapot with a crescent mark realized $$ 14$

At a sale of coins and medals in London a silver penny of Henry l., from the Stamford miut, realised 820 and a penny of Stephen, struck at Hereford mint $10. War medals again realized gosd prices, a Jellalabad 1842 medal wid for $$ 50$, and a Naval Copenhagen medal 1801 ; realised $$ 60$

In contrast to the low prices realised at the sale of china mentioued above, reference may be made to a pair of Chelsea figures sold at London a def days ago for $\mathbf{$ 7 2 5}$, and a Ltmoges salt cellar only three inches high. $\mathbf{$ 2 2 5}$.

A rare folio, printed by William Caxton, in the first year of the reign of Richard III., was to be sold at London on Tecember 14th. Various estimates of the value of the book being that it is worth fully $$ \overline{0} 000$.

There are now many collectors of old bindings, and at recent sales books of absolutely no value in themselves have fetched quite high prices bceause of their elaborate covers. A few days ago a fine Venetian tinding of 1029 in black morocco fetched a large sum and a Scotch binding of 1769 , went for 425. Old covers, with supre libros, stamped outside, are well worth collecting, as their rarity is locreasing.

A quantity of Celtic pottery with incised markings and decorations around the rims of the vessels has been discoveied in the Isle of Thanet, near Dumpton, and spear heads, including several made of iron, have been found in the neighborhood of Broadstairs.

One of the most remarkable sales of benes of recent years has just taken place at London auction rooms, nearly 300 lots of bones and teeth being sold. Some fetched high prices, but the majority wellt very cheap Perhaps one of the most Interesting lots was a beautifil collection of rare chipped tints, arrow heads and spesais. which was keenly competed for by collectors.

Seveial ueeks ayo whlle going over some of the old Indian village sites, where 1 have been securing specimens for my collection during the past two or three jears, and in crossing a bield on the south bank of Indian creek I chanced upon a gravel pit therein. The pit is $Y$ shaped, and about 60 feat long by 10 or 12 wide, and from 5 to 8 deep. The first two feet from the surface is composed of black soil in which are found numerous burnt stones and lint chips; this $s$ followed by a strata of yellowish-brown dirt two or three feet thick and contains some gravel; the following strata is composed of gravel in whith l found some periwinkle shells and filnt chips. Embedded in the floor of the pit I found a broken implement of grey flint $21 / 2$ inches long, 24 broad and 3 thick, and appears to have been an extra long spear of lance head (must have been ten or more inches in length); the workmanship is very tine. A so found an arrowhead $21 / 2$ inches long in a plle of gravel thrown out of the pit. Today. January 5, I revisited ine site, and found in the bottom a grinding or rubbing stone $4 x 4 \frac{1}{4}$ luches. I examined the suirooundings on the surface, and found that the soil was strewn with many burnt stones and pieces of filnt, similar to the village sites I have found elserere. In my searching I found three arrowheads and three or four fragments -also a broken grinding stone. What puzzles me is: Did those specimens lound embedded in the foor fall in while working the pit, or are thes of still an earlier period? The pit is about a hundred yards from Indian creek on the bluffeside.

The Arrangement of a Coin Cabinet

is often a troublesome matter, especially as the collection grows, and trays whict have been alloted to certain sections becume orercrowded, and the space needed has to be extended. It is well therefure, in arranging' a cabi set, and every collector should have a cabiner, however swall it may be, space should be allotted for probable developments. In arranglug, for instance, a cabinet of Euglish silver, it is oot diticult to leave approximately sufficient space for each of the different sized coins needed, al ways bearing in mind the vast difference between the requitements of one reign and another, until the Edward's ctre to the throne, the collectable silver coins of Eaglish eurrency consisted of pennies and a fow minor sub divisions, but when the groat, was introducsd by Fi 3 ward III, a wider tield was opened up, and quite a nubmer of beauttipiliy presarved groats issued by the London, Catais, lork, and other miots, may be secured, and at least one specimen from each of the well-known mint towns sould be sacured. So the space reguired from each reign will iacrease as time goes on, especially so when the larger crowns, commencing with Charles LI., were issued.
. From the general outlloe we bave given, cullecters mas set to work, after selecting the series they intend to gather, with every confidence, and re can assure the most inexperienced that coin collecting is one of the most interestiog hobbles ever followed. It opens up tields of research, historically ad geographically, and its educationsl advantages are not the least among the:benefits it bestows upon its devotees.

COIN NOTES.
The*U. S. Mint at Philadelphla coined $108,138,618$ one cent pieces during 1907. ${ }^{\text {on }}$ There were also struck during the past year 39.214 .800 niskels. Apparently there will be enough small change to go 'round.
U. S. colns for use in the Phillipines are struck at Philadelpha and San Francisco. Last year only 10, 20, and 50 centavo pieces were made at Philadelphia, while'the same denominations and $10,280,000$ pesos (dollars) mere colned at San Francisco. No proof sets were made of Phillipine coins during 1907, as has been done in the former years. The size of the peso has been redaced to conform with the higher price of silver bullion.

Lignite In Abumdance. A larye amount of detailed work was dooe in North Dakota, duiling the past season by both the United States geological survey and the state geological survey. The study of the lignite deposits of North Dakota and adjoining states, commenced by the federal government two years aso, was continued. lhe party of tive was in charge of Dr. A. G. Leol,ard, who had assoçated witht him Carl D. Smith of Washington. The work began at Medora, aud extended acress the line into Montana, covering a st rip of territory 24 miles wide on either side of the Northern Pacitic railroad. The outcrops of the different coal beds were carefully mapped and their thickness and extent determined. It was soon discovered that the in. dividual lignite seanis. instead of covering only a limited area, as previousls supposed, were, as a matter of fact. of great extent. One thick coal bed was traced on the bluffs of the Litte Missruii river fur a distance of 12 miles while another with a thlckness of 16 feet and over, was found to continue for at least 24 miles

But a still more extensive coal seam is one which is too largely burned out but which is known to have covered an area measuring 32 miles noth and south by 20 miles east and west, or some 640 square miles. This same lignite bed had a thickness of i2 to 18 feet. Other beds with a thickuess considerably greater than this. The one near the base of Sentinel Butte measures 21 feel; another on Bacon creak, in suuthern Billings county, is 30 feet thick and the coal bed exposed on Sind creek has a thickness of 35 feet.

The age of the strata in which the lignite is found has long beer in doubt and ith order to determire it large collect jons of fossils were made in the course of the field nork. In addition to the specimens secured by the members of the party, ino of the peologisis of the United States reological survey, Messis. Knowltun and Peale, spent several neeks collecting about Bismark, Dickinson, Medora and Sellintl Buttespeoding ten dass with the government party near Medora The fossils, which are mostly leaves, indicate that the age of the coal bearing strata is not Laramie, as commonly supposed, but that they belong to a more recent folmation called the Folt Union, frum the old fort at the mouth of the Yellowstone, near Huford.

Much raluable information concerning this Fort Union formation, which covers the western half of North Dakota was secured during the summer and will be incorporated not only in the report to the published by the United States geological survey but will be available also for the state geological surrey report. While camped beside the Little Missourd at Medora the party came near being drowned out. the flood, which was one of the highest in 27 years, coming within a few Inches of the teuts.

While working in the vicinity of Sentinel Butte careful measurements were made to determine its exact height, since it ts the highest point in the name and it has an elevation of 3350 feet above sea level.

WHEREAS, the commendable effort of President Theodore Roosevelt to improve the artistic appearance of our coinage have brought about the adoption of sew designs in the ten and twenty dollar gold pieces,

WHEREAS, the new designs have been severaly add unfavorably criticised by the people and in the public press, therefore be it

RESOLVED, by the Chicago Numismatic Society, that, in the opinion of its members, such unfavorable eriticism is.for the most part, unwarranted and not well considered; that cons'ftule the best medium by means of which progress in medalic art can be lllustrated to all the people and that therefore the great progress which has been made in this art since the designs heretofore in use were first adopted, should recejve recognition on our coins: that the new designs, with the exception of the obverse on the ten dollar plece, are improvements, artistically, over those which they displace: that the reverse desikns of moth pieces might be further improved; that the obverse of the twenty dollar piece is the most beautiful design which has ever appeared on any authorized coin of our country; And be lt further

RESOLVED, that the President be heartily commended for his labors in connection with the improvement of the artistic appearance of our coinage, and respectfully urged to continue his efforts until all of our colns are impressed with designs exempliyfing the highest and best types of modern medallic art.

A motion was carried, inst ructing the Secretary to spread the reolutions on the minutes and to have a copy engrossed and forwarded to President Rocsavelt

The great seal of the great South A merican Repubilc, engraved with the arms and mottoes of the country, and surrounded with the inscription, " Gouvernment Zuid Airikaansche Rebubliek,'" created some interest when tt wa sold a few days ago. Kruuger's coins are rather a drug on the market. Large quantities were brought over to this country at the time of the war, and were bought by curio dealers and others in the hope that they might rise in value. but collectors of such modern coins appear to be well satisfied, and at the present time there are practically no buyers.

Yo less than $$ 4000$ was realized at the sale of a collection of procis, essays and color trials of eariy British postage stamps at London recently. Minatures continue to fetch good prices, and at a sale of needlework pictures some high prices were paid for comparatively indifferent specimens There is a contfiued demand for old Chelsea Ggures, and even when damaged, collectors will pay large sums for well known pieces. Perhaps one of the best bargains for collectors not having too much moneg to sparn, was a Cluelsea sheperdess, sold for 87, It was a tine figure although damaged.

Our Nete Gold Coins By Ben Green

Barly in November the mint at Philadelphia, sent out the first of the few ten dollar gold pleces, followed a month later by the twenties. The adical departure in these pieces has aroused wide spread Interest and much criticism. This is generally to be expected, as tastes in these matters differ. Host of us dislike to give up those thlags which have become famlliar by long usage. The designs for the new coins are by the late St. Gaudens; but the artistic effect has had to be destroyed in a large part by the alterations pecessary to tit the colns for eversday use, and even collectors have to admit, that circualtion as a monetary medium is the prime office of a cold.

The ten dollar plece, which comes in for the greatest amount of criticism, has on the obverse the face of Mary Cunningham, an Irish house maid, with an enormous. feather headdress suoh as is supposed to be worn by Indian warriors. The reverse has an eagle strongly resembling the eagles found on the coins of the early Ptolemys of Egypt, which antidates the Christian era. This bird's particular strong point is the unusually heavy feathering of his legs. The fact that eagles are sometimes favored by nature in this way helps the novice to distloguish this creature from those other A merican birds, the turkey and the buzzard. The edge of the ten dollar plece has stars astead of ordinary milling.

In the itrst issue of the new twenty dollar pieces, of which there were 11.200 struck, we have a tine example of true artistic effect. The high reliet brings out the tigure of Liberty on the obverse and the flyng eagle on the rererse. Liberty is represented by a full length female figure with one foot resting upon a rock. It was this pose which brought the offending knee to grief, as it was made so prominent by the bend of the leg that the coins would not stack. An effort was maje to overcome this difficulty by striking the pieces with an edge about double the thickness of the ordinary twents dollar piece. Rays of the sun are in the background: is the distance the dome and a part of the capitol are seen. The date is in Roman numerals, YCMVII. On the reverse is a fiying eagle such as appeared on the dollars of 1836 , or more commonly seen on the cents of 1857 and 1858 Part of the orb of the sun is shown below from which the rays extend in all directions. The legend, "UNITED STATES OF AMERICA" and 'TWENTY DOL. LALS"' are in two lines above the eagle. The edge bears the legend. "E PLURIBUS. UNUM'' in rai,ed letters. The modified piece. which is :made suitable for commercial purposes; has the date in tgures. It is not nearly so hadsome a piece as the tist, as the flattening of the rellef greatly spoils the artistic effect. The motto, "IN GOD WE TRUST"', used on our gold coins since 1866, has been omitted and has caused some criticism. However, it has been favorably received by almost everyone. The motto was not placed on our coluage under any act of congress, it beiog a sencimeut proposed Ig a Treasury official at the close of the Civil war when reconstruction was harassing the country. Our money ts the medtum of exchange of the combunsealth and has nothlug to do with our christlanits. I minister refused 2 Christmas present of $\mathbf{i v e}$ of the twenty dollars trecaluse of their lack of this mutto. He may with equal reason refuse to drink milk which was delivered in a nottle without this, or an efral:y pions moto blown into the bottle

Togather they realized $$ 1250$ Dr. Jerdon was a famous vologist, and the work in question is described as of great value.

Famous Palntings to Come to America. It is learned in this city that Thomas Agnew, & Sons, art dealers, of London, are the buyers of the famous Ashburton collection of paintings. The price paid was about $83,000,000$, and has snme of the finest of the pletures are to come to this country. Stevenson Scott of the tirm of Scott & Fowles saw the collection in England a month ago, and he thinks that a Murillo in it it will probably be bruught to New York. Two of eight or ten Kembrandts may be sent here, each belog valued at $$ 200,000$ One is the portrait of Rembrandt by himself, aud the other is a portrait of a brother artist, Cornellus Janssen. - Chicago Record Herald.
"When boys and girle attain the age of twelve, they nearly always find some hobby which they take a fancy 10 . I was no exception to that rule, and I took up first of all stamp collecting. Living in a quiet viliage I found it a tine recreation, after my lessons were inulsbed, to place my fresh- specimens in my ablum. I found my collection a great help to me in my study of history and geography. The following summer I bought a cheap camera and photographed but I replaced it with a $1 / 4$-plate, which I now take with me on my cycle tours. It is a fine size for photo post card.

Oldest Bank Notes. The oldest banknotes in the world are the "ffiying money' or convenient money, first Issued in China in 1697 B. C. One writer tells that the ancient Chinese bank notes were in many respects similar to those of the present day, bearing the name of the note, the signature of the official who issued it, and its value, in both figures and words. On the top of these notes was the following phllosophical injunction. "Produce all you can; spend with economy."

Friends: -

The past year has been one full of many draw backs to our society. The tirst fear of a llew soclety is always the most discouraging and collectors juok on and wonder if the soclety will appar in the next issue, thibking that per. haps it will expire with each issue As ou: Vice Pres. of New York sars, he has teen watching our growth and is satistled that we have passed che experimental stage. I wonder where there is another society that ever made the growth we have in our first jear. Another draw back at the start was ready money to push the society. We are now In gnod shape and every cent will be p!aced to push the society. We are waiting now on the printer for a large supply of application blanks and as soon as they are off the press they will be sent out in large numbers. As far as possible a supply will be sent to the members and you are asked to kindly pass them on to some one interested in the future of collecting, and-remember that if you have small circulars you wish sent out forward them to the Sec. and he will be ooly too glad to put them in with his letters. We will do anything we can to help the members and will appreciate any help you may be able to give in return.

We have had many letters since our change in placing the collectors in groups and I am sorry that we did not make the changes sooner. We will be glad at any time to have your suggestions and you may rest assured that will be seriously conisdered. We note that the Sunflower Stamp Co., Wm. Blomberg, Pres. has just purchased the interest owned in the company by Ir Simpson formerly one of the firm. We have three membrs in the above company, how is that? Our special offer has proved so satisfactory that here after, anyone who wishes to join the Union, who has a years subscription ahead to the offcial organ, THE WEST will only be required to pay 25 c membershjp dues. So many have written that thes belong to some other society or for other reasons have their subscriplton ahead that we feel that it is no more than right. It you are just sending in your yearls subscription don't forget to tell the publisher to etxend to sou a mebmership in the Collectors Union. See our list of firms this month. There ought to be a thousand more. Any member who is a dealer of any kind is entitled to have his pame here, tell gour Sec. Do it now. We offer here a list of firms loyal to the Union and sou will tind them worthy of a share of your patronage. T. C. Sparks, Fossil dealer, Jeffersonville, Ind. O. C. Brush, Stamp dealer, K Belgium, N. In the heart of the Red Earth country, about one hundred fifty miles north of San Francisco, today one may see rancherias of Indian villages called pomos. These are most numerous in Sonoma, Lake and Mendocino counties, where the creeks around Russian river abound in tish. "Bam,' the basket plant, eit ner grass, vine or tree, grows in profusion in the root of sedge, wild grape ur willow along the fringed edges of lake and stream. The sherry. brown-red bark of the ruot of the redwood tree and the brilliant black covering of tie unpeeled tule root-especially the rare species known as "flowering tule," a dioecious plant of which only the male variety produces the blossom, are used for patterns.

'I'he Poma clans excel in the art of basketry, and although their arl, from the infusion of Spanish blood, bears the stamp of European taste and retinement. with the true intuition of her race, the Poma woman shows a manipolation of the material truly aboriginal. Feather basketry reaches the acme in the form of a little red basket, Ta sitol, commonly called the "sun basket." Though Indian in design and intention, this basket is not known among aboriginal tribes, as it symboliezs the union of two races, having orig. inated with the halforeed clans who crossed the plains four hundred years ago. at the time of the discovery of the Mississippi river, the guides of DeSoto.

The stitch is on a three rod foundation of the bamshlbu or colled type, the coils being willow rods soaked and bound in the form of a circle to give them shape. These rods can be extended to any size after being once dried. for weaving, the strand used is the rod of sedge grass (carex) between the stitches of which, while weaving, feathers of the red crested woodpecser are laid one at a time. On the border is sometimes a band of yellow, made of the feathers of the yellow throated lark, edged on the rim with a row of kaya, flat disks of shell wampum These white disks have given the Poma Woman the name of "The White Bead Woman of the Far West," though really they are not beads at all, but are made in diferent sizes representing the value of silver money. Their value has much depreciated since the early days of Callfornia history,still, at present they are worth one hundred eighty, one hundred sixty, and one hundred twenty to the American dollar in average sizes. The largest of them are worth twenty cents each, and the smallest two hundred and twenty to the dollar. For gold, a hexagon prism of magnesite, much resembling meerschaum, is the standard of these Indians, used in trade with the first Spanish settlers.

