THE LITTLE ORACLE.

THE LITTLE ORACLE SAYS

Don't aspire to read other people. If you can read yourself, you can do more than the most of us.

Don't spend too much time studying what your competitor is doing, but spend it studying your own business.

If you exchange stamps or post cards, don't fool away your time and forget to answer letters.

Treat your dealers and exchangers as you wish them to treat you: your collection will grow faster, easier and better.

The time to fill up those blank spaces in your stamp album is during the summer months. Study dealers ads, and you are sure to find bargains in stamps you have been looking for.

Buying a beautiful stamp album won't give you a great collection, but filling it will.

One good stamp specimen is worth a page of damaged ones.

There no is joy without knowledge, so study your stamps and view-cards to get the worth of them.

You will find it pays to read some good journals on the subject before you try to collect anything.

If you want view-cards from all parts of the world, join the Oracle Post Card Club.

Right Advertising is the spice of business.

EDITORIALS.

After several months absence of this paper,
we resume publication, and with this number begin volume second.

This paper is a good medium through which to get in touch with collectors in foreign countries, and the islands in the Indian Ocean.

Try an ad and see.

The members of The Oracle Post Card Club will exchange view cards with any one in any part of the world. Please do not write on the view side of the card.

When writing to advertisers, please mention
The Little Oracle; by doing so you not only favor the Publisher, but the Advertisers also.

THE LITTLE ORACLE.

The publisher of this paper will exchange copies with other papers each month, and also a few ads; send copy and receive mine.

The New York Philatelist of Brooklyn N.Y., the Stamp Journal of Florida N.Y., and the Southern Philatelist of Shreveport La. are three good stamp papers that collectors will find very valuable in picking up stamp bargains.

Next Month we will begin a post card review and dealers will do well to send samples of their cards to the editor.

If you have anything you want to sell or exchange, or want any thing you haven't got, put an ad in this circular.

Don't think because we are in one little corner of the earth we cannot be heard; you'll never make a greater mistake; to prove it, put an ad in this circular.

A very pretty stamp collection can be had by collecting foreign revenue stamps; you can exchange your duplicates with the editor of this circular.

If you want bargains in really good stamps, see McCurdy's ad on page 7.
