Curiosities.

Milkman David Whitney is the possessor of a silver dollar on which the head of the goddess of liberty stands at right angles with the "buzzard" on the other side, as if the old lady had been knocked down and the bird was about to commence a banquet upon her flesh. At the Birmingham bank the specimen was pronounced genuine, but entirely unique and unexplainable. —Ansonia, Conn., Sentinel.

A resident of Portsmouth, England, owns a quadrilateral pyramid composed of the eighty four guineas found in Nelson's possession when he fell at Trafalgar.

A Great Curiosity

will be Vol. 1 of CURIO. Send 15c for a years subscription and see for yourself.

A reporter recently discovered that there were over 12000 stamp-collectors residing in New York the majority being still young.