On the most elaborate sun baskets gold wampum is made into the same form as silver, and differs from it in appearanoe by having a tinge in velus of the red of iron pyrites of the red earth where it is found. On baskets made by Laye tribes, whose token is the "Gea" or quail plume, sometimes a border of Tsai-kakh-keya is made on the edge,each quail top held in place by a bead. - To be concluded next number.

The Bank of North America.

An Act for the Establishment of a National Bank; and for preventing the Establishment of every other Bank; and 10 preveot the passing of forged Bank Bills.

WHEREAS a national bank is of great service as well to the pubilc as to individuals; and the United States in Congress assembled, have by their resolution of May the twenty sixth, one thousand seven hundred and eighty one, approved of the plan submitted to them for the estabilshment of a na. tional bank within the said United States:

Be it therefore enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives, in General Court assembled, and by the authority of the same, That the sub. scribers to the national bank approved of by the United Siates as aforesald, be and they hereby are incorporated on behalf of this Commonwealth, by the name of the President, Direcrors and Companyof the llank of North America, according to the terms of the ordinance ot incorporate the sald subseribers, passed by the United States in Congress assemhled on the thirty first day of December, in the sear of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and eighty one.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That during the continuance of the present war with the crown of Great Britain, no other bauk, nor any other corporation, compang, or contitution, in the nature of a bank, shall be erected. or established, permitted or allowed, within this Com. monwealth. Provided nevertheless, that if either of the Uniced States hall, during the said war, establish or permit any other bank, soclety or constitution, in the nature of a bank to be established within the same, then this clause shall be void and of no effect.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforesald, That all notes and tills which have been or shall be issued by, for, or in the name of the said president, director and company, and nayable on demand, shall be receivable in the payment of all taxes, debts and duties, due, or that may become due, or payable to or for account of the said United States.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That, if any person shall forge, alter or counterfeit any sealed bank bill, or obtlgation, made or given out for, or in the name of the said president, directors and company, for the payment of any sum of money; or any bank note of any sort whatso. ever, signed for or in the name of said president, directors and compang, or shall alter or erase the same, or any endorsement thereunto, or shall demand the mones therein, pretended to be due, or any part thereof, of the said president, directors and company, or their succossors, or any person or persons, knowing such bill, obligation, or note to be altered, forged, counterfeited, or erased, and with intention to defraud the said president, directors and company, or any other person or persons, everyone so offending, and being thereof convicted in due form of law, shall be dee med guilty of felony, and shall suffer death as a felon, without benefit of clergy.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That if any person or persons, shall forge, or counterfeit, or procure to be forged, or counterfeited, or knowingly and willfully act or assist in forging or counterfetting any letter of attorney, or instrument, to transfer or convey any share or shares of stock, or any part thereof, of and in the baik aforesald, or to recelve the same, or any dividend or dividends rising frum the same; or shall knowingly. and fraudulently demand to have any such share or shares, dividend or dividends, or any part thereof, uutransferred, conveyed or received, by virtue of such counterfeit or forged letter of attorney or instrument; or shall falsely and deceitfully personate any true and lawful proprietor or proprietors of any share or shares in stack, dividend or dividends, thereby trans. ferring or endeavoring to transfer and convey the same, or recejving or ondeavoring to receive the money of such true and lawful proptetor, as if such offender were the true and lawful owner therenf; then, and in every such case, every person so offending, and being thereof duly convicted, shall be adjudged guilty of felony, and shall suffer death as a felon, without benefit of clergy.
(From Laws of Massachusetts, 1792.)
During extensive alteratious of the Lindrick golf course, Sheftield, Eng., workmen have discovered ifty silver colns of the reigu of Henry VJli, under a thorn tree a spot where tradition points to the old packhorse rack crossing the common. The colos which had evidently been buried during troubulous times were under one sod, and only a few inches below the surface of the ground, which had been trod by so many people for centuries. The coins are elaimed as treasure-trove.

Some interesting additions have been made to the Taunton Museum lately in consequence of the excavations which have been carried out at Wick Barrow, a large tumulus in the parish of Stogurses. This mound which was thought might prove to be the hurial place of the Danish chieftain Hobba, contained a number of relics of the early broaze age, three skeletons accompanied by ornamental drinking vessels of brouze were found, also a tiue fint knife, but no other metal objects.

According to Mr. Frank Freeth, the owuer of a magulticent collection of English pottery, Old Staffordshire slipware is much appreciated just now and prices are going up. He tells how a small teapot, on which he had set his mind, sold for $$ 25$ recently, although he thoungt $$ 15$ was a good price for it.

Ghe Latest? By W.S. Bradford

These post cards, Oh these post cards
What will they lead us to? Just when we have the latest -
They ring in something new.
I tho't I'd reached the limit
When an awful blow was dealt, I mean the day. I first observed Miss Current's post card belt.

There are Post cards that are sporty And post cards of good taste, But it certainly was stunning-

That album 'round her waist.
"I'm up against the real thing,"
"It's the worst I ever felt,"
These and more such doings on Miss Current's post card Lelt.

Notes and Revickers

I must ask the pardon of those who may be interested in this department, for its omission last month, on account of the illness of the editor.

I have recently recelved. for review coples of the Magazine of $\Delta$ mericab History, Port Chester, N. Y. It is full of up-to-date news of historical interest, as well as articles of more : han passing value, from the pens of distinguished wilters.

The leading article of the Oct. ' 07 is upon the work of the Oklahoma Eistorical Society. The Nov. issue contains a lengthy article on the celebration of the centeonial of the village of Herkimer, N. Y.; while the Dec. number contains numerous articles of patriotic interest.

An original letter of John Adams, dated 1809 , has recently come to light. It was written to Col. Joseph Ward and shows that he had fears for our nation in its early days. among other things he states that the history of our country was becoming fuil of falsehoods; he accuses Hamilton of circulating many of these; which he endeavored to rectifs.
"The Union Fire Company of Philadelphia," organized Dec. 6, 1737 was the first volunteer tire company in America.

The Alden Kindred Assosiation has bought the old Alden Homestead at Duxberry, Mass.

It was here that John Alden and his wife Priscilla lived nearly 100 years ago. It will be restored tu its original appearance and used as a famj lly museum. The Aldens plan to hold all family reunions here in future.

Laborers, while engaged in dtgging a cellar for a Phtladelphia school, have unearthed several cotifns. This site is near where Wm Penn first landed; and this, couplod with the fact that there are no records of a ceme. tery In that neighborhood, has lead to the belief that these are the bodies of some of Penn's followers.

President Roosevelt has recently approved the proposal of Miss Elsis Shaw, of St. Paul, to have an official national edition of America's patriotio songs This is a step in the right direstion, as many of our national airs have several different versions. An expert of the Music Department of the Congressional Librarp has verifled this and the President has now taken the matter up with the Librarian of Congress.

Let me again urge the readers of this department to sending clippings ind netes of interest. Full credit will be given to all.
It has recently beed reported that $\mathrm{K} r$. John A. Logan had decided to present all the war trophles and mementoes of her husband's collection to the State of lllinois.

Admiral Deney is one of the officials of an association furmed for the purpose of purchasing the home of Francis Scott Key, and malntalning it as a historical museum.

The A merican Historical Review for January has recently come to hand. it contains an excellent article by Max Farrand entitled "The First Hayburn Case, 1 i92."

At the recent meeting of the Prespyterian Historical Society, in Philadelphia, the Rep. Henry C. McCook, D. D., D. Sc., L. L. D. was elected president. Dr. McCook is a man learned along many lines, and no better person could have been chosen than he.

The first patents issued by the U. S. Goverament, were issued simul. tapeously to John Fitch, Nathan Reed, Jas. Rumsey and Joo. Stevens for steamboats on August 26, 1791.

It is with regret that we chrouicle the death of Brig. Gen. Albert $\mathbf{L}$. Lee; a Civil War veteran, editor and banker, at New York on Dec. 3lst last.

Gov. Stuart, of Penna., recently appointed a commission to erect a tablet at Middle Springs, Pa. In memory of the heroism of the soldiers in the Revolutionary War and the Wars of 1812 and 1846.

The publisher of this magazine aims to keep it at the head of its class. He cannot do this without your support. You must help him make it big. ger and better. To everyone who subseribes through me for a term of: 3 sears ( $$ 1.00$ ) I will present wilh a membership in the Soclety which has been formed for the preservation of the Washington monument in front of ladependence Hall, Philadelphia. This will entitle you to a certificate of membership, to which is attached a sliver of wood from the original State House, where the Declaration of Independense was signed and where the Liberty Bell now hangs All others who are interested write me enclosing stamp. Communications without stamp will not be replied to.

Prehistoric Relics in Wreck. A large part of the ceiling of the Peabody Musetum at Yale Unlversity fell recently damaging some of the most raluable fossils and remains of extinct animals in the world. The specimen mere collected by the late Professsor Othnie C. Marsh, curator of the muse$u m$, and bequeathed to the unisersity. Most of them are skeletons of prehistoric mammoths of the dinnsaur type. It is beileved nearly all of the broken specimens can be restored -Chicago Record Herald.

Local exhibits are always interestIng because they include curios which add so much to the knowlenge and customs and events which took place in the lecality. The Scarborough Museum contalins many curious relics, notably the clipping of old coins, and some perfect specimens. 'ou ud in Scarborugit Castle. These, known as siege money, were made from sllver plate durng the time of the Civil War, the chief emble.n on the die being a $r e$ presentation of the castle gateway. Similar coln wete struck at Pontefract in Yorkshire and Beeston in Chrshire; the last uamed are very scarce.

Assassination

 PhotographyBy Harry F. Blanchard

Freak photographs have been greatly encouraged since magazines and newspapers have been printing some extraordinary pictures. Here for intance is a photo of a person who has cut his own head off. This photo was made by making three exposures on the same negative. A black piece of cloth used as a back grouud was fastened too the inside of a building in the bright sun light, after this was completed the camera was placed on a tripod about seven feet from the center of the back ground, then after getting the poser in position, I covered this with a black handkerchief so as to correspond with the black hack ground, hen I was reads to make first exposure, (this represents the poser with his head off.) The second exposure was about reads to be made, after having the poser kneel back of a stand and resting his chin on it, I placed a piece of black cloth between the person and the stand. This hid his body from being seen and this corresponds with the back ground, then I made the second exposure, I then removed the staud and hid the poser stand to the right of the back ground with a knife in his hand which represents him as cutting him his own head off. Thus the third ex. posure was made in the same negative. Similar cut used a few years ago.

Here is another freak photngraph given in the November number of the W EST which appears as it the poser had two heads, but he hasn't any more heads than the averaged human is endowed with. This photograph was ta. ken by making two tlash exposures on the same negative. After fastening a dark colored back ground to the side of the room, I placed the camera on a tripod about seven feet from the center of the back ground, and after having the poser sit in a chair in front of the back ground, I had him lean his head far to one side. Now I was ready to make ny first exposure, after setting the Hash off [ had the poser bend his head far to the opposite side, then I set the second flash light off with the result shown in the accompanging photo.

A HOME MADE RUBY GLASS

Dissolve a little cosine in ordinary negatipe varnish, and als? a like a mount of aurantia in another portion of the varnish. Flow one side of two sheets of glass, one with orie varnish and the other with the remainder Whed dry, bind the two with their varnished surfaces together and you will have an excellent substitute for the expensive and often hard to obtain rubs glass. A pair of glasses so produced is as near safe as one can hope to secure, and passes a verg pleasing and comfortable light by which to work. Continued use will resolt in a slight fating of the color, but they are so easily preared and the fading is so sluw, except where sunlight is used as an Illumiant, that this difficulty is a very slight drawback.

AN ALBUM WRINKLE.

In talking over photographic experience with a friend, he carelessly dropped a hint with reference to albums which I immediately decided was too good to be lost. Therefore, 10 give the workers the benefit of it, I write this letter that sou may publtsh it in our worthy periodical, the WEST. My friend has dicovered that the very best way to keep his prints, the gond ones, is to place them in albuns, preferably the loose leaf variety.

This he has been doing for some time and has found that, with constant use and handling the delicate surface of some of his best prin:s was being destroyed.oscasicned be the pages or rather the two prints on opposite pages, pubbing toget her. Of course it is possible to a cord this by inserting tissue between the le anes but this has its disadvantages inasmuch as the tissime inserts are beligg colllnually torn and folded An ldea occurred to him that if the payes could be kept siightly separated. the trouble would te avoided. He secuied some felt about an eighth of an inch thick, cut it into small circular pieces about an inch in diameter.and wasted one on each corner of pach leaf, that is, two 10 each leaf I say pasted, but perhaps the ordinary fish. glue mould be better. Thus it is obvious that the pages are always kept slightly apart preventing the prints coming in contact with each olher. As it is pcssible to secure felt in nearly all the colurs that album leave come in, these pieces can be easily selecied to correspond, thus avoiding undue prominence.

I hope the use of this liea will give other a much satisfaction as it has me, and should it do so I wil! feel fully repaid for my trouble.

Prehistoric Relics"has been prepared at consioerable expense. They have illust rated all the different forms of pipes, ornaments. knives, ceremonials. copper ohjects. fint inplements, henatites dis coidals bone and shell forms, pottery, e:c.. found in the United States. The work also tells how dit. erent implements were manufactured, and offers thinch valuable advtee to collectors. It is especially tich in rute and interesting ceremonials, etc.

Searty all of the books heretofore published desuribing specimens are either ton techmical or tod expensive for collectors. Hence our sole purpose in publishiug "Prehistoric Relics" is to bring helore you a reliable and fu'ly illustrated work. We would emphasize the fact that thin rook onntains the kind of information the collectors particutarly need. Our Combination Offer with the WEST, $ oo or if preterred can include Tonga Story of the sioux or Recurd of Exploration. So 3 . All 3 for $$ .50$

Filie Approval Sheets. FOR DEALERS!

These lots of sheets have been sold by us to all the principal dealers in the United States, some large concerns taking from ten to twenty-five lots at one time. The sheets contain 50 stamps each and there are from 35 to $4^{5}$ sheets in a lot.

The stamps are all priced and they can be sent out the same day that you receive them.

The stamps run as high as 25 c and sometimes above that. Each lot foots up over $$ 70.00$

PRICE $8.00

You can give $50,60,75$ or even 80 per cent discount and still double your money.

No sheet of 50 stamps foots up less than $$ 1.00$ up to about $$ 5.00$ for a sheet. You can judge of the AVERAGE PRICE. A sheet of 50 stamps for $$ 5.00$ would AVHRAGE 10 CENTS PER STAMP. The sheets are in good order, have never been sent out or folded in any way and contain a large variety.

TRY A LOT. You will surely come again.
REMEMBER: From 35 to 45 sheets over $$ 70.00$ value for only $$ 8.00$

Important Notice

The EIGHTH Edition of the UNIVERSAL standard catalogue

Published in December, 1907 and brought fully up to date.
The single and multiple watermark ed stamps of British Colonies will be separately listed for the first time.
The most important improvement will be in the illustrations, nearly 1000 new ones being added, making nearly 4000 in all. These have been specially eugraved by hand, and being deeply cut will give much clearer impressions than could possibly be got from the old "process"' blocks.
Although the much heavier cost of these engravings and the increased number of pages will add considerably to the expense of production, the price of the 1908 Catalogue will be as before, [^14]Our various pretmum offers and extensive advertising in other publications is increasing our subscription list by leaps and bounds. Hard timeswho said hard times? Such a thing is a mere delusion, judging from the way subscriptions are rolling in. In January the number of subscriptions recelved was more than double the number ever received in one month.

No, we are not going to rase our ad rates at present. - Our advertisers get the benefits of this large iucrease in circulation without any extra cost for space.

During the last six sears we have issued 100 pages or more every month. Do you know uf any collector's paper anywhere that has ever equalled this record?

We found Eansas City, when there recently, as lively philatelically as usual. The metting of the Kansas City Stamp Club was well attended and much enthusiasm and good cheer apparent.

The publisher of the WEST is preparing for an extended tour of Eng. land and the Continent next summer. He will be glad to secure for our readers whatever they may wish in the way of postcards, views stamps, etc. THE STAMP JOURNAL OE DENVER.
It is here. It is new. It is good. It deserves support. The name of the editor, Mr. Chas. A. Nast; manager, Dr. H. A. Davis alone are guarantee enough that something worth while will be contained in every number of this newcomer in the teld of philatelic journalism. It seems though, that other men besides these two, are behind the venture, as the publisher is "The Stamp Journal Publishing Company" of Denver, Colorado, a place where stamp collecting is not considered a child's play, and where "The Denver Stamp Club,' of which the Journal is the official organ, keeps philately allve and moving. A mong the advertisers we find mostly old aequaintances with something new and good to offer. - (Dorpat.)

LUIS W. DISON was born on Sept. 28th, 1883. He began stamp entlecting on a small scale when nine years old, but after the Spanish A merican war, while attending the S J. Letran college in Manila, be became a very ardent and earuest collector. He now has a vollection of about 10,000 varieties of stamps, contained in two srecially prepared volumes; also has a collection of en'ire envelopes, cards and O. B. Phililpines comprising elght volumes. He began collecting illustrated cards in Decembar 1906, subscrbIng to the WEST, becoming a member of several of the lating card soctetles and placiug adrertisements in a number of Philocartic and Philatelic Journals. Mr. Dison's collection of souvenir cards now sombers about3,000, colored only, as the does not collect uncolored cards. He also has a collection of atout 100 photographs of lads correspondents Mr. Dison is willing to exchange good and rare stamps with all foreign collectors. The Union Sour enir Card Exchange has secured the services of Mr. Dison as Phillipine representative, and the large number of Phillipine members which THE UNION now has have been secured through Mr. Dison's efforts alene. Mr. Dison is Bach. of Arts, Attorney at Law and Notary Public by occupation, and savs he thinks the WEST the best collectors paper seen.

GEORGE E. HAYNES became interested in stamps in 1895 and has collected and dealt in them ever since. Now actively engaged in dealing. Has been a member of M. P. A. since 1905. Has a good general collection of stamps and philatelic literature and is always ready to buy or exchange for good mixtures, singles, and collections. He will offer many interesting bargains in each issue of the WEST.

MISS IDA MAY PAME whose portrait appears on the front cover of this magazine, was born in Worcester, Mass., Jan, 18, 1888 and attended the publle schools of that elty untif her removal to Barrington, R. I., in 1903, graduating from the Barrington High School in 190i. For the past year she has been in the employ of the Florence Paper Co., Providence, R. I., as bookke日per, and is Secretary of the Helen A. Gibson Library Assoclation, 50 Ex change Place, Providence, R. I., where a cordial welcome is always extended to the WEST readers and every courtesy given visitors who have occasion to visit this enterprising and beautiful oity of the smallest state in the Union.
B. F. EGAN of Indianapolis, Ind., is engaged in his favorite sport of canoeling, when not collecting stamps. Mr. Egan his collected stamps for from 15 to 20 years. As a general collector, he has 7000 varieties. He was Seceretay of the Indiana Philatelic Society for the years 1889 and 1900 . Is now serving second term same office of present Indiana Society and is a member of all the leading philatelic societies

Mr. Egan is always pleased to have visiting collectors to Indianapolis call on him. See his ads in the WeST.

A CURIOUS STAMP by Frank L. Coes.
I found some time since in an old collection a peculiar stamp. After submitting it to Power, of S. Gibbons & Co, New York. and several of my friends, and having falled to locate its birthpiace or value, have had a cut made. The specifications of this stamp are: Color grey black: size to pef. 27 x 24 mm ; Perf, 14; paper white, no wmk. Block is closels size of printed surface on the original. Can any reader give any information?

Notes by Dorpat

as the Stamp Collectors Fortnightly reports in full, Harold Treherne has been convisted for having dies in his possession for counterfeitiag postage stamps. He was fined about 8100.00 . What makes the case most interesting is the fact that the stamps counterfeited were nut stamps of Great Rritain, in which case the punishoment would unduubtedly have been more severe. but stamps of other countries. - Later the same party was sentenced to four months hard labor for trying to obtain money under false pretences by offering counterfelt stamps for sale He represented himself as being 21 years of age, while in fact he is over 23 [t would be a boon to $\mathrm{p}^{\text {hilately, if }}$ all like malefactors could be sent alcong with him.

No. 25 of the Globe Trotter, is at hand and shows agaln a strong increase of the C. O. C. membership, numbers running up to 4918 now. The Stamp Sales Department under Mr. Van Tour's direction is in working order. The recelpts fo 1907 were $$ 3263$ 04. Dues are now 8200 a year, but when the limit of 5000 members is reached it is proposed to raise the annual dues to 82.50. The illustrations in the present number are excellent as usual, even detter than usual and the whole makeup is A No. 1.

The Stamps Sales Department of the Cosmopolitan Correspondence Club reports a very stiong demand for sales buoks. and tt a puears thist a heapy business will be dode. ## St. Louis Ntamp Collectors مociety

The seventy sixth regular meeting of this Society was held Tuesday, Hebruary 4th at the usual time and place. President Myers presiding. Owing to the very bad weather onlv twelve were present, but considering everything this was a good turn out. Members present were Raer, Chase, Dela. field. Dlamant, Millhouse, Myers, Ruedi, Schoeman, Sisson, Wood and two visitors, Anschuetz and Baln.

The Secretary read a communication from "Redteld's Weekly' explain. ing the reasons for the non appearance of the Society's reports in the new Official Journal; it is expected that eversthing will be satisfactory from now on. The Editor requested a write up of the Society and jts history which the Secretary was requested to compile at his convenjence.

The President pointed out that by the election of Mr. Wood to the Secretaryship there was a racancy on the Board of Governors to fill.

Mr. Diamant nominated S. M. Schoeman and Mr. Schoeman nominated F. N. Chase. The ballot taken showed the latter gentleman elected.

The Chairman of the Recruiting Committee reported that every member of the Societs bad been written to on the Membership boom and prospects looked bright.

The Chairman of the Emblem Committee submitted throngh the President a most beautiful and appropriate design which was agreed to.

The President appointed the following Membership Committee, Wallace Delafleld, Jr., Chairman, W. A. Sissen, Adelbert Strauss.

The President announced that he intended giving a prize of $$ 500$ in stamps open to all ild members and those who join before July lst for most regular attendauce, reckoned on the percentage basis.

The entertainment arranged by the Committee was a competition of Nethe: lands. I here were five entries, the judges Messrs. Hajn, Millhouse, and Schoeman were most painstaking and careful in their work and anarded the percentages as follows:- Detatield 90, Myers 85, Wood 78, Chase 73, Sisson 63, the closeness of the awards showing the excellence of the exhibits. The three prizes kindly donated by $\mathrm{F}^{\prime}$. R . Cornwall were beauties valued respec. tively' $\$ 7.50 . \$ 450$ and $\$ 300$. While $t$ he judging was prcceeding Mr. Diamant did his best to work up some enthusiasm over some auction lots but only succeeded in disposing of two. Germang will be the next competilion, beld on Malch 3rd.

The members present were pleased iu ste one of the oid time collectors who before the close of the meeting handed in his application jor reiustate. ment. Mr. Walter Bain's collecting days date back for forty years, we shall appreciate his presence and great fund of information.

Application recelved-Walter Bain, 4045 Botanical Ave.-Proposed by F. N. Chase.

The serenty seventh regular meeting of this'Suciety was held Tuesday, February $18: h$, at the usual time and place. President Myers in the chair.
T.elve members were present, Adscheutz, Bollman, Chase, Delafield, Diamant, Humes, Millhouse, Myers, Ruedi, Schellhorn, Sisson. Wood.

The Secretary read a letter recelped from Dr. H. A. Davis informing tlie Soclety that it had been placed on the Maillog List of the new "Stamp Journal" and the President instructed the Secretary to convey the thanks of the Society for this courtesy.

The applications of Messrs. Anschuetz and Bain were brought forward and they were declared elected.

The President brought up the question of prizes for the various contests to be held and requested that members should donate stamps to a Prize Fund to be held by the Entertainment Committee, he promised to hand over $$ 15.00$ worth himself and then outlined an excellent scheme of prizes according to entries which was very favorably considered. We have no doubt our President's example will be folloxed by all our active members.

Mr. Delafeld had on exhibitlon a cover with three Cayman Island Provisionals on just received by himself from a correspondent, which aroused considerable interest and some rather envious glances.

Our Auction Manager had a little better success for his pains than at the last meetigg. How strange it is that lots which should sell don't and vice-versa. Let us hope he won't get altogether disoouraged.

Dr. Baer, the chalrman of the Lintertainment Committee, propounded a question on New Countries which, alas, found our 19th century erants "xanting." Mr. Delatield captured the prize. Mr. Dlamant then sprang a guessing contest of the total stamps issued by a number of countries, the results showed a wide divergence in the guesses, Mr Wood struck the happy medium and annexed the stamps. Finally the Prisident-to add his quota-sprang a "Lime:ick" firing competition-a la "Renfeld's." This must have been the Secretarg's lucky day for he was again declared winner much to his surprise

Next meeling will be held Tuesday March 3rd. The special feature will be a competition. Germany being the country. We trust there will be a big turn out of collections and collectors.

The following new applications were received-Fred G. Fuessel, Letter Carrier. 4417 Gibson Ave , prof osed by J. F. Humes; F. T Haintz, Salesman, 409 Wainut St., proposed by Chester Myers: Lawrence W. Low, Letter Carrier, 4209 McRee Ave., proposed by J. H. Humes.

Mr. J. W. Scott on U. S. Stamps. - As an tnvestment the stamps of the U. S. are the best proposition, and we advise our readers to be prepared for a big advance in prices. This does not refer to the high priced stawps, but a large number which are catalogued as if common. We could name at least ten low-priced stamps of which one hundred specimens could not be bought in the entire O. S. at full catalogue figures. Some are used, others unused. Years ago it was the practice of collectors to buy from one hundred to a thousand of the low values of each issue and set them outside to grow. Unfortunat ley the only thing that increased was the interest charges. So many lost on Columblans that this sort of speculation fell into disfavor, with the result that there is a dearth of any set issues in unused condition. The few who invested In the St Louls series have done remarkably well, and the indications are that the Jamestown stamps will prore a good investment.-The Metropolitan Philateiist, 31, August 1907.

Notes for U.S. Collectors  By E.R. Aldrich

The city name does not appear in the ic perimt No. 25, used at Louis. ville Ky., by the distillerg firm of Wright & Taylor, altho' it appears in connection with their ad on the face of the card.

Every adult American collector or those who years are approaching the vote masing mark shoald be patriotic enought to joln the American Phila. telic Association.

A recent auction catalogue lists for sale specimens of the $1 / 2 \mathrm{c}$ Spanish War documentary stamp with double vertical rouletting. It has not been before catalogued.

From December 1, 1905 to August 1,1900 nine new offces were estab. lished in Alaska-Baldwin, Chatham, Davidson, Dlamond,Gakona, Howkan, Kantishna, Elinquan and Quinhagak. Of these two take the place of other offices, Howkan succeeding Jackson and Davidson formerly being Kugarak. Four offices were aboilshed during the same period Golorin whose mail now goes to Soloman, Kasaan (mall not to Ketchisan) Kuyak (mail now to Cu . talla) and Mastodon (mall now to Cicle).

Mr. F. J. Hall reports finding the one cent 1907 eavelope on manilla paper with the watermark of the 1849 issue.

For those a ho insist upon exact conditons of perfection a set of the 1857 issue was offered in Wolsieffer's 83rd sale which would comply with the ideals of the most exacting. Each stamp showed the entire hole of each perfora. tion. portions of three of the surrounding stamps belug attached, three other sets being thus damaged to enable the original owner to have thls one set.

The eariler known precancelled stamps of Floral Park, N. Y , were sheet cancelled with two vertical wide bars, while the later ones are sheet cancelled with three horizontal bars of similar width.

An eastern dealer offors the complete set 1861 reissue at 8125 . These sets are seldom offered and this will undoubtedly be absorbed at very near the asked price. Collectors of entire envelopes may be interested with the following quotations taken from a recent list of offerings: 1894 issue 34 varieties in set face value 74 cents for $\$ 3.50 .1895$ Issue 73 varieties in set face value $\$ 1.54$ for 85.50 . 1899 issue 97 varictles ir set face value 22.00 for 310.00 . 1900 issue 38 varieties in set face value 75 cents for $\mathbf{8 3} 25.1903$ issue 63 varieties face value 8130 for $\$ 250$. The above serles 305 varietles cataloging not far from 865.00 being offered for about twenty five dollars.
another very interesting essay in S. G. M. J. is Mr. Harry J. Maguire's "William Dockwra and the London "Penny Post" of 1680."' Read it!

The 49th monthly meeting of the above named Seciety was held In their rooms, 1622 Masonic Temple Friday evening Feb. 7th, President Virgll M. Brand presidig. The following members were present: Messrs. Carey, W. F. Dunham, McDonald, Tracy, Brand, Simpson, Escell, Leon, Blumenschein, Merrill, Chester Dunham, Huber, Helmes, Baker, Forensen, Williams, Heisser and Green.
The resignations of Elmer S. Sears and Geo. Froelich were recelved and accepted. A communiction was read from T. Louis Comparette, Curator of the Mint Cabinet at Philadelphia, expressing his kindly regard for the Society and offering some paluable suggestions. Messrs. Marvin A. Barlow and J. de Lagerberg were elected to membership.

Mr. Williams read a paper on specializing, and Mr. Brand read a paper on the Pilgrifm's Rest mint where the last of the official coins of the South African Republic were struck, and exhibited one of the pieces. Mr. Holmes showed English gold of the values from ove fourth to $\mathbb{H}$ ge guineas. Mr. W. F. Dunham exhibited the United States eagles from 1795 to 1804 , all in superb condition.

The President installed in offce J. B. Holmes, Vice President, B. F. Williams, Censor and W. H. McDonald, a member of the Executive Board for 1908, these gentlemen having been absent from the last meeting. The President appointed Messrs. Holmes, Excell and Sorensen as a Membership Committee for 1908. An informal auction of medals netted 85.83 for the binding fund.

The following magazines were received since last report: Numismatist and Mehl's Numismatic Molthly for Jan. and Feb; Phllatelic We t, Spink's Numismatle Circular, Numismatischer Verkehr and Numismatische Correspondenz for January; a catalog of direen's 36th auction and a catalog with fired prices from Majer.

A motion was carried authorizing the Censor and Erecutive Board to issue a bulletin before next meeting of not less than four pages

Adjourned to meet March 6th.
Ben G. Green. Secretary.

CURIO NOTES bs G. A. Chandler.

10 the January issue of the Philatelic West we note an article, in the "Curio Department', treating upon lithographic stone, which brings to our mind an important discovery made in Mitchell County, Iowa. For several years past much limestone had been taken from the quarries situated along the Cedar Riper and used for building purposes. Recently a man engaged in lithography stopped at the city of Osage, Iowa and looking over the quarries noticed that the stone was very similar to that used in his plant. He mentioned it to several of the business men of that place and they being interested in the subject sent a spucimen to the Stste Geological Expert at Des Molnes, who pronounced it equal, if not auperior in quality, to that now jmported from Germany, from which place most of our lithographle stone comes

The authors attention was called to these quarries so he visited same, finding the quality superior to that used by himself and the quamity unlimited.

I am recelving many inquirles, how long books are out on circult; to all those I wish to say that it takes about 2 months to complete a circulit of 7 when everybody on it is prompt and on time. Books should be in the Department long enough to permit them to pass over 2 or 3 circults bofore retirement. If a large per cent of stamps are sold before that time, they are promptly retired. Therefore do not send in stamps if you thlok, that 1 can make returns in 4 or 6 weeks.

One word more Always use obly the best kind of hinges in mounting stamps for circulation, that stamps do not drop off when leares are turned. Also place amount stamps on one side of the pages, in spaces provided for them branch no. lof the southern philatelic association.

তhe Georgia Ntamp Club

The thirty sisth reguar meeting of the Georiga Stamp Club was called to order at elght o'clock p. m. by President Davis.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.
The application of Mr. A. B. Ryman for membership, was accepted and forwarded to the Southern Philatellc Association.

Mr. L. L. Dickerson was appointed Auction Manager, by the President, to hold office until the next regular election. The first auction will occur on March 9 th, 1908. All members are invited to send Mr. Dickerson the stamps which they wish to be sold, as soon as possibe.

Exchange Manager Dickerson made his report for the months of December and January.

Books recelved Dec 20 to date $$ 159$ 40. -Books returned, $42.41. Books now in circulation $117.10.

Librarlan reported the Library to be in good condition several new contributions having been received since last report.

Entertlanment for the evening was ten questions propounded by Secre. tary Osborne, consisting of, questions on the appearance of stamps. Mr. L. L Dickerson received the highest grade, 82 per cent. The others made close marks.

Mr. Dicserson exhibited a very fine collection of Turkey and Siam which was very much admired by all present.

The meeting adjourned to meet again at the uusal place, February 21st, 1908.

Very Respectfully, W. F. Osborne. Secy.

It is the invariable practice of Messrs. WhitGeld King and Co., in putting out a new edition of their priced catalogue, to give certaln stamp issues to date. This year they state that the total for all countries up to November 1st, 1907, is 21,590, of which 6,681 belong to the British Empire and 14,929 to the rest of the world. Europe has issued 4,536 stamps, Asia 4,091, Africa 4,829 , A merlca 44,838 , the West Indies 1,748 , and Oceania 1,548. The total for Africa seems a big one for a continent that is even now only half opened up. Readers will understand, by the way these figures relate odiy to standard varieties of stamps, no minor varieties of perforatligg watermark, &c., being included.

Collectors of postage stamps will be interested in a sale which was to be held at London in January, at which a copy of the very scarce Post Office, Maultius, one penny red stemp, belleved to be worth 85,000 was to be offered.

Fiscal Department

I have attempted to fill the part of Fiscal Editor of the WEST and I will be pleased to receive notes at any time of new issues and of variaties not catalogued of old issues and all such sent me will be noted here with proper eredit. F. A, Brown, East Peru, Iowa. Lock Box 7.

To begin with I will take up "Dr K & Co." stamps again. A letter from Dr. Brooks to whom I referred last month gives some additions and corrections. He says that to his knowledge no stamps were issued bearing date of " 78 ' 98 '" that being Sunday. He also says that he has both the 2 c and 30 surch ' 712 ' 98 '' with both Gothic and Celtic types but that no 1 c exists with date 71298 .

Dr. Brooks sags he has a set similar to the A. K. set described last month-issued by "Myers Bros. Drug Co." of St. Louis. He does not give values but they are $1 / 8 \mathrm{c}$ and 5 c I suppose.

I can add to my list of "Iowa Tax Tags'' of last month, another variety. The Inscriptions are the same and printed in black except the value is printed in red " 100 pounds'. In this issue the first line under the Legend, lowa, Feeding Stuffs Law., heavy, and $2 & 3$ are light. In the first issue all three lines are the same. The second issue is slightly bolder faced tpye and across the string end of the tag reading up is Internat'l 「ag Co., Chicago, in mivute capitals.

Forbin L'Hostes' catalogue of Fiscals of the world is due about now on this side. It is of course in Freuch but is fnely illustrated. It does not come very high-90c I understand.

Morley's Philatelic Journal at the price 60c, is well nigh indispensble to the collector of Fiscals.

They are now running a catalrgue of U. S. Mexico Central America. It commenced in the February 1905 and in the Nov. 1907 No., the last at hand, it inishes Mexico, gives Costa Rica and part of Gautemala

The S. Amer. Catalogue ran as a supplement from Feb. 1901 to Sept. 1904. In tre meantime some of the many good things have been American Ficsals for the Phililpines, Nevada State Revenues, California State Rev. enues, Virginia State Revenues. U. S. Fiscals for the Phillipines. Indian Native State Fiscals. Dominican Republio Fiscals, Fiscals of Gautemala, Newspaper Tax Stps. of Gt. Br., Impressed Duty Stps. of Gt. Br. and Ireland, British Patent Mediciue Stps, and many others, and every month a chronicle of New Issues and discoveries. If it is agreeable to Bro. Brod. stone. I will from time to time glve a catalogue of uncatalogued U. S. Revenues and I propose to take up 1st. Upium and then Tobacco.

Opium. a. Smoking Opium-1891-Band, serles of 1891 act of 1890 -No's 1, 2 and 3. 4816 oz black on green. b. Customs. 1891-Band, vessel in oval and place for indicaton in Mss the Post. 4. 5 Talls black. 5. ? Talls red.

Tobacco. Chewing Tobacco with the stamp printed on the wrapper. a Tin Foll wrapper 1868, 165x125, Stamp 65x 34 Eagle and inscriptions. 1. $1 / 202$ blue. 1868 Efigy of Washington class 32 cents Stamp $67 \times 38$. 2, 102 gold. 1872 "Act of June 1872"' in place of Class 32 cents. 3. 102 gold. 4. 1 oz blue. 1875. The same without Act of June. 5. 1 oz gold. 6. 102 blue 1875-Fracklin "Serfes of 1875." 7. 102 gold. 8. 102 blue. 1879 -The same without Series of 1875. 9. 1 oz gold. 10.1 oz blue. 11. 1 oz red.

TROUBLE AMONG FRENCI COLLECTORS.

It appears that between the firms of Theodore Champion \& Co. and Yvert \& Tellier on the one side, and the Sciete Francaise de Timbrologie on the other there is war. The Societe claims that all the stamps of Abys. sinia listed in the Catalogue Official are without exception absolutely false, and that the frm of Theodore Champion \& Co, assisted by Yvert \& Tellier is guilty of deceiving the Societe Francaise into believing for a time that these stamps were good. There are other charges of an ugly nature besides. What the accused have to say for defense, I have not yet been able to learn It will be interesting though to see who will prove his assertions to the satisfaction of the rest of the philateilc world. Meanwhile the stamps of $\dot{A} b y s$ sinla will probably be very cheap, and collectors who will take the lisk of siding with Champion, Yerrt \& Tellier wlll do well to buy now. Most like. Iy the British and German papers will take up the matter, and then wie may tearn more. After writing the above, The Berliner Briefmarken Zeitung cane to hand, and there in the Briefkasten Mr. Phil Kosack says the Abyssinian stamps in question are good, and the circular denouncing them as a frauduleat scheme. Reasons or proof are not given and so there is but one assertion against the other until now.-(Dorpat).

Mr. Phll Eosaok is trylng to obtain a statistic as to what collectors are collecting, and how. For Instance, he wants to know who collects all countries used or unused, or both, and who collects one or a group of countries only, who collects entires used or unused. What albums, hinges, tags, journals, catalogues are used. How long one collects, how many stamps one has, and to what and now many societies one belongs. In fact, anything that may be of interest. - It is to be hoped, but hardly to be expected, that a great many colleators will furnish the desired information.

New Zealund has lssued its 3 pence stamp in a smaller size, uniform with the 6 pence and the rest of the series. They have a new perforating machine there, which perforates $13 / 1 / 2 x 14 \mathrm{in}$. olean cut and somewhat larger holes than was done by the old machnle.

REPORT OF MEETING Jan, 6, $19(8$.

Redfield's Stamp Weeklly No 35 is a big one; it consists of 24 pages and covers. It speaks a word for general collecting versus speculation. We heartily agree with the editor, Mr. L. G. Quakenbush, that general collect. ing should precedo specialism, but on the other hand it seems well to emphasize the fact that the two modes of collectng are not necessarily antagonistic. Like two brothers, they may peaceably live and thrive side by side. The greatest harm is done by trying to favor the one to the extent of banishing the other, while each given its righ:, they may cooperate. Where is the general collector who would not gladly sell his rare minor varleties for fancy prices to some specialist? And where is the spectallst who would not gladly help his brother, the general collector, if by dolng so he can improve his special hobby? It is the greatest mistake to try to make rules for every. body, to try to compel everybody to wear the same size of shoe!

In Spain fiscal stamps are gaining in favor among collectors, as Et Fil. atelico Espaniol testifies. It has a fine article on the listory of these interesting stamps, which goes quite into detail giving illustrations not merely of the different stamp designs, but of the different types of each stamp as well. The October number treats alcohol stamps. Besides that it has an article on earllest Carlist stamps.

Foreign Revenue Notes by 0. 6 Hartman

Before taling up the subject of Frensh revenue stamps I have to mention the new specialized caralog of Erance and its Colonies by Yvert & Teliler, fron which I have gathered much data for my article.

Not only can you find postage stamps but also plate number, block of four, margin stamps, entries, savings bank stamp, cancellation of Alsace Lorraine through the Franco German war, the number of issue and date, essays, telegraph, telephone and fiually revenue stamps. In all; a book full of information.

PART I. The Revenues of France.

A great many of the imperforate stamps are unofticially rulet ted which increases their value considerable.

1. Attiches. Under this name you find a class of tax which is generally applied to newspaper advertisements, circulars etc. They are attached the paper and through the process of printing cancelled, so thes bear generally a piece of some kind of letter or letters No scarce one among this kind. Value 5,10 . 15. and 20 centimes Issue 1872, 81, 83, 91. All stamps bear the word "Affiches."
2. Allumettes. A circular stamp design pelure or a very a histe paper. Values $1 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{c}$ to Ifr . A lso an assortment of bands, same values.

3 Bougies. All bands.
4. Cavtes a Jouer (playing cards) all bands. Previous to $180+$ was an issue, no date given. Several designs for 1804 and then a jump to 1874 and 1904.
5. Chicosee. Circular stamp design 1871. also bands
6. Cierges-Bands.
7. Connaissements (Frachtstempel in German.) Must be sowething like freight recelpts. These are double stamps. Une side bears the wos? "Connaissements", and the other "Estampllle de Controle". If togethe they command a good deal higher price, but generally they are separate and are collected as such. Issues 1872, 75, 83, 82. Not scarce.
8. Coples Simliar designs Hise above. Issues 1871, 81, 93. Common.
9. Dimension. Design of 1862 Crown of eagle. Come ulther typo graphed or lithographed.

The issue of 1864 without the surcharge common, but with it often quite rare. This surcharge consists of the word 'deux dislemes en sus," in many styles, used thru the war time of $18707 \mathrm{7L}$.

The issues of 1872, 81, 92 command no special attention.
10. Douanes (custom) 1897. 2 s 'amps only.
11. Effets de Commerce (zommerclal papers) 1860. Commerce seated above, eagle embossed below. All values in gray. Imp. close or wider margin, latter higher in price. From 5 c to 10 fr . 1864 Hrad of the Emper. or. Violet on white or sellow tinted paper Values in bred. Many errors of values.

1860 and 1864 surcharged in 1871 with Undrorten sus
1871 same design of 1864 but tax values doubled.
1872. Star in centeer Errors of FR instead of Fafter thg iranc ralues. Scarce.

The issues of 1871 and 72 surcharged with Demi doit en sus.
1874. New design. Two figures seated above. Blue on gray background, value below in oval with ornaments on side, bear same surcharge in carmine or vermillion.
1874. Same type, but without surcharge and value at bottom without oval and in heary type.
1877. Same type but values in oval. All previous issues hare been demonetized.
1879. Same type but values sma'] and without oval.
1880. Same type, but values large and in a large oval.

Exhibition of Imperia! Issues. In probably no other pursuit has the adage of the boy being father to the man been so strongly emphasized as in stamp collecting. When stamp collecting began it was a boys' hobby pure and simple. Then it captivated the parent, and now it is as much a hobby of the adult as of the bos But the youngster is reasserting himself; he nas been makigk his intuence felt where his seinors have feared to tread. # Some Odd Hobbies  By Verna שeston Hantuay

Abstract

(American and Englinh publications desiring an impartial review in this periodicaltwill please forward specimen copy marked "For Review" to Miss Verna Weston Hauway, Lk Bx 8. ©Dallas, Pa, ) "There are more things in heaven and earth Horatio than are dreamt of in your philesophy, "quoth a fiend after reading the excerpt from a mag. azine clipping in a recent West, which stated that the Prinee of Wales collected photographs and pictures of bahies, e'en to the pictures in the advertisements of babies' foods.

This same friend indulges in an equally curious hobby, - that of collecting "pipes once upon a cime owned by famous je sonages, and a foodly collection it is. There are big pipes, and medium sized pipes, and wee little pipes. Pipes spleudid, pifes graceful, pipes beantiful, plpes mediocre, pipes ugly, and pipes that do not look like pipes at all There is a branch. if branch it can be called, of this collection, consisting of elgarrettes partially smoked by ladies o' the stage. These are autographed. and a"quite represertalive collection it is, altho' the writer confesses that even her collesting ardour stops short of an aupreciation of this, deserring of appreclation as it may be.

Tosistrollers along Broaduay a certain ycung ran of international fame is a manked aud famillar figure. This young man is a renowned crlminal lawser, and few persons would credit that brusque personality with indulging in as odd and unique a hobby as even occupled the attention of a fanciful collector. I wish that I might give the name of this collector, but as in honor bound I will not divulge it,as promised "one who knows" who is saping if to use in the lawyer's memolr, as the "one who knows' is his literary executor.

The collection is one that would cause a boy of fourteen to blush, but it would send a girl of seven into ecstasies of rapture. Cases, which contain DOLLS line the walls of his den, and dolls have the right of way 10 the couches, chairs, hearthstone, and the floor! The collection is reported to be of much interest, and awatens admiration after one recovers from the shock of surprise. Dolls there are from every corner of the globe. representative of the types the wee little girl fondles the world 'round. There are several scores carved from wood that are rare and beautiful specimens of the art of nood carving.
I heard some little time ago of a person who deserves in full the eplthet, "biblimaniac," and the reader will admit that he ought to know how to flay accord!ng to Hoyle. He collects only books that have been written concerning whist, which has a more extensive literature than one would imagine, and its all the same to this collector if it's written in English or in Hotten. tot.

Collectors hear every little while of persons with odd fancies for collec. ting menus, lottery ticket, handbills circulated at horse races, cigarette and eigar bands, aud many others equally odd. Then there are collections so absolutely unique as to prove worthy of rank with the wildest fantasies of sules Verne and Edgar Allen Poe.

Ghe Collector of British Stamps by L. B. Jr.

The British Postoffce at Buelos Ayres. -
I will endeavor to enlighten the readers of this magazine nith full particulars regarding the use of British stamps in this South American citr, giving values employed, also plate numbers British stamps used in this port can be easily distinguished by the cancellation,((B32)) with three horizontar bars below and three above.

Buenos Ayres is in all respects considered one of the fuest cities in South America, the population being a little over 500,000 . The British post office, for letter forwarded by English residents, was attached to the consulate, and was established here from 1862 to A pril 1878, the stamps of ifr. to 5 shillings being used, the letter rate to England being 1 shilling per half oz. The following is a full list of values emplosed:
1860. 1 shilliug green of 1857, wo letters in corner.
1862. Small letters in corner (excepting 1 p atd 2 p salues. 1 p red, 2 p blue, 6 p lilac. 9 p straw and 1 shilling green. The following plate No's are known: 1p, 140, 144, 150, 151, 156, 191; 2p 9, 6p. 4.
1865. Wmk Emblem (except 4 p value). 4 p orange vermilion, 6 p lifac, 1 shilling green; The following plate No's are known: 4 p. 11, 12; 6p 5.
1867. Wmk. Spras of Rose, except 5 shilling values) 3p carmine, $6 p$ lilac, $6 p$ violet, $9 p$ straw, 10 p red brown; 1 shlling green, 2 shilling blue, 5 shilling rose. The following plate No's. are known:-3p 5, 7; 6p. 6, 3,9,11; 1 shilling 4, 5, 6, 7: 2 shllling 1 ; 5 shilling 1 .
$1373 .{ }^{-}$Wmk. Spray of roses. 3p rose. Plate No's known 5. 6.
The maiority of postnffices iur South and Central America were established in $1860 \cdot 65$ and remained in existence until the countrifs in which they were situated joined the postal union.

Doubtless this article will help throw some new light on English stamps with foreign cancelatlon, and will endeavor to give the reader of the publlcation many interesting philatelic articles in the near future.

The Madrid Filatelist of last September has an article on pustal museums and eass: "Nothing can be mure interesting or instructive to a philatelist than a postal museum." That is undoubtedly true, especially if the museum will contain a good stamp collection, as do the museums at Berlin, Berne, and Washington. Spain is to get one too, which is to be placed under the charge of $D$. Manuel Cerezedas in the new postal administration building now under contract.

Terry and George Washington

There was a tap at the door and Mr. Casey removing his feet from the table, then opening the door, was surprised to find his old frlend Mr. Hool. igan.
"Do come in wid ge, I am glad to give the honor to mesilf to have ye wid me'

Placing a chair for his guest and resting his feet on the table, Mr Casey resumed.
"Mike, me frind, its many the long day sinoe I seen ye, what brings ye 'round now?''
''Oh begorra, bein' today's th' holidas there's no wor-ruk to be done,so we do be after restin' th' day."
'right ye arre an' its a grand cellibration Th' Sons iv th' Rivolution ar-re havid' at th' Park. Th' sausage stufin' German windjammers ar-re batin' th' divil out of th' drums an' bustin' the horns, first it's 'Down where th' Wurzburger flows' $\mathrm{an}^{\prime}$ thin 'My counthry tis iv theel' Tim O'Neil is making th' speech iv th' day an' its a grand occasion."
"But what th' divil is it all about"" inquired Mr. Hooligan.
"Gowan, ye unpathriotic son iv a washwoman, don't ye know that 'tis Washington's Birthday ?'
"An' who is he," asked Mr. Hooligan.
'Mikey, Mikey, I do be after feelin' sorry t'r ge, Washington was first in war, second in peace an' third in th' hearts iv his counthry-men."
"Bring th' Stamp Alboom, Terry, me bye. "There ye ar re, Mr. Hooligan th' image is th' Father is his counthry an' th' man who made th' two cint stamp what it is." 'Wanst, it was just before Murphy died an' th' whole Counthry was In a slump an' goin' to th' bad an' not a man knew a thing to do whin wan mornin' th' Sicratery iv th' postoffs called up th' Prisidint, an' says, 'Pal, there's got to be somethin' doin',' he says, or I'll be domed if th' administhration don't fall into th' hands iv th' inimg an' th' counthry $g$, to th' divil,' he says."
"'Ye ar re right,' th' Prisidint says, 'but what can we do,' he saps."
" 'We must win th' gratitude iv th' people.' th' Sicratery says, 'we must rejuce th' price is th' Washing ton stamp,' he saps."
"'Impossible.' th' Prisidint says, 'thes ar re marr rked in plain fggers,' he 'says. an' it will hurt th' reputation if th' Arm,' he says.'"
"'I have it,' says th' Sicratrey, 'we will make a two cint Washlugton,' he says."
"'Good.' says th' Prisidint, 'only,' he says, 'make it red.' "'
"Thin. Mr. Hooligan. such a wase iv pathriotism swept th' counthry as it had niver been swept before."
"As th' Poet says,
'Washington was a great man th' world ne'er seen his better, He niver failed to get there kis stickin' to th' letter'"
' 'Th' story iv his life reads like a book, Mikey, wanst whin he was a la-ad, he cut down his father's cherry tree, which th' ould man was savin' to put in his cocktalls, an' there he was whin his father caught him, 'father I cannot tell a lie about it,' George says, 'I did it with my little hatchet,' he says. Thitu th' ould man says 'George me bye, I seen ye from th' kitct en windy, an' niver tell a lie,' he says, 'whin it dont pay.' "
'Nist, we see Washington in th' midst iv th' Injun war. A brave an' nable hero he was, layin' behind a sthump an' dealing death au' 'estruction ic all who came in th' path iv his musket, whilst Gineral Brac ex stood on th' ' burnin' deck. His wake was attinded be all th' glory $)^{\prime}$,ar.'"
'It was now daycided to start th' war iv th' Rivolution an' a tilegram to that effect was sint to th' King iv England. He Immejitly sint an army e, uipped wid all th' requirements io war,includiu' a cargo iv liquid refresh. ments, siviteen newspaper correspondints, an' two cannon."
'Th' American Army was recrulted from th' ranks iv th' collidge stugents an' farmers an ivery wan was braver than th' other wu.' "
"' 'Who will take command?' was th' word that came ringin' down th' line. It was a momint iv awful suspinse. Thin Gineral Washington in his mild firm voice says, 'bves, I will take th' job,' he says.'
"Whin in th' course iv human evints there comes a call to sthrike f'r th' eight hour day,'he says, 'or to resint th' oppression iv a fearless people, thin I am willin' to lead ge oo to victory, an' in th' name iv th' American Army,' he says, 'give me liberty or give me death.' "
"' Now byes,' he says, 'we ar.re goin' to make a. little history,' an' callin' th' correspondints; he went out an' had his photograft made 'crossin' th' Deleware.' "
"That, Mike, was before Hairyman stole th' C. &.O"
"Thin followed sivio long sears iv ivery kind iv hardship, part is th' time th' soldjers not havin' a thing to drink, an' wanderin' in th' crool snow barefooted."
' 'Th' poet again remarks,
'Lives iv soljars oft remind us, bightin' battles as they go, DIggin' sewers beats their leavin' bloody footprtnts in th' suow.
"Th' last great battle was pulled off at Yorktown, th' British correspondints bein' rejuced to five men, owin' to th' ravages is hard drink. Gineral Cornwallis did not attind th' surrrenderin' exercises, as th' last case in Tom an' Jerry was smashed be a bumshell durin' th' last fight an' he did not have a drop to cheer his droopin' spirits.'"
"Now th' war was ovet Whshington wint home to contioue th' cult ratoin iv hog an' hominy, but he was ruthlessly dragged forth be th' hand iv th' pubic who wanted him to be king."
'Steppin' on a soap box, 'I caunot be king,' he says, 'there's not crown big enough to fr me,' he says, but pleasin' yure destre I do hereby appoint mesilf Prisidint, in th' case an' manner made an' pervided;' he says.'"
"And wid that th' crowd wint wild, an' in th' excitement me Grandfather, Paddy Casey, (pace to his bones) who was runnin' a limoraile stand, forgot to collect f'r three glasses, he told me himself."
"Pass th' alboum, Terry me bye, there Mikey is th' loikeness iv th' Father io his Counthry, we ind in on th' 2 cint, 3 cint, 6 cint, 10 cint, 12 cint, 24 cint an' 90 cint, scattered through th' regular issues from th' first to th' last:

Mr. Mansgold of Nelsprut, E. Traspaal sent us one of hls packets adrertised in U. No. 2. Vol. 37 of the WEST. It is all he clains for it. He also has a stock of South African surcharged stamps of the Boer war.

We"may."now"proceed to compare our "18 designs" as desoribed in The West with Mr. Sterling's classification as given in his "Price catalogue of the Revenue Stamp of the Onited States,' issued 1888, pages 130 to 149.
.- First of all we must cut out our 4th design(which by a misprint in vol. 35, No. 3, of the WEST was called a third design), because it does not belong to the Civil War period, having been issued on occasion of the SpanishA merican or Cuban war in 1898. It may be distinguished from all others by the twice repeated inscription "Documentary."

The 2 cents of 1866 to 1882 which were issued for bank checks, drafts, orders exceeding the sum of $$ 20$ at sight or demand, ete , Mr. Sterling airides into FOOR series to wit:

New York series with 8 designs (our 13th, 5th,6th, 1st, $8 \mathrm{th}, 2 \mathrm{~d}, 3 \mathrm{~d}, 14 \mathrm{th}$, 15th, and 18th) Philadelphia Series with 4 desigos (our 12th, 1tth aud 7th).

Boston Series with 2 desigus (our 17th design).
St Louis Sories with 1 design (with a likeness of he U. S. 2 cents copper coin).

Our 14th, 15th and 18th designs Mr. Sterling does not count as distinct designs, but include them as varietles of 3 others, namely our 13th, 6th, and lst, of which in reality they are only modifications. Hence, we still want the description of 1 of the New York, 1 of the Philadelphia and 1 of the Boston Series.

Mr Sterling classifies as follows:

In this connection it may be stated that in the same volume of the same paper begluning on page 118 there is a long list of remaindeis of stamps from all parts of the world. In regard to Reprints of Peruvian stamps I have not found anything, and I think there are none, except those mentioned above which were made for actual use therebs assuming the nature of re issies. About reprints of other countries' stamps see vol. IX, "Philateitc Journal of America."

Postage due stamps hare been mentioned. Such were issued for Peru in $18^{\circ} 4,5$ values, $1,5,10,20$, and 50 c . They also received the surcharges as the other stamps. In 1899 the 5 and 10 sales appeared in uniformity with the regular postage stamps of the same values. Since then there are several provisionals made by surcharging, remarkable among which are 5 and 1 centavos on 10 sales, showing that the 103 , stamps were not much needed.

Mr. A. W. Dunning of Newton, Mass.-by the way a member of the best dinerican Philatelic Societies and a philatelist of wide foreign connec-tions-was so kind as to send mo a copy of the beautifil new 5 centavos Peru. It belongs to a full set described in the Chronicle of New issues in Mekeel's Weekly Stamp Nows. With it Mr. Dunning also sends a 12 cen tavo stamp surcharged in red "DOS Centavos." This latter stamp was, without surcharge, issued in 1905. Both are printed in two colors, blue border and black center. The botders of the other values are, of course, in other colors. The centers represent monuments and structures of note and help to bring modern Peru into higher estimation showing, as they do, that even that country is beginning to adrance.

Prescott's Conquest of Peru can be had from The David B. Clarkson Co., Cono Block, Chicago, Ills, for 56 cents to $$ 2.50$ according to edition. It is worth reading and studying to anyone.

Finally we must notice a series of postal packet stamps, 1, 2, 5, 10, 20 and 50 c issued in 1897. The design is a large numeral with "Porte de Con. duccion'' above and 'centavos' below. The border consists of the figures 1 for the 1c, 2 for the 2 and 5c, and 10 (with small ornaments) for the 10,20 and 50 centavos within two pairs of straight lines. At the time of their jssue it was said that they should be soon replaced by a more elaborately engraped series, but so far this has not made its appearance. They come in sheets of 10 , two vertical rows of 5 each, perforated only hetween the stamps, so that none are found perforated $n$ all sides. The perforation is 12.

Stamped envelopes Senf's lists 25,15 of which are made by surcharge. Of the regular ones there are varieties of paper though, and there are different sizes. Wrappers there are 7 , one of which is a local for Lima the stamp on it consisting of the arms of Lima with "Correos del Peru'" above and "Un centavo" below. Postal Cards there are 55 including muny provisionals of which there are many subvarieties making a total list of nearly 100 . Letter cards there are 3.

As a whole, especially if one can free himself from surcharged stamps, the stamps of Peru are interesting, pretty and not unreasonably high in price, and deserve the attention of American colle c:ors. At Lima there is a Philatelic Society which has done a good deal in trying to settle fiets in connection with stamps and to publish otficial documents relating to them. Still there are mady points that remain dark and anyone who may be so incilned may exercise himself in original researches. The Peruvian government seems to have understood that it gets many a sol from stamp collectors and seems to be willing to listen to them and to give them any avallable in. formation. Let us hope they may abs'ain from speculation.

The next country we shall take up for consideration is Boilvia which ance belonged to Peru, being some times called "Upper Peru". There we shall not encounter many surcharges, which si nplities matiers considerably and makes collectiog so much more pleasant. BOLIVIA.
The tract now occupied by the republic of this name was originally part or Peru or the old Inca empire. Uuder Spanish rule it was incorporated into the vice-royalty of Rio de la Plata under the name Charcas. The greatar part of Bollvia (named thus in honor of General bolivar) is a mountainois and elevated country, more particularly at its western and central parts; but toward the east it becomes much less so, and at length terminates in extensive plains (Pampas), which are bounded on the east by Brazil. Western Boilva is the highest and most mountainous country of the whole western Hemisphere. Here we find the the Illimain 21,300 feet $h i g h$, the volcano Sahama 23,000 feet high and the Sorata 248,00 feet high. About the climate I may best quote the Britaunica verbally. It sass: "Holivia lies, as has been noticed, for the most part within the tropical zone; but from its peculiar formation, its cllmate and productions are dependent rather upon the elevation of different parts of the land than upon its geographlcal situation. In descending from the highest region of snow and ice to the low plains of rich $\ddagger$ ropical vegetation several zones or stages are distingished. The uame Puna brava is given to the uppermost mountain reglons which rise above 12,500 feet to the snow limit; these are scarcely jnhabited by man, and are characterized by mosses and hardier grasses, -the animal kingdom being represented by the vicuna, guanaco lama, alpaca, viscacha, chinchilla, besides the condor and other birds of prey. The region between an elepation of 11,000 feet and the lower Puaa brava is termed the Puna; less cold than the former, it is suited for the growth of potatoes, barles. and rush-like grasses, upon which sheep, lamas, vleunas, etc., may feed. This division embraces the whole of the high plains of Bolivia, which are but scantily peopled or cultivated. Several specles of cactus are fuund in these elevated regions, and especially the Cactus peruvianus, which sometimes grow to a heighth of from 20 to 30 or even 40 feet, and is serviceable for many puiposes. Under the general name Cabezera de Vale arle are grouped the heads of the vallegs descending to the lower lands, between 9,500 and 11,000 feet in elevation, where the climate is temperate. These cultivable districts produce wheat, maize, and the ordinary vegetables. The Valle or Eledio Younga is the general name of the deeper portions of the palley between 9,500 and 5,000 feet, with warm climate, affording fleld and garden fruits in abundance. The Younga, llstly, is the low tropical region, comprising all beneath 5,000 feet, and producing all kinds of tropleal frujts and vegetation." Potosi, a city bullt at an elevation of about 13,500 feet has a very changeable climate that in one day it frequently exhlbits the vicissitudes of the four seasons of the year."

Some Curious and Interesting Postmarks

By Ye. H. C. Liverpool

On looking over a catalogue for ráre stamps advertised for sale recently I see one ftem which has a special interest for me. as a postmark collector, and only goes to prore what I said in my last. contribution that the postmark had a mission to fulfil. But the item-it reads: Great Britain-6 penny black stamps all on pleces of entire, with perfect postmarks for the last 6 months of the year 1840 . That is the first 6 months of the stamp issuing sear, -now what would be the value of the stamps without the postmarks, fou may ask?

It has been said, that the postotfice clerk or stamper has no soul or conscience to save the interests of stamp collectors and I might. add, postmark collectors are at stake. Judging by the foul treatment that many missives receive at his hands, and I think Uncle Sam and John Bull are the biggest sinners in this respect. Take the farmer (Uuited States) look up some of the first issued stamps from this county. They are obliterated by a real out and out obliterator, formed by using pieces of cork, or natures own, a finger end, and by way of an aside or diversion, a splendid collection of tinger prints could be gottea together, whilst in the Jatter country (Great Britain) the home of stamps and philately, it looks, judging by the appearnace of many early penny reds, that the $P$. O. clerks had been short of something to do. At all events the supply of ink was never restricted, and in the finger end example, it might be that the obliterator, like the proverbial stage putty Knife Dagger was lost for the tlme being and pature came to the rescue. Who knows?

Early postmarks were very simple in design, somewhat neat in appearance for the period, and falrly clear in the Impress; but the obliterators were vile. It seemed as if anything would do, until Great Britain commenced the town number system of obliteration, which we must admit, was somewhat smart for the dass of 1841 . But running as it did alphabetically, it stood to disadrantage when new towns sprung.into existence, or new offices for stamping, sorting and posting were opened some inconvenience was occasioned.

These obliterators remain today the same as originally issued in 1841, but with many small place of those days-it is now different, and they have only recently aspired or recefved promotion to the digncty or position of sorting and stamping offles; and consequently have had to be pushed in somewhere,or provided with a control number and letter. Thus we get the spica of fo-variety, with a vengeance.

Of the British New Guinea stamps overpriated "Paupua," it appears the e has been a second edition with the new name of the colony sureharged in . waller characters Only the $1 / 2 \mathrm{~d}$. and 4 d . of this series have been seen up $o$ the moment of writing, but presumably we are to have the whole series in oth styles. Meantime it will be interestlog to give the following quantities stated to have been overprinted of the first series $-\mathbf{i}$. e., with the larger sur :harge: $-1 / 2 \mathrm{~d} 29,100,4 \mathrm{~d} .8,100,1 \mathrm{~d} .480,606,6 \mathrm{~d}, 11,550,2 \mathrm{~d} .70,170$, 1s. 13,590 , $21 / 2,120,230,2 \mathrm{~s} .6 \mathrm{~d} .13,410$. It ahything here is to achieve any degree of rarity it must obviously be the fourpenny value.

Notes From Europe by J. C. Auf Der Heide. S. H, D., Amsterdam

Since my last notes to the WEST were sent the "de Ruptter" surcharged postage due stamps have been reprinted and the set which sold some weeks ago at 15 to 20 dollars, is now to be had at the postoffice again for f 23 for not yet one doilar, complete 1! ! The rush is over and there will be enough for a good time to come

The new pictorial set of postage stamps for the Austrian Hungary Monarehy has appeared. The set is pualished in commemoration of the reign, during 60 gears, of the Emperor Franz Yosef.

Romania will have a set of new stamps again. No Commemoration,Jubilee, Charity,--but real plaln, straight forward stamps, bearing a new purtrait of King Coral. This issue is a real necessity and fulfils a long felt want! !

It is told by some papers that "false"' surcharged de Ruyter dues exist, though till today no copy has come before my eyes The rumor came from Rotterdam, but may be an advertising trick.

The sale of the Dutch tubuculose label remalnders seems not to be protitable. Every three weeks a new offer of this ugly stamp set is sent to most dealers and collectors without success!

A railway station only for postal purposes will be built in Berlin. Posts are about $21 / 2$ million marks. It promises to become the finest postalrallway station in existence. All mail received at the Auhalter and Botsdemer Bahnhof, will be sorted there from the trains, which enter the building on 2 sides. Yearly alone 30 millions postal parcels are received here! a special room is destined for the great amount of parcels with flowers, dally received from the south, Italy, etc.

Bavarla wants a dew set of postage stamps. Mks 3500 premium is promed for the best de3ign which is adopted. The Bararians will not yet use the German imperial postage stamps!

Messrs. Bridger & Kay of Fleet Street, Loudod, J. C. have published a new catalogue of Ascal,telegraph and revenue stamps of the Britizh Colonles. The excellent book is compiled by Mr. A. B. Kay member of the aforesaid firm. The price is 60c.

A paper that is steadily coming to the front is "Der Deutsche Philatelist," published in Hanover, Germany. The first number for 1900, has 24 pp. of advertising. The subscription price is only 40 cents (A merican) per year.

No collector with a philatelic library should miss it.
It seems time that both Amerlcan and general papers were right in supposing last fall, that interest in postage stamps would rise this season. Iudg. ing from the advertising that is made, deais that are settled, as well as from my own experience I have to say, that the results have surpassed my expectations. These last 5 years, there has not been a season of so much profit to the stamp dealer.

The publication of a dutch phllatelic paper, coming out twice a week is in preparation. As a German contemporary says, "Copy enough, but Subscribers?''

That quaint language, "Esperanto"' comes more and more to the front. A great many philatelic papers, especialls those printed in one of the Roman tongues, have some columps devoted to the study of it. It seems that "Esperanto'' will have more results than former essays as Volopuh etc.

The collection of Book plates or Ex Lforis, as those pretty bits of paper more generally are known, is not important in the Lower Countries, but in Germany is all the more important. Almost every person of some knowledge and standing has his own bookplate. A great many artistic booklets come from Spain and Italy. Those collectors who are interested in the collecting of Bookplates I can serve with information.

The Peruvian Llama by Fancher L. Miller

No doubt all collecturs of Peruvian stamps are familiar with the picture of the llama which appears on them. The llama first appeared on the stamps of the issue of 1858 and since then it has appeared on several issues up to 1898.

The llama is only found in the Andes mountains of South America and is most plentiful in Peru. In color it is either all white, or spotted with brown or black, or all black. They are very hardy animals, surefooted and will travel with a pack up and down steep and dangerous slopes at the rate of fifteen miles a day. They are related to the camel and, like them can go four or five days without water.

Before the Spaniards came to Peru the llama was the only beast of burden the natives had and to them it was as the horse, ox, goat and sheep are to the people of this country.

The pack of the llama usually weighs one hundred pounds and when they get tired they lie down and if their masters try to urge them on again by beating or by pulling them they often discharge a very disagreeable liquid in their masters' faces through their teeth.

Besides being used as a beast of burden in place of an ox or a horse,their wool is long and silky and is very valuable for weaving.

Thus we see why the llama, on account of its great and various uses to all Peruvians, is given such a prominent place on the Peruvjan coat of arms and on their stamps.

It is said that the postmaster general Meyer, has ordered the view cards, 40,000 to 60,000 a day, that arrive at the dead letter office in Washington, D. C. to be turned over to the orphan asylums ald other children's institutions. What are the little ones golng to do with such a deluge of view cards?

Frank Oreitou. 670 West Main Street. Watertown, N. Y. kindly gives the following description of a unique pearl in his possession: "The pearl has the appearance of a human tead, it has been the subject of much comment by wang gem experts who have seen it, as it recalled to them the Michael Angelo pearl, which has a fancied resemblance to the great artist whose name it bears."

Stuart C. Way, Wattrbury, Conn., writes concerning a few finds made in the vicinity of Woodmont, Conn, of shell arrowheads. (He inclosed a specimen, which shows excellent workmanship). He sajs that the arrow hends found near his rome are composed of white quartz, trough a few have been found of flint. A soapstone bowl. finely finished was also among his finds. Mr. Way began cellecting about a year ago, and now has about 500 specimens in his collection.

The following from E. S. Byington, a civll engineer of Lockesburg, Ark., concerning some Indian mounds in the vicinity of the above mentioned town will be of interest to WEST readers: There are a number of salt spring abodi nine miles southeast of this place and near the west bank of the Saline river. Near the east bank, and a mile north is located one of the largest Indian mounds in this vicinity. This mound is about 450 feet long north and south, and 75 feet wide near the north end, and about 25 feet high: the top and outer edges drawing to a point at each end Upon a recent risit to the salt springs we found a number of small mounds near by, some of them evidently residence mounds; others were built entirely of ashes and broken potters. Several hundred gards of cuble ashes are piled near the springs. Specimens of the potters show the pots to have been originally 30 ot 36 inches across the top-could not determine the depths. Among the ashes are numerous fints, pieces of bones, osster shells and charcoal. Evidence points to the fact that the Mound Builders or Indians lived here a long time and made salt. Question, Is this pre-Columbian! Did the Mound Builders, Indians or both, know the value of salt? In conclusion, will say, these springs were operated during the civil war, but the kilns are separate and distinct from the older Indian workings. Will be glad to hear from any of your readers interested."

Lignite in Abundance

Abcot the niddle of Ausust the state geoglogist, Dr Leonard organ. ized a second path, comisting of himself atal two university students. J. W. Bliss and W. J. Smith. which txtelded the woik into southern Billings county and the adjacent parts of howman county, under the auspices of the state geoloxica! surres. The expenses of the other party were paid by the government, allhough the state survey recelves the benefit of the information gathered duing the tield uork. But it was found desirable to extend the investigations beyond the restricted area covered by the Uuited States geologica survey and therefore the second party was outhtted and followed up the little Missouri to Lictle leaver creek in Bowman county.

In the vicinity of Nedora and elsewhere large numbers of beautifully preserved fossil leaves were collected and on Little Beaver creek a great variety of marine stells were found. These lossils will add mateially to the collection of the geological surrey at the university. A trip was also made to the top of Sentinel Butle, where many tine fossil tish were obtained from the chalky limestone forming its summit.

Near Sand creek postothce, in southern Jillings county, there are several conspicuous buttes, inciuding the chalk buttes, which are formed of strata different from those ncouring elsewhere in the state. The formation is al. most pure white and is composed of 3800 feet of calcareous clay, sand and a curious conglomerate containing pebbles of many kiads of rolcanic rock which must have been brought hundreds of miles from the Rocky mountain region. It was in these beds, which are the youngest of any in North Dakota, that Earl Douglass of the Carnegle Museum of Pittsburg, several years ago found the bones of the three-toed horse and the rhinosceros. While the party this summer did not find many bones in these buttes, they ran into a den of rattlesnakes which furdished an auundance of exoitement for a time.

Near the extreme southern edge of the Billings county a discovery of much jmportance was made in foding what is known in geulogy as an unconformity. At the line of contact of the upper and lower formations, the lower and older strata were seen to have undergone erosion before the young. er beds were deposited upon them after the lapse of centuries. The fiuding of this break in the geological record thtows new light on the history of the region and explains the absence of the Laramie formation, which for many jears ras been thought to ovcur in the state.

The rush of settlers to the western part of the state during the last year or two has been remarkable and in many places the rancher is baviug to give way to the farmer. In districts where a short time ago it was possible to ride in any direction over the trackless prairie, one now has to follow the section lines and keep between wire fences. From the top of a high butte like Sentinel Butte, the houses and cultipated fields of the newcomers can be seen in every direction as far as the eye cau reach.

This rapid settlement of the country is due partly to the new Chleago, Milwaukee and & St. Paul railroad which crosses the southwestern corner of the state, and partly to the plentiful rainfall in the western counties during the past few sears. The molsture has been sulficlent for the groxth of splendid crops. One harvesting machine was seen in Bowman county which had been hauled from Dickinson, a distance of 100 miles, and threshing outfits are now not uncommon in Blllings, Bowman and Hettinger countles.

The state geological surveg also did some work in Cavalier county. where V. J Melsted of the University carefully located and mapped the distribution of the formation containing the cement rock, which outcrops along the streams in the Pembina monntains.

A good deal could be said on the subject of why peuple will go on buying postcards, but I think I have sald enough to show sou that 1 have at least reasonable grounds for belleving that the prospects of the post card trade for 1908 are quite as good as could be expected. The pubilshers, I know, are preparing for a good year; many active brains and gifted pencils are at work thinking and designing ever new and ever more interesting subjects for and series of postcards. Almost before sou have se!tled up suur Christmas card accounts theip travelless will be preparing to call on gou and show you, at any rate the advance lines for the new year's goods, and as the summer season approaches I do not doubt but that you will be inundated with offers of such norel and pleasing stuff that you will find it hard to refuse the bait, and indeed may be tempted to lay in too large a stock But even as I have urged jou not to be pessimistic about postcards, so now I would caution you against being over sanguine. If I may borrow an expression from the Yankees, I would paraphrase it and say "Buy early and often." By this I'mean buy a little of every good line offered sou that is appropriate . to your shop and neighborhood. Do not order heavy stocks, but rather repeat your order from time te time as you find a partlcular line going off well. By this means, with a little thought and a little attention to the subject, you will certainly find in picture postcards a pleasing and decidedly profitable side line. In this way it lies largely with you to ensure and make good my propheoy that the postcard spason of 1908 will be a very prosperous one for all concerned Fron an Engllsh paper.

There is one clergyman on Long Island who has made the collection of chu:ch post cards his hobby, and he proudly boasts that he can show pictures of cer half the Episcopal churches in the country. in addition to hundreds of other denominations.

OLD COIJS OF AMERICA

The uecessity of coin, as a medium of 1 rade, was felt in America at an early period after the seltlement of the country. The arampum of the Indians was used by the white settlers of Massachuet ts to a considerable extent at first Wampum seems to be a primitive form of money, unlike that of any other part cf the world. The value of gold depends upon its scarcity, and of silver as well Sheep and caitle were worth more or less as they sersed the purposes of men for food or labor; but wampum is the result of labur only, and its value seems to be only the value of so many hours' work of a man's hands. It consisised of strings of white shell, a valueless artijele itself, except as it had cost lime and labor to make it on the seashores of New England.

Is there not a lesson in this North Ameican Indian Medium of circulation, which, in a more civilized nation, and a later period, we may turn with some degree of respect, Are we not arriving at an age of the world when gold is becoming very plemiful-when its proportionate value to other metals is rastly decreasing, and when some new standard of value will be necessary! Ilave we not already arrived at an age when the true standard of value is lator? It is worth thinking of, to say the least.

The earllest coin known to hare been struck for American circulation was a piece of brass since called the Somers Islands piece. The Bermudas were discovered in the sixteenth century, but afterward named the Somers Islands from Sir Geo. Somers, who was wrecked there in the early part of the seventeenth century. There is extant in England a specimen of a celn with a hog on one side and a rude ship on the other. The legend is "Somers Islands XII". The colo has no date. Not many specimens are extant. The coin is of little interest to us, not being continental.

The first cotrs strictly North American were the New England coinage of the Massachusetts mint, in 1652 . First came the New England coins of one shilling and slxpence. They were rude silver pleces characteristic of the early colonial settlements.

They were followed by the well know Pine tree coins. which were issued in great quantities and varlety, and formed the chief article of circulation in

New England for nearly a century.
Doubtless some readers are familiar with au anecdote of John Hull, the contractor for the Massachusetts mint, who coined the Pinetree money. This has appeared in various shapes, the most romantio being that, when his daughter was married to Samuel Sewall, he gave her, for dowry, the Pine tree shillings which equaled her own welght, she being placed in one side of the seales and the shillings poure 1 in the other, the wedding day being selected for the trial. If the git! was of modern mould we might think a hundred pounds a fair light welght, and the dowry would not then seem large, for a hundred pounds of silver were not then worth much more than $$ 1600.00$ and the girl was not worth much if that were all her value. $$ 1600.00$ is a very different weight from the 8150,000 which, in several articles and works ha been placed as the weight of the dowry. The authors should have counted before "Inmping' the ynung lady in such stgle, and making her weigh nearly ten thousind pousds!

Ifull recieved one shilling out of every twenty he coined for his labor and expenses. It was a great grist that was brought to his mill, and this was a toll in silper which made him in time one of the richest wen in the colony.

The New England colns were easlly counterfeited or clipped, and hence the immediate change to pine or oak tree pattern.

Of these there were several dies. The trees were according to the fancy of the artist. and hence we have one known as the shrub shilling, and others as before named. They differed also in size and in weight: the coinage was in fact, very crude, and yet it served al! the purposes of a poung nation. The coinage was continued for thirty-tnree or four years, the date, 1652, being never changed on the coins. The two pence piece was not issued till 1862, and always afterward bore the date.

There was as yet no copper coinage in America. In 1694 a token made its appearance in England bearing on one side av elephant and on the other the legend "God Preserve London" Where or by whom it was issued does not now appear, and it remalns probable that it was a tradesman, issue or to serve for change. The device however, caught some one's eye, who thought it a basis of good colonial specula'ion, and two coins or tukens shortly after made thelr appearance in New England and the Carollnas. They do not seem to have gone extensively in circulation, and ceitainly failed to supply the wants of the colonie which now began to be pressing for copper mones, but their appeals to the government were vain till 1719 when ten tons of copper money were exported to Massachusetts.
At London saleiooms an old Irish gilt potato ring has just been sold for 815 which was remarkably cheap considering that had it been sterling silver of the same period hall-marked, it would have fetched at least $$ 500$, such rings being very scarce. At the same sale silver presentation trowels seemed to be at discount, for two very handsome ones sold for 83.50 and 8375 each respectively.

Old Chinese lac furniture sells well, a small red lac cabinet cabinet sold for $$ 6 j$, and three red lac chairs to match for $$ 4$ each.

TIIE SUN BASKET. Concluded from last issue. - Courtesy Western Field.
Near the headwaters of Russian river, at Potter Valley, is a mound of red earth built by the Pomas to celebrate the feast of the sacrament. Sun offerings of bright colored feather baskets are made, the Yukis decorating theirs with ground abalone pendants that add richly to the brilliant setting, every touch of sunligat bringing out a new light in the nacre of the she!!.

Modern California specimens show a rariety of feathers of different birds -the green head of the mallard, the golden oriole, the Spanish robin and the jay, tach contributing with its con beautiful plumage an added hue.

Though just restrictions should be place duron the slaughter of the inno cents for such a purpose, it can be said in favor of the Indian that he uses judgment in the number and kind of birds that he shoots, and most of the baskets are made from the coats of edible or destructive kinds. Most of the pattern baskets are simply dotted at intervi.s with beads and feathers, and these are truly the most artistic-being found in the shape of bowls, boats and cones. When wrought for beauty alone, they are called "jewell baskets" and have figures expressive of sentiment or tradition. Favorites among these are the hoofs of the running deer, of the standing deer, the rattlesnake, the mountain brook, and the wind.

A rare and sometimes misinterpreted sign is that known as the "flame pattern," symbolizing the death bire at cremation. This is similar to the Wa sho design, the departing spirit of life. In it there is indication among the savages of a belief in jmmortality. Sid to relate, in their baskets this signiticant figure has barely survived the custom of burning the body in a funreal pyre built upon the hilltops, and is sacred to seasons of mourning.

For use and strength the different weaves are unsurpassed, in fact they are carried to perfection bp Poma weavers-the cone basket for carrying burdens, the pinole bowls for sooking and for dishes, acorn gatherers large and small, and grain vessels for storage of the winter supplies. Few variations from regular types occur. The shu-set is the oldset twine weave. Of orna. mental baskets the bamshibu, called three stick, takes the lead. It is the foundation weave of most solid feather work; barntush is stronger, coarser material of the tbre of grape vine, making a dark cream ground with horlzontal bands of cucls, the red-bud tree known as mountain birch. This comes to perfection after the fall rains when Its color is brightest, only the root bark being used. A typical old stitch is the tsai, or one stick, delicate and graceful of plain pattern in black and white, sometimes profusely interlaid wth quail tips. The tee is a a anomaly, a double faced texture with the firmness and consistency of cloth. Most of the foundation material is willow rod and sedge root, stained brown or black for the pattern by burying in mud or hot ashes.

I watched the Poma woman at her work. The method was so simple It seemed like the following of an intuition rather than of an art, deftly, coiling, weaving, twining. Besides her fingers she used a basin of water and an awl, the one to keep the root pliable, and other to hold it in place. With bits of broken glass she scraped the thread, sometimes smoothing the rough places by drawing the weft between the teeth with patience that amounts to a passion. Winter finds her sitting on the floor of her farmhouse, summer out in a cu, that is a dwelilng made of any kind of arborescense that she prefers, and it is her custom to hang the jewelled treasures when finished about the doormay at şuprise as a peace offering to the great life-giviog spirit, Yu, the sun.

NOTICE.
After our report is completed each month, it is carefully gove over and all mistakes are corrected before it is transmitted to the printer for publication.

We realize that ow'ng to the diversity and oddness of the names and addressses and other items which we publish, it is almost impossible to have anything set up correct to the letter.

THE UNION desires therefore to ask the pardon and endurance of those whose names or addresses, are, or will be, sumetimes incorrectly printed. It is our desire to have our reports correct in every detall, but we cannot assume the responsibility for tspographical errors.

ROLL OF HONOR.

Commencing at once a new system goes into effect regarding the marner In which credit will begiven on the Roll of Honor.

Under the old system, only one point was allowed in any one month, regardless of the number of members secured in the month.

Under the new system, one point will be given for each new member secured, so that it is now possible for a member to obtain a large number of points to his credit within a short time.

Representatives will also be allowed a place on the Roll of Honor, whereas under the former system they were barred out.

Members whose names have been published on the Roll of Honor in the past, one or more times, have been credited with one point for each tlme their names have so appeared. Below are the members who have secured one or more members during the morth just past:

ALEX WEATHERWAX.
For the third time since the organization of THE UNION, death has entered into our ranks and deprived us of further fellowship with some kiad brother.

With sjncere regret we anounce that Mex ber No. 1193, Mr. Alex Weatherwax. passed away at his home 1591 Bushwick Ave., Brooklyn, N.Y ., Jonuary 20th, last; and we trust the following lines will convey a message of comfort to those who knew and loved him best:
"We shall sleep, but not forever, there will be a glorious dawn; We shall meet to part-no never on the resurrection morn."

WHY NOT?
Has THE UNION a Representative In your state or country? If not; why not! Will you kindly help us in our endeavors to accomplish this end? Why not be a booster for THE UNION in your state or country? Let us

FOREIGN PHRASES.
In order to comply with a manifold request on the part of our members and to facilitate their desire with reference to exchange in foreign countries based upon the language of the country, we are pleased to publish a list of the commonest expressions in the English, French, German and Spanish languages, the translation of which we owe to member No. 13t, Carlo Zeimet, 170 Williams St., New York, N. Y., who as foreign correspondent in the above mentioned languages is in jouroal practice of the same, and whom we are pleased to announce is a recent member of our association. Next month we shall publish Italian and Portugese transla ions

Mr. Zeimet, whom we understand is an ardent and conscientious card exchanger, has tendered us his setvices in the jpterest of the club, which services we will be pleased to accept and we have no doubt but that we will be able with his assistance to satisfy a great de mand on the part of many of our members.

Preserving Entomological Specimens

By K. Nuck

When your specimens are removed from the spreading board, a neat label bearing the lccality, date of capture and collectors name should be put on each pin. Scientifically, a specimen is regarded as useless if it has not this jnformation. If you are making only a small collection your specimens "can be mounted in elgar boxes or other shallow boxes but they must be examined often for as a rule the boses are not tight titting and museum pests soon put in an appearance.

Insect cases may be bought from dealers and are really the cheapest in the end. The Schmitt case is recommended by many and is largely used in the U. S. If your intention is to form a large collection of butterfies and moths it would be best to have a cabinet made containing a dozen or so drawers. Most collectors like to have four specimens of each kind of butterHy or moth. This of course is not always possible for many varieties are rery rare, but of all avallable species it is best to have 2 of each sex also one mounted so as to show the underside.

Some kind of deterrent to museum pests should be put in cases or cabinet such as camphor or naphthaline. An easy way is to make a little bag of say cheesecloth and pin one in each box.

If at any time you notice a little tine dust under a specimen it is a sign that some pest is at work and a spoonful of Lisulphide of carbon should be poured into bos and the lid closed quickly and left closed several hours. This will fuish the pest.

A pair of entomological forceps will be verg handy in handing specimens.

Notes from Illinois by C. O. Engel

A serial story entitled the "Black Hawk War"' is now appearing in our Daily Paper. The story is by Frank E Stevens, and is the history of the Black Hawk war which took place in Northern Illinols, when Illinois was milderness of prairies at the time of the Purchase of the Louisiana Territory. The Puplic Library of Dison, has recently added to the reading room, three large show cases. Two of which are devoted t prehistoric Indian stone relics of all kinds. One large case is devoted to the W. H. Edwards private collection, which is considered the largest in the city, I believe. The other case of these relics is the propertv of Mr. Joho T . Lawience of Palmyra twanship, being nearly all relics found in this vieluity. There are hundreds of arrow heads of every shape, size and color. Also many fine stode axes, hammers, etc This is a loan exhibit and attracts much attention to the Disod community. Taken as a whole, the collections are very attractive, and the Dixon people feel proud of their library for the good work it is doing is qathering together these relfics of their vicinity. The other case is devoted entirely to numerous curiosities, shells, birds eggs. fossils, etc. Another small wall case is deroted to antlque crockery some two to three hundred jeirs old. It consists of plates, saucers, pltchers and if china ware, etc. This shows the interest these Illinois fenple have in the history of their country. Mas the good work keep up.

The Search by Harrold Banning

The "Stin Autograph Club" was a vey select group, in fact it hardjp merited the name "club" having only seven members. These had been drawn together by that strange affinity existing between collectors of the same objects. I will only mention two of the members as the others took no part in the search.

John Hallfax we might class among the 'Idle rich'' but with all his advantages noue envied him for with his wealth he also inherited that dread disease, insanity. Occasionally at our meetings he would converse in a wild rambling manner which clearly foretold bis approaching matady but he was usually a pleasant person to meet-generous, amiable, but of a retiring nature. The other member was Dr. Kane, a retired physician of considerable wealth and a finished education, a man whom I am proud to say was my friend. One evening about nine oclock the door bell rang violeutly but before I could answer it the door was opened, and Dr. Kane appeared His face was flushed and his eyes gleaming as drawing from his pocket a folded note of yellow parchment he exclalmed. "See, Jim. what I found in the body of that old violin I bought recentiy', and carefully unfolding the note he exposed a document dated June 6, 1500 beautifully written in old German. The doctor was an apt scholar and quickly transiated the following into English for my benefit-' I, Hugo Hansburg of Liebig, have placed behind the fourth stone in the northeast corner of the auandoned monastery on "Monks Island" a bronze box containing a true autngraph letter of Christ. This letter has been in the possession of my family for three hundred years and I the last merber suffering from an incurable disease bequeath it to the finder of this note hoping that he and tis family may follow the example of my family and keep the facr of its existence a secret from the world." Then followed a fairly complete history of the documeltit in which it was traced back many centuries Even the skeptical doctor appeared satistied with the narrative. "JIm." said the ductor vehemently, "this is worth the trip can you the ready in a week to accompany me to Europe for I intend to look into this matter?" It did not take me long to give my assent and the doc tor after enjolning toe to beep quiet, departed. The days passed rapidly and I soon found myself with $t$ de doctor comfortably settled in a parlor car speeding tcwards New York where we hoped to catch the great liner "Icicle''. The doctor was in high spirits and quite talkative. He would frequently take out his uote and con it over with satisfaction. I remember asking him if he had kept his secret. He looked at me curiously and replied "You and John Halfax are the only persons who have seen it and he regarded it as a joke" He then leaned back and studied a map but I could see that he was annoyed. Our trip was delighftful but the doctor was so absorthed in his errand that he did not enjog it as he should. As we drew nearar the goal he grew almost feverish with curiosity and excitement and when we flally stepped off the train at Liebig, he gave a long sigh of satisfaction. Liebig was one of those decayed towns which one meuts of ten in Europe It had flourished at one time but was now "dead"' only the skeleton remained. We soon located "Monks Island'' being the onls one near town although the old name had been discarded. It was a low small rock in the middte of the river about a mile above the town. It was uninhabited, but had once been the home of a devoted band of monks, hence the name. Goc ouly knows why these misguided men selecte such a miserable lock for a heme, for there were beautiful islands a few miles down the river but ere:; these fanatics lad grown tired of their location and had abandoned it. The walls of the monastery still remained, unadorned by vine or shrub. This was the goal. We spent the rest of the afternoon in assembling the tool, for removing the stone and engaging a boat. That evenng about ten cloc: , the moon being bright and our preparations completed we hastened to the boat house. As I stepped in the boat $I$ heard an exclamation of an. noj:ince from the the doctor. In our haste we had forgotten a necessary tool, as there were two boats at the pier I hurried back to the wlllage for the tool while the doctor proceeded to the island to locate the stone behind Which his treasurer awaited him. I met few pessons on my return to the hotel but just as I entered the village a crouching figure darted past me like an arrow, but I gave it no thought then. Howerer, as I entered the hotel that figure crept into my brain and a terrible thought took possession of me. I snatched up the tool and hurried to the street. The terrible thought had taken complete possession of me and I soon broke lnto a run. I seemed to make no progress as alternately running and walking $I$ stumbled along Ele $y$ stone sprang up to trip me and every step was but an inch. Finally panting and exhausted I staggered dcun to the xater's edge and grasping a post gazed upon a frightful scene. My exertions had been in vain for there in mid-river two boats were apidly approaching each other ly the bright monnlight 1 could see the doctor's form in one while the occupant of the other was crouching at such an angle I could not recognize him. $\boldsymbol{a}$ low sparling cry struck my ear, that voice though horribly convulsed I recognized as that of John Ifalifaz. The doctor tried to avoid him but finding it impossible he rose to meet the madman, for John llalifax was now a raving manjac The excitement avd disappointment of fivding himself outwitted for he was on the same errand as the doctor had upset his weak mind. The doctor tossed a long yellow rell of parthment into the and of the boat out of harm's way and braced himself for the struggle. The boat came down upon him and the occupant rising spraug like an ape upon the dcctor. There in the shadow of the grim ruins was fought the battle between life and healin and death and insauity. The doctor fought despelately with his mad antagonist, and for a moment 1 thought the would overpower him The two forms swayed in a short death si ruggle, then the boat upset and the pair were thrown into the water. The docior's arms were pluioned in the embrace of the madmau and they sank like a stone leaving only a few bubbles to take their p!aces Death and insanlty had won. I saw a yellow streak as the parctıment was carrjed down with the current. Then all was over, and only the reflection of the moon remained on the water 1 stared stupidly at this for some time then madness must have tuuched me also forl can remember nothing but dim lighis and st range faces Mally dajs after. When I had recovered I crossed over to the island where I found the stolle remored and the carity behind it empty. The doctor had removed the stone and secure his triasure while I was returnng to the village. He had tlien started for the bariks and found death on the way, nhile lunable inswim. was forced to filtiess the struggle. When all hope for recoverlhg the bodies and parchwem had valished I returi e i home sick at heart, for 1 had lost a dear friend add the world had lost its greatest relic.

Fossils--What Chey Are by L. C. Sparks

Everyone has noticed the curious forms that are to be found in the rocks. For centuries philosophers have wondered over their structures and guessed at their origin. Nut untll the end of the 18th century was it suggested that these forms were the relics of organism that once lived.

Early Stoilan philosophers attributed them to the influence of the stars Falloplo belleved that fossil shells were generated by fermentation or tha; they had acquired their form by unexplained movements of matter. Olist thought that fossils were "lusus naturae"' (a play of nature) which theori was strongls held to until during the l4th century.

Later it was belleved by many that fossils wore the models after which the creator fashioned the living organtsms of todag. The deluge offered another explanation and for years it was tirmly held that lossils were the re. mains of organisms overcome by the universal flood.

Even today it is difficult to convince the unstudied that these forms are the remains of organisms that existed thousands perhaps millions of years ago in ages too remote for the human mind to comprehend.

To the lay mind they sre petrified honey comb, wasp's bests, beech nuts, rose buds, or one or another of a thouasud ordinary objects or they are mere. ly curious formations.

In reality fossils are the impressions or casts of the skeletons or harder parts of plants and animals or broadly considered the term 'fossil" may be applied to any traces of life naturally entombed in the earth's crust. Strict. Iy speaking the implements of prehistoric man when found entombed in the earth are fossil.

Doubtless some over-enthusiastic collector has shown you some marvelous petrefactions of presenc day objects in his collection or perhaps your curiosity has led you into the 10 cent exhibition of a petrified man. Let me here state a scientific truth:-flesh cannot petrify and no organism neither plant $n$ or animal can turn directly to stone.

The "petrified man'" exhibitors are fakirs, while petrifed corn stalls, birds nests, etc., are impossibilities.

The process of fossilization is a deep and interestiag study and will be explained in the next issue of "WEST".

An interesting !lterary exhibit, in which the first editions of all the works of Milton, and many later editions are shown is being held at the Columbia Unversity N. Y. City. The copy was written by Milton's.stcretaly, and from it the tirst edition was printed. Mr. Morgan paid a large sum for this manuscript in London and it is now exhibited for the tirst $t$ me in America.

These natives build their habitations of dressed timber underground. There are two types one having a central fire place and the other having oil lamps as a method of neating The dwelling consists of a single room with a raised platform around the four walls on which the members of the family household sleep. Their food consists chiefly of dried tish procured during the summer season together with meat and a few kerfies. Such habitations are grouped together forming villages of about 250 population. These people delight in telling stories and their re!igion consists in a beilef in swarms of spirits who affict humanity. The women are supreme in the household. Valuable Roman and Norman relics have been brought to light as the result of the excavations of the extension of the General Postoffice in London. Several months ago the workmen came upon a portion of the old Ro. man wall which ran aruond the city, and the remains have since been found to extend for about 400 feet at $\mu$ ight angles to Newgate street. The rampart was abjut eight feet wide at the base, and seven feet at the top, its height being sisteen feet.

A large quantity of earthenware and the relics were found near the wall, having, it is supposed, been thrown on the rubbish heap as uselses. Among a large number of coins, which have not yet been properly examined, are a number struck by the Ancient Eiomans

The Connecticut fistorical Society has in its possession some wooden trenchers, made of blocks of wood hollowed out, once used as dishes by the early colonist. Some of them are of poplar,and so daintily shaped that they were haded down as a legacy to obildren and grandchildren. Usually the busbadd and wife, or two of the children ate from the same trencher, and it was regarded as the height of style to have a separate trencher for each guest.

Three has been placed on exhibition in the mummy room at the British Museum, the mummy of a lady, one of the priestesses of the famous priesthood of A men Ra, at Karnak. The mummy is undoubtedly one of the finest In the collection, and is covered with a cartonnage casing, modeled in the form of the body; the face belng a portralt of the deceased, is thickly overlaid with gold, the ejes and eyebrows beig inlaid with obsidian. The rest of the casing is occupled with representations of the deceased addressing prayers to Osirus Annbis and the genll of the dead, the whole being thickly covered with gold paint. The coffin is like most of its class, made in the shape of a munmitied body, the sides belng richly decorated with gilded rep. resentations of the gods. COLLECTING ENTOMOLOGICAL SPECIMENS, By K. Nuck.
With a little experience the collector will soon become expert in the use of the inet. Of course specimens will be missed at first and even when caught, spoiled by careless handling but practice. It is impossible to tell where to collect. Butterfies do not all Os in the same piaces; some kinds like sunny woods, others swamps or along streams and others along rallway tracks, etc. The moths are to be caught chielly at night. Some begin to Hf early in the ovening and can be caught around flowers etc. Electric lights on the outskirts of towns attract great numbers and here they can easily be collected.

The method called "sugaring is an interesting way to catch specimens. The "sugar" is molasses thinned down and daubed on tree trunks at dusk. These trees can then be visited shortly afterward and may speclmens obtained. Take a dark lantern along with you also some kind of a boz in which to place specimens caught A cigar box with a strip of cork glued in the bottom will answer. The cork will hold the entomological pins.

THE ATCHISON GLOBE SAYS:

"Those who delight in old quilts would greatly enjoy seeiug a quilt that is owned by Jesse Huey. It was made by his great grand mother, and bears her name and the date of making in tins cross stitches in the center of the quilt: "Ann Mofft, 1801." The quilt is of white material, with a rose pattern done in quilting all through it in the tiniest of stitches, with thread that was home spun. There is a border of blue around the extreme edge, and an interior border with a pretty plece of calico, with a pink rose on blue ground forming the center cf every design. In the center of the quilt is an immense star of blue and white. Mr. Huey thinks so muoh of the quilt that he carries $$ 50$ insurance on it , and mones couldn't buy it from him. Of all the old quilts the writer of this has ever seen, the one made by "Ann Moffit, 1801," is the verg prettiest."

The writer-has just received for his private collection the following Iddian relics from Mr. John Harmon, of Hay Springs Nebr: A handsome stone pipe with stem, once the property of John McMalion, interpreter for Red Clot d the Sioux chief; a bow and three arrows made by John Stinking Bear, a Sious Indian: a war club made by Joe Mesico, and beadwork by Lily Lightfoot, aged 15, both of the Pine Ridge agency.

The following from the Kansas City Journal will interest stamp collectors:
"The latest $p$ est is the postage stamp bug. Its kin 10 the green bug and other bugs, big and little, has not been determined. The council is seriously considering making an appropiation to employ an official city bug. ologist to determine from whence the postage stamp bug came,and what can be done to expedite its golng. Ths particular bug has a penchant for the mucilage on the backs of postage stamps, and it has a voracious appetite for muscilage and a storage capacity of immense proportions. It gets under the layers of postage stamps and completely strips off the muscilage and crles for more. It disdains the paper part of the stamp, and thus far has done no damage other than to strip off the muscilage. Thls in itself is really annoying, for it requires the applying of new muscilage to the stamps every time a letter has to be malled. As a precaution against the ravages of the pests economical heads of the departments are sealligg up the stamps in "ans that once contained tobacco.

Paul Handke, who lives near Poer, owns an old fas lioned buffalo and deer riffe that is probably a hundred years old. It was brought to Atchison county by Fred Binkleg. The barrel is four feet long, and the gun is fired witt cap and ball. Mr. Handke also has an Interesting collection of Iodian and other relics.

Killing Bottle for Entological Specimens by K. Nuck Any wide mouthed bottle of convenient size will do. The old 2 oz quiulde bottles are good and the common vaseline bottle will do.

Cyanide of Potassium is the poisos used for billing insects. This should be broken into small pieces and placed in bottle. If using a vaseline bottle put in enougn to cover bottom. On top of this pour half an inch of liquid plaster of Paris. The bottle should be left uncorked for two hours. Cyanide of Potassium is a deadly poison and care must be exercised in handling it. Label the bottle POISON. Large moths are best killed by oxalic acid diluted in water. If with a sharp pen dipped in this liquid the underside of the thorax between the bases of the legs is pierced some of acid will find its way into the body and cauce almost instant death.

Before this a few drops of chloroform can be poured over the thorax. This will stupefy the insect and it can easlly be pierced with the dipped which has been dipped in the oxalic acid. The chloform will soon evapoate and will not lujure the specimen.

Those of my readers who understand French must get a copy of M. Maury's "Histolre del Timbres Postes Francals" just issued, as it treats very interestingly of the post cards, wrappers, envelopes, etc., and is splendidly illistrated. The early issues of the French cards have a wealth of variety that has nerer, I think, properly explored, and it remains more or less one of tie untilled felds, of which there are too many around us. The cards are not now so plentiful as they were, and it is becoming diffoult to pick up the scarcer varleties, so that we must look to some of the older collectors for light on the subject. From a number of clippings. (sent by the publisher), 1 &stract the following notes: The State Univer,ity of Catifornia, has just issued a 100 page bulletin, By Dr. Max Uhle, which lays bare the secrets which have baffled scientists in their search for relics at the huge mound at Enceryville, commonly known as Shell Mound Park. The b llletingives the results of several years work in,excavating in the park by [) Uhlen and Professor Merriam of the State University. The bulletin is of the greatest archaeolgical value, and explains that Shell Mound and other mounds in and around Oakland and Berkely are almost the only witnesses of primitive culture among the Indians which formerly inhabited the Bay county region.

Among the constituents of the Mourd, may be mentioned shells, of which the oyster, mussels and clams precominate; bones of the deer, elk, sea otter, beaver, syuirel. rabbit, wild cat, wolf, bear, sea lion, whale, turtle etc. Also fire olaces, known by their heds several feet in length, zonsistiog of charcoal and yellouish ashes, The age of the mound is of considerable interest. It is possible to assume that it represents a historical development of more than a thousand-possibly seseral thousand-years; as various cultural stages are indicated by the contents of the different strata.-e g. kinds of implements, the different forms of burial, etc. Among the artificats unearthed, are mortars, flat stones, pestles, hammer like stones, tobacco pipes, utensils of bone, horn and the teeth of animals. The bulletin is profusely illustrated with carefully prepared cuts.

Mr. C. E. Kurtz, of Bucyrus, Ohto, writes me that the monument of the hattle of Olentangy (between Col Crawford and the Indians.) stands about 3 miles uorth of his home in Whetstone Trp. Crawford county, Ohlo. He also states that there are found a great many Indian relics, such as axss, hammer stones, knives, spears,arrows fragments of pottery perforated stones amulets birdstones etc. Also a great many arrows and skinners are fonud along Whetstone creek. It is supposed the Wyandot Indians had a village near Olentangy.

What is said to be one of the most remarkable spear heads kuown, was recently found in a bluff north of Omaha. It is seven and one quarter inches long and three faches wide at its widest point. One side is colored a lustrous cobalt blue while the reverse is white. Held to the light it is of a deautiful translucent orange. The chipping is eridently the work of a master in the art. An O naha archaeologist two has exareined the imple. ment declares it to be an arrow head and infers that it was probably used bg one of the race of glants of which the legends of the Omaha tribe of Indians speak. Some ancient mounds opened in this vicinity have shown skeletons between eight and ten feet long. This would go to show that there was fornerly a race of people in the vicinity who could use such an implement of such large size, as an arrow head.

More than forty [ndian graves have beed desecrated in the vicinity of Harbor, Curry cuanty, Oregon. Some of the bodies dug up had not been buried over a sear and a half The remaius were left scattered over the ground for dogs and cosotes to devour. The desecration is supposed to have been done by partifs huntiug for Iodian money and relics. The Iudians are very indignant over the matter and have complaine ${ }^{-1}$ to Superintendent Frank Kyselka. the agent at the Roopa Reservation. Four persons have been arrested by the local authorities, but the otficials are very indifferent, and not much is expected to come of the arrests

The Bureau of Ethnology has in preparation, two very valuable bulletlos, viz: The Antiquities of the Little Cqlorado, and the Antiquities of The Mesa Verda National Park. As the eritions will be limited, applications for copies should be made at once.

POST CARD NOTES, by Feris.

There are about a thousand firms in Denver selling post cards. Should each dealer sell 50,000 cards a year, which is a conservative estimate, it would mean that there are close to $50,000,000$, post cards purchased annually in Denver.

Epidently the western souvenir card collector "keeps busy" for a siugle Denver dealer has a sales record of 750,000 cards in one year.

Postal clerks and officials are ever on the alert to "spot' risque and im. moral cards, and when seen they are quickly relegated to the ash heap. The major portion of the cards of an immoral nature are said to come from foreign countries.

Souvenir card collectors should keep thoroughly posted on the postal laws of the land. New rules and regulations are constantly being promulgated by the postoffice department at Washington, and ignorance trereof means the waste of mang hundreds of dollars worth of stamps every week.

The United States mint at Denver has not coined any gold pieces for some time past but will soon begin turning out the new St. Gaudens gold colns. This has pecessitated the installation of a new set of dies which are being made by the government engraver as Philadelphia. The first mintage order was for $$ 10$ and $$ 30$ gold pleces of the new design.

The new regulation regarding tinseled post cards is not being well observed despite all that has been printed regarding the requirements of the department. Many costly cards are consequently beligg confiscated. The tinseled cards were put under the ban last March a regulation requiring that they must be malled in envelopes. A later amendment specitied that transparent envelopes of waxed paper might be used and a still later ruling is to the effect that the stamp must be placed on the outside of the envelope. If seajed or not sealed, and bearing a message, the postage is 2 cents; if unsealed, and the card bears no message, 1 cent postage is suffctent.

Speaking of birihday cards reminds me that thers is now a small but steady demand for other sorts of greetiog cards such as congratulations on ueddings and other family and social functions. I know that people only live a birthday once a year and a wedding day only once or twice in their lives; still, they do have them, and if the sale of these special greeting cards Lt small, it is at least steady and continnous, and if the cards are good of tieir kind you run no danger of bad stock -for somebody is sure to get born 0 . married or celebrate a silver wedding every day in the year.

Post Card Taken Firm Hold in the U.S.

$\boldsymbol{B}_{\boldsymbol{Y}}$ Gilbert $\boldsymbol{N}$. Gunderson of Minneapolis

Of all the fads which have from lime to time come before the people of this country or any other country, the "postal card craze' is one which has been haring a locger run of it and one which is still much in vogue, and from all indications will probably continue to be for some time to come.

It has only been during recent years that this popular innovation has so taken hold of the world in general, probably not more than five or six sears at the most

Postal cards have been used for, jears and years as a meaus of correspondence: often a persun has but a very limited time and wishes to drop a line to some filend or relative and not having time to wifte a long letter, simply goes lato a shop and buys a postal cara, sits down and writes two or three lines, drops it into a post bor, and the thing is over.

The fad had its origin in Europe, as do many, and the whole Eastern Hemisphere was practically Gooded before it had yet been instituted in America. It had gained such prominence there that it really had become a paying industry.

It was not long. however, before the American traveler attained the idea of carrying the fad back home with him and veutuied to launch it among the penple of his own couutry.

It was not a successful proposition at the start, and for a time its future looked exceedingly dubious, and in fact, it seemed to die an ignominious death, but it was not down to stay, for the craze began to spread from Europe and with such rapidity that the country was fairly deluged, and it kept on increasing in vnlume instead of dying down.as might have been expected.

Now and then, a new kind of card would spring up and would be snapped up by the ever anzious American, giving rise to the bellef that the fad was not a fad in the real sense of the word. but had become almost a habit, and as a result, it was seen that it was to become a pajing propusition after $a!1$.
There is hardly a week but that some idea springs forth in the souvenior llne. In the beginning it was the scenic views, of which there have been thousands and thousands sold in every city. These were followed by the finny ones, many of which are very ingenuous, and which display much wit and humor. Next the Indian cards had their run, and of late the tendency has been toward a much higher standard, by the use of reproductions of famous paintings, and the wold's masters of art, mosic and letters.

This latter class, naturally is the kind which is really of some value, and which have brought the fad to its height. They are the kind which are instructive, and have enjoyed a really sensational run. Lovers of the popular actors and actresses are always ready to take adrantage of an opportun. ity to procuare a likeness of his favor te, and the series has deen particularly in demand.

Of the later ones, is another class of which it ta res from 20 to 25 to make a pillow, and naturally the sale is greatly increased It is not infrequent that a customer invests two or three dollars and many of them spend at least twenty-five to fifty cents.

They are quite unique and the pillows have also taken well is the leather one. The demand for these has been greatly increased by the hobby of making pillows made from them attractive.

There are novelties of all descriptions which show cleverness in their makeup, and these too have had a good run. One of the most clever of these is one to which is attached a pair of small metal shoes

Of the many uses to which the cards have been put, one is the acting as agent for Dan Cupid. It, often time occurs that a young lady makes the acqualntance of a young man, with whom she would like to become more intimate, but for the fact it would not be quite proper to tell him so. Here is where the postal card comes in handily. All that is necessary is for the young lady to intimate to her riewly made friend that she $i$; a collector of souvenir postals and ask him to make contributions. In such a case he naturally accedes to her request, and the result invariably is that he becomes the recipient of a sweet reply. telling him how much they pleased her, etc. It is useless to say that anything more is necessary in the liuking of two hearts together.

In society circles also, the postals have played a conspicuous part. for there have been given luncheons, showers and numerous other functions in which the cards have beell given as decorations. games, and as place cards. At luncheons they have been used by the host, who has received them in acceptance to invitation, to desizus to the places which tha guests are to occupp. In fact there are innumerable usages of which they may be made.

There is one class. however, the run up in which has been considerably dampened by the interference of the post, authorities. This ts the vulgar kind. Of these most have beeu of foreign origin, and some were extreme.

A rello hunter has been doing considerable damage at Liverpnol, chipping pieces off the interior of the Cithedral. Such depredations are sometimes laid to the charge of American visitors. but it would appear in thls case that the despoilers were Englishmen. Such reckless disfiguration of valuable monuments generally leads to the puhlic being deprived of free access to such buildings.

Notes of Interest to the Book and Manuscript Collector by Verna CUeston Hanway

We all have a desire, a weakness if you please, to know the inner life, the human side of great men and women. Perhaps this interest as much as the pleasure collecting affords us actuates the autograph and manuscript collector in his, or her, quest for these. The next best thing to owning such papers is the seting of reproductions. The November 'Cosmopolitan is of intense interest to those of us who are interested in this, or kindred branches of collecting. To begin with it has under the heading "Theodore Roosevelt, By Himself" a reproduction. exact in every minute detall, even to the letter heads of the "Assembly Chamber, State of New York," of a letter written by him personally in which he cells of his ancestry, poiltical achievements and recreations The "Crsmopolitan" aptly describes it as "an interesting human document." Mr Rooserelt's handxriting cannot be termed good, but that is usual with busy and hurried persons; it is vers characteris. tic. In the course of the letter he sa/s:
"I graduated at Harvard in 1880; in college did fatrly well in my stud. les, taking honors in Natural History and Political Economy

* Have published sundry papers on ornithologe, either on my trips tn the north woods, or around my summer home on the wooded, broken shore of Long Istiand." Again, "I am very fond of both horse and ritte, and spend my summers either oo the great plains after buffalo and antelope, or in the nort hern woods after deer and caribou. I am connected with various charrtable organizations." "Am fairly well off; my recreations are rezding, riding and shooting."

Then there is a reproduction of a typewritten manuscript on "Youth and Manhood,' by Mary Baker G. Eddy, with numerous corrections and sig. nature in her own handwriting. The subject and text are of interest, eren to those who do not subscribe to the Christian Science faith. This brief ex. cerpt contains the nucleus of the creed: "You will agree with me that the material body is mortal, hut Soul is immortal; also that the five personal senses are perishable, they lapse and relapse, come and go until they are consigned to dust."

The "Cosmopolitan' furnishes an example which we would like to see more generally followed

There are doubtless quite a number of readers who have yet to read Engene Field's verses, "Dibdin's Ghosr,' in 'The Little Look of Western Serse,' published by Charles.Scribner's Sons. I trust the publishers will pardon the llberty taken in quoting therefrom.

"Dear wile, last midnight, ${ }^{\text {h }}$ whilst I read
The tomes you so despise,
A specter rose beside the bed,
And spake in this true wise:
From Canaun's beatific coast
I've come to visit thee,
For I am Frognall Dibdios' ghost,
Says Dibdins ghost to me.
I bade him welcome, and we twain,
Discussed with buoyant hearts
The various things that appertain
To bibliomaniac arts.
"Since you are fresh from t'other side,
Pray tell me of that host,
That treasured books before they died,"
Says I to Dibdin's ghost.
"They've entered fnto prefect rest;
For in the life they've wen
There are no suctions to molest
No creditors to dun.
Their heavenly rapture has no bounds,
Beside that jasper sea;
It is a joy unknown to Louides,"
Says Debdin's ghost to me.
"But what of those who'scold at us When we would read in bed?
Or, wanting victuals, make a fuss If we buy books instead?
And what of those who've dusted not Uur motley pride and boast-
Shall they profane that sacred spot?'
Says I to Dibdin's ghost.
"Oh, no! 'Ihey tread that other path
Which leads where torments roll, And worms, ges, bookworms, vent their wrath
Upon the guilty soul,
Untouched of bibliomaniac grace,
That saveth such as we,
They wallow in that dreadful place,"
Says Dibdin's ghost to me.
"'To my dear wife will I recite
What things I've heard you say:
She'll let me read the books by night
She'll let me buy by day.
For we together by and by,
Would join that heavenly host;
She's earned a rest as well as 1 ,"
Says I to Dibdin's ghost.

We strongly urge the reader to purchase 'The Little Book of Western Verse," if only to read this little gem in its entire form.

A young girl residing in the northeastern portion of Penosylvania is sald to own a very rare edition of one of the histories of the Wjoming Valley and the Wyoming Massicre. Two or three of the histories written on this subject are aloost an impossibility to acquire. The writer has been trying to get a certain one of these histories for three sears, and was unable to fiod a copy anywhere. The rarest history of Wsoming is valued at over six hundred dollars. Any persin owning histories or works on the subject would do wel, to submit them to a responsibie and reputabte dealer for valuation.

The writer is indebted to Mr. Walter R. Renjamin, 225 Fifth Avenue, $\therefore$ Y York, for copies at various times of his "The Collector": "A Magazine I. A Autograph and Historical Collectors." A feature of this valuable little journal is the reprinting of manuscripts and papers of interest. Many things of a historic nature thus come to light again.

One Wayfor an Amateur to Make Money

Did you ever try to print post cards? It is about the most simple branch of photography and yields a big profit. A "developing out" card is the best as you can do quicker work. Of course you must "get the knack" out this is not hard. Ask Rhone of St. Paul for sample.

Select a reliable brand of goods and use these altogether. Do not ex. periment with different makes. It is better to pay a little more and obtain good cards than to buy cheap ones which give a muddy effect when finished.

A large capital is not required. Fit up a square closet as a dark ruom, buy a number of trays, and you have all the tools necessary. Any make of ruby or orange lamp is good, but getea good one. Some lamps are sold at ten cents each but are next to worthless. Have a number of place-holders filled at all times.

N $\boldsymbol{W}$ pou are ready. When a large fire, wreck, etc., occurs near your town, take your camera and make for the spot. Take time to choose a good view but do not waste time. Remember that you must have your cards on sale before the excitement following the incident dies out. As soon as you know if you have a good negative,start out and canvass all the stores in your vicinity for orders. When you have as many orders as you can ill, start printing post cards. You will tind that a glossy card will "take'" the best. It is often possible to make from ten to twenty five dollars on one set of negatfoes. It does not pay to photograph local scenes add inish upon pos--tals if plain or colored printed postals can be obtained by the people. Generally speaking, they will choose the cheapest card regardess of quality of paper, etc.

They cannot obtain cards of fires, etc. grinted with ink, and will be willing to pay what you ask for photo cards. Photo cards sell in this city at wholesale two and one half cents each, at retail, five cents each. No discounts on quantities.

In a town where you have no competitors you can get forty cents per dozen wholesale; but in this town a large number of photographers do this work, so the price at wholesale has dropped to two and one half cents each.

Alwass work fast and do good work, then you will make a large profit. It is generally possible to purchase cards (already sensitized) at less than one cent per card if you buy a few gross. You sell them at live cents each, retail. This is a profit of five hundred per cent, counting developers, hypo, and all other expenses. Here is an opening for any boy, girl, man,or woman who wants pocket money and is willing to do light work for it.

MY RUBY LAMP by Thomas J. Ronald.

My ruby lamp is a home made affair that does not look pery handsome, but does the work equal to one that costs from $$ 1.00$ to $$ 1.50$. Is consists of an extra large cigar box which I bound around the corners with black paper and raised upon feet about one inch. In one end I bored a few holes around the place where the lamp would set and in the other I made one large hole and covered it with a piece of bent tin, held in place by four tacks pushed into the wood, being careful to have good ventllation space around the edge. Over the top I glued a strip of black paper bent up in the middle. What was the bottom of the box will be the iront side and the lid will be the back and door. A round the edge of the box I glued a flange of black paper and folded it in the box and shut the lld on it. 'This makes a light.tight joint. At the bot tom of the front I glued another flange of paper, to keep back any li, ht that comes from the ventilation holes. The black paper is what comes around dry plates or what kodak tlm is wound on.

In the bottom I cut a rectangle, about $3 \times 4$ inches cressways and the bottom edge about even with the botitom of the lamp flame;over the opening I Gitted a ruby and orange glass holding them in place with upholstery tacks pushed lnto the wood. I then took a piece of cardboard a trifie smaller thanthe box and cut a opening to correspond with the bottom of the bos, then glued a flange of black paper around the edge and placed it in the box over the glass to keep the light from creeping out between the box and glass.

For a light I used a small night lamp. I usually light it the tirst thing and put $f t$ in the box so that I can adjust it before I commence developing as it usually has to burn a while before it will burn steady. I find that insufficient ventlation will make it smoke uniess turned rerg low. If turtsed high it will orerheat the burner and do a lot of swoking and then go out.

A Dark Room Convenience. Here is a useful hist on recorditg formu: lae or other data, one may have to refer to in the dark room. The memoranudum tablet consists of a sheet of glass ground on beth sides, and fitted ui:h a wooden frame, in the corner of which a hole may carry a loop of sting for hanging up. There are many formulae or weighis acd proportlons nut easy to carry in one's mind and set difficult to refer to in the low light of the dark roc. m ; but the slate above suggested is, of couise. read by tranamitted light, with perfect ease.

${ }^{46}$ Prehistoric Rel ics" An Illu-thated Book of 176 pakes, size $6 \times 9$ inches, Heavy Papers ments, Implements, Weapons, Ctensils, etc, used in pie-Columbia times in the United States.

Believing that many collectors of archaeolngical specimens in the United States wontd welzome an inexpensive, and yet complete work illustratine the multiondinous artifacts emploved by prehistoric man. has been published "Prehistoric Relics." The price ( $f$, and we seud it by mail. posipaid) bring: this volume within the reach of all. incloding the WEST for 1 year.

The bork is compiled from standard authorities on archaeologic suhjects, -- Holmes. Forrke. Moorehead. Suyder, Berlin, zoyle. McGuire, Wilson Moore. Beauchamp. Cushing. and others arequoted at length. In the rear of the work is a comprehensive list oi hooks and pamphlets on archaeolog. ical subjects, so that the readers may pursue the subject further. if thev so desire.
"Prehistoric Relics"has been prepared at consicerable expense. They inare illustrated all the dif erent forms of pipes. ornaments. koives. ceremonials, copper objects. flint inplements, hematites, discoidals bone and shell forms, pottery. etc., frund in the United States The work also tells how dif erent implenents were manufactured, and offers much valualule advice to collectors. It is especially rich in rate and interesting reremonials, etc.

Near! y all of the books heretofore published deacribing specimens are either too lechnical or toc expensive for collectors. Hence our sole purpose in publishing "Prebistoric Relics" is to bring before you a reliable and fu'ly illustrated work. We wonld emphasize the fact that this hook contains the Find of information the collectors particularly need. Our Combination offer with the WRST, $$ 1$ co. or if preferred, can incluce Tonga Story of the Sioux. or Record of Exploration, No.3- All 3 for $$ 2.50$

It Costs but 1 cent a Word among the Exchange Ads.

This is the cheapest advertising - these small advertisements in the WEST. Not in price alone but in results. Especially for those who have something to sell or want to buy something, but feel that they cannot afford to pay the rate charged for display. Try a small liner ad, which will cost you only one cent a word, three times at the price of two. The results should prove gratifying.
